MIG in Flames After China Sea Dogfight Supervisors Approve Master Plan for College

Occupancy Date Set Sept. 1966

Engineers Assure Conditions Right

By a vote of 30 to 1 the Board of Supervisors Thursday night voted approval of the Master Plan for the Ulster County Community College and authorized the College Board of Trustees to forward the Master Plan to the State University for approval.

The board had on December 10, 1964, adopted a resolution authorizing the issuance of $650,000 serial bonds to pay the county's share for the construction and equipment of the college.

This sum together with $150,000 pledged by Macdonald DeWitt, a member of the board of trustees, toward the construction of the Macdonald DeWitt Library on the Stone Ridge campus and $500,000 pledged by Mr. DeWitt toward the construction and furnishing of residence for the college president, is available toward the county's share of the construction cost which is met by state funds.

Engineers Report

With approval of the Master Plan as prepared by Augustus Schrowang Associates, assurance from the engineering firm of Brimmer and Larios that an ample water supply is present and that a practical and feasible plan for disposal of effluent from college sewage disposal system has been worked out, the target date for occupancy of the Stone Ridge campus site is now September 1966.

The resolution offered Thursday night by Supervisor Roy Webber (R), Marlbletown, chairman of the College Committee, called attention to the fact that the State University of New York has approved the site and that financial plans had been approved and he called on the board to approve the Master Plan so that the plan might be forwarded to the State University architect for final approval.

First Phase Outlined

The first phase of the plan calls for the construction of the science building, the all-purpose building, the business studies building and the Macdonald DeWitt Library. The plan also calls for erection of the college.

The vote on approval of the preliminary floor plans for the four college buildings as prepared by the architect was 30 to 1, with Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, voting against. He said his vote against the resolution did not mean he was opposed to the college.

Speed Urged

The resolution urges the architect to "proceed with all possible speed toward development of preliminary plans and actual start of construction." It also called for "regular and complete" information of progress and developments and urged that the trustees exert all power to the end that the college be ready for occupancy by September 1966. The resolution authorized the board of trustees to forward plans to the State University for approval.

On the vote Supervisor Clarence C. Raiche (R), 12th Ward voted in favor but stated that he had possessed "all information" at the time of the initiation of the college plan, he might not have favored the plan. He called attention to the facilities "already in Ulster County" at the New York State University College in New Paltz, a State supported college, where is said splendid facilities were available.

Defends Trustees

Accusing Harry M. Thayer, local radio station official, with taking "pot-shots" at the trustees of the college, Supervisor Roger Mabie (D), Esopus, came to the defense of the trustees, who, he said, should be commended for their services. Mabie said Thayer had implied that the trustees were "not acting in good faith" and had made other accusations in regard to the college progress. He said Thayer was a man who some days you could applaud and the next day you wanted to "tar and feather him." He also referred to statements which Thayer had made in regard to the County Office Building, remarks which were directed toward the Board of Supervisors. He said he "deplored" these tactics and remarked that the board of supervisors was an elected group, was a paid group and might be open to criticism.

SUBWAY BEAT—On-duty police are now regular passengers on New York's subways. The force is being expanded and some 1,200 officers are patrolling every train and station from 8 p. m. to 4 a. m. to counter the alarming rise in serious subway crimes.

Health-SS Bill Passes In House by 3-1 Vote

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's $6-billion health care-Social Security bill has swept through the House by a margin of almost 3 to 1 and Senate approval is expected within eight weeks.

Board Discusses Distribution of Surplus Food Here

A plea that Ulster County take advantage of the surplus food program was made to the board of supervisors Thursday night by Mrs. Edward Averill of 85 Abeel Street.

Later in the meeting Supervisor Donald E. Gregory (D), 13th ward, offered a resolution that surplus food be distributed to eligible residents of Ulster County. The resolution was referred to the Welfare Committee, which already had the matter under advisement.

Cites Figures

Mrs. Averill urged that the county enter the program which permits distribution of surplus foods to be distributed among the needy. She cited figures of adjacent counties where the program has been adopted and said distribution of these surplus foods to persons of welfare could well reduce the cost of welfare in the county.

The matter of cost of distribution was discussed.

102 Charter Members Stay With Kingston Area C of C

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce was reorganized or reactivated 20 years ago this month, after a lapse of over 10 years. A check of the records by the Public Relations Committee shows that 102 firms and individuals who became charter members in 1945 are still active members today.

In making this announcement, William E. Ryland pointed out that many firms have changed ownership during the 20-year period, many have changed their corporate names, but all 102 represent the same business at the same location for the full period. This recognition is part of National Chamber of Commerce week.

The following is a list of the firms and individuals still maintaining an active membership in the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce after 20 years:

The House passed the historic measure—the greatest revision and expansion of the Social Security system in its three decades of existence—by a 313-115 vote Thursday night after rejecting a Republican substitute by a much closer vote, 236 to 191.

Republicans argued the plan to provide comprehensive health services for older Americans and to boost retirement benefits should be financed primarily by the general Treasury. Democrats contended the bill's way is best—boosting the payroll tax on employers and employees. The House is overwhelmingly Democratic and the Democrats won.

Gets GOP Votes

The GOP leadership then freed individual Republicans from the restraint of a party position. So, even though GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan voted against the Democratic administration's bill, it carried by the wide margin of almost 3 to 1.

The two key votes went this way: On substituting the Republican bill, 128 Republicans and 63 Democrats were on the losing side, bowing to 226 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

On final passage of the administration bill, 248 Democrats and 65 Republicans triumphed over 42 Democrats and 73 Republicans.

Will of People Met

Johnson said the House action "demonstrates once again the vitality of our democratic system in responding to the needs and will of the people."

Wilson Asks PSC To Reconsider Ulster Town Bus

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County announced today that he has urged the New York State Public Service Commission to reconsider its recent decision concerning a request by the Urban Transit Corporation of Kingston to extend its bus routes to the Town of Ulster.

Assemblyman Wilson stated that the attorney for Urban Transit, Richard Griggs of Port Jervis, has applied to the Public Service Commission for a rehearing on the matter and that he would do everything within his power to assist Griggs in his efforts.

Denied on Feb. 2

The PSC denied on Feb. 2 Urban Transit's petition for a permanent certificate to extend its service from over Albany Avenue Extension to Boice's Lane in the Town of Ulster, on the grounds that there was not sufficient evidence to show that there was a need for the extension.

Withall and Another Are To Be School Candidates

Contests for two seats on the Board of Education of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) appeared definite today, when it was learned that a movement has been launched in support of Arthur H. Withall, of Ulster Park, incumbent vice president of the board, and another candidate to be named later.

A committee, known as the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee, met Wednesday night and recommended Abraham Streifer, attorney, and Morton Kamen, a certified public accountant, as candidates for the May 4 election of school trustees. The vote was not unanimous, it was learned.

The five-year terms of Trustee Withall and David Kline, incumbent president, expire this year. Kline has indicated he will

Chamber Is Desirous Of Details

Information List Sent to Schrowang

With approval by the Board of Supervisors last night of the Master Plan of the Ulster County Community College, the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce asked today for specific dates, ranging from anticipated date when a scale model will be ready for public display to anticipated occupancy by the projected date of September 1966.

The Chamber asked six specific dates in a letter to Augustus Schrowang Jr. of Augustus Schrowang Associates, architects for the college.

Harry Kaprelian, president of the Chamber, said while the Chamber "appreciated the fact" that Schrowang attended a breakfast meeting of the organization last Tuesday at which time the Master Plan of the college was discussed, "We are sorry that there was not more time at the breakfast meeting to get more information about the time schedule after all the agencies involved have approved the master plan."

State Approval Needed

The letter was dated one day prior to the Board of Supervisors meeting in anticipation of approval by that body of the college Master Plan. With approval of the college resolution—which mentioned a " hoped for" opening date of September 1966—the Master Plan must go to the State University for required approval.

"Because of the wide-spread interest in the establishment of the permanent college campus," Kaprelian wrote, "we (the Chamber) would appreciate it if you would give us some firm answers to the following questions which could be publicized and prevent further complications and controversies which usually delay progress."

Kaprelian also said in the letter, "We sincerely hope that you and your associates will complete the necessary work to expedite the construction phase of the permanent college campus at the earliest possible time."

Information Sought

The questions:

1. What date will the three dimensional scale model of the proposed permanent college campus be ready for public display?
2. What date will the required preliminary work be completed, and all required drawings, including plumbing, electrical, heating and other specifications, to enable the building on construction to be advertised?
3. After allowing the usual time for bids to be returned, what is the target date for the contracts to be awarded?
4. What will be the required starting date for construction work to actually start after the contracts have been awarded?
5. Considering the fact that, as announced, it will be the fall season before bids could be let, would the start of construction of the permanent campus in the fall require it to be done at a premium cost?
6. Will the buildings be ready for occupancy for the start of the fall term of 1966?

Peking Rejects LBJ's Offer as 'Old Stuff'

TOKYO (AP) — Red China rejected President Johnson's offer of peace talks on Viet Nam today, and North Viet Nam and the Soviet Union gave no indication that their response would be any more favorable.

'Lies and Deception'

Peking Radio said Johnson's speech Wednesday was "full of lies and deception." It called his offer of unconditional discussions "old stuff."

The Chinese broadcast said the object of the offer was to disarm the South Vietnamese people and force them to give up the fight against the Saigon government so the U.S. military could remain to run the country.

It said the President's proposal "clearly stated" that U.S. forces will not leave South Viet Nam and that Saigon's "puppet government must be assured of its rule."

Peking called Johnson's proposal to funnel $1 billion in aid into Southeast Asia "a political deal to weaken the South Vietnamese people's fight and dissolve the U.S. predicament in Viet Nam."

Unity Call by Hanoi

Hanoi Radio's midnight broadcast still made no mention of Johnson's offer but repeated a call for unity to defeat "U.S. aggression."

47 Baptist Clerics Jailed By Castro; Also 13 Laymen

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro government is holding 47 Baptist preachers, including two Americans, and 13 laymen as spies for the United States.

A spokesman for the Western Cuba Baptist Convention said two-thirds of the Baptist ministers in western Cuba are in jail. Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer, who handles U.S. interests in Cuba, has not been permitted to see the arrested men.

The Americans are the Rev. Herbert Caudill, 61, head of the convention and a missionary here the past 35 years; and his son-in-law, the Rev. James David Fite, 31, of Waynesboro, Ga. Their wives and relatives of the other men were notified they would be able to visit the prisoners next Tuesday.

Mrs. Caudill refused Thursday night to comment on her husband's arrest except to repeat that they had "not faced any trouble before in Cuba and were dedicated to teaching and preaching."

Cuban authorities picked up seven ministers in outlying provinces some days ago. Thursday at dawn, raiding parties searched homes and

220 Planes In Biggest Raid Yet

Encounter Third In Space of Week

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy Phantom jets flying top cover for the most massive air strike yet staged against North Viet Nam battled Communist MIGs over the sea 25 miles from Red China's Hainan Island today.

One of the Soviet-built jet fighters possibly was shot down. It was seen disappearing into clouds in flames.

More Marines, Planes Due

The nationality of the MIGs was not determined, but they were presumed to be North Vietnamese. There was no announcement of any American losses in the air battle.

In Saigon, American authorities announced that two more battalions of U.S. Marines and a squadron of Marine jet fighters will land shortly in Viet Nam, further reinforcing security at Da Nang and at the city of Hue.

A five-man Vietnamese military tribunal sentenced to death the driver of the getaway motorbike in the U.S. Embassy bombing of March 30 despite the Viet Cong's threat to execute a captive U.S. aid mission official, Gustav C. Hertz of Leesburg, Va., in reprisal.

The condemned terrorist is Nguyen Van Hai, 27. There is no appeal from the tribunal's sentence, but Chief of State Phan Kac Suu could commute it.

One Plane Downed

About 220 U.S. Air Force and Navy planes raided North Vietnamese bridges in this 20th such operation against military targets of the Hanoi regime since Feb. 7. The greatest number previously involved on a single day was about 160 on March 2.

U.S. authorities announced ground fire felled one plane, a Navy A-1H Skyhawk, but said the pilot was rescued. Radio Peking declared eight of the raiders were shot down.

With the report on the Skyhawk, American announcements show a loss of 27 planes — U.S. and South Vietnamese — during the 20 strikes north of the border. The Communists now claim their gunners have downed 165.

The encounter between the MIGs and the American planes was the third in a week.

Last Saturday three MIGs approached a formation of U.S. planes over North Viet Nam but did not tangle with them.

On Sunday, MIGs attacked a formation of U.S. planes and shot down two F105s.

Among the Fastest

The Navy planes involved in the battle today were F4C Phantom jets, among the fastest fighters in use today. The Phantoms were assigned to a special "anti-MIG" patrol.

About 140 U.S. Navy planes attacked Tam Da bridge, 120 miles south of Hanoi, while 80 Air Force jets attacked two other bridges in raids today.

One Navy A4 jet was shot down by groundfire, but the pilot was rescued.

In Saigon, American authorities announced that two more battalions of U.S. Marines and a squadron of Marine jet fighters will land shortly in Viet Nam.

About 3,000 Marines will be landed, at the Da Nang Air Base on the coast 380 miles north of Saigon and around Hue, the ancient capital of Viet Nam 50 miles northwest of Da Nang and 50 miles south of the border with North Viet Nam.

Another 4,000 Marines landed at Da Nang March 8 to help guard the air base there from which many of the raids on North Viet Nam originate.

Expected Hourly

There were indications that the Marines would begin landing in a matter of hours. There had been reports for several days that the 7th Fleet transport Mt. McKinley was standing offshore loaded with Marines ready to land.

A U.S. statement said the additional Marines were requested by the government of South Viet Nam.

Both the reinforcements and the original contingent that landed last month are from the 9th Marine Brigade, formerly stationed on Okinawa.

The statement said a battalion landing team and a squadron of F4 planes would land at Da Nang.

Expected Hourly

There were indications that the Marines would begin landing in a matter of hours. There had been reports for several days that the 7th Fleet transport Mr. McKinley was standing offshore loaded with Marines ready to land.

A U.S. statement said the additional Marines were requested by the government of South Viet Nam.

Both the reinforcements and the original contingent that landed last month are from the 9th Marine Brigade, formerly stationed on Okinawa.

The statement said a battalion landing team and a squadron of F-4 planes would land at Da Nang.

NEW YORK (AP) — The British are trying austerity again to pinch their economy while Americans talk of boosting the U.S. economy still higher through even less restraint.

In both cases one of the prime goals is the same — to bolster the individual currencies, the British pound sterling and the American dollar, in international money markets.

Tied to Tax Boost

The British move this week is largely tied to increasing taxes.

American business stimulants, past and contemplated, are tied to cutting taxes.

Washington figures that the American economic growth rate should be increased, more goods should be produced, so that the excess will inspire producers to try harder to sell still more abroad.

The U.S. government also is asking Americans to keep their dollars home and lend less to foreigners and invest less abroad. The British say they'll try to keep American dollars still coming their way.

First returns indicate that both the American and the British monetary plans are working at the moment.

Different Circumstances

While both the United States and the United Kingdom have been having trouble keeping their currencies looking as good as gold, the problem has risen from significantly different circumstances.

The United States for years has been exporting more than it has been importing. The loss of dollars and gold comes from something else. The favorable balance of trade has been more than offset by government economic and military aid to other nations, private investment and loans abroad, free-spending American tourists.

The British have been importing more than they've exported. British manufacturers have seen the price of their products rise — meaning profits at home but also loss of some world markets to more competitively priced goods, made by Americans, Europeans, Japanese, even the Communist countries.

So Britain is trying austerity to get its world trade and its pound sterling in a healthier state.

The dollar already is healthy. Washington wants to make sure it doesn't catch another chill like the one that plagued it at the start of this year.

Negroes Joining Wide Reunion of Protestantism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Moves toward a wide reunion of American Protestantism took on a new interracial dimension today.

Indications came from three large Negro denominations that they will join the project.

Other church leaders applauded the news.

"It is something we had hoped for," said Episcopal Bishop Robert F. Gibson, Jr., of Richmond, Va., presiding chairman at the "consultation on church union."

"It will strengthen the consultation by making it more truly representative of all Christian people in America. It has never been our intention that this should be a union of predominantly white churches."

Observers from three Negro Methodist bodies, with a total of about 2½ million members, said they anticipated early action by their denominations authorizing official entry into the talks.

"I have no doubt that they will act favorably on it," said the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Spivey Jr., dean of Payne Theological Seminary, Wilberforce, Ohio, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church.

The six denominations engaged in the consultation — Presbyterian, United Church, Christian (Disciples) and Evangelical United Brethren — have some Negro members, but are mainly white.

The expected additions would bring the number of denominations to nine, with membership of more than 25 million.

The word from the Negro bodies came in response to a direct invitation.

It was issued as the consultation decided to start preparing a specific outline for unification, and asked 16 other denominations with observers present to consider entering the effort at this "critical time."

The three Negro denominations are Christian Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal and African Methodist Episcopal.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Mass., April 9. Our waterways are being befouled and poisoned at an almost incredible rate. The problem of how to fight this pollution of our most valuable natural resource is becoming complicated more critically every day by the population explosion. By the time pending legislation at the federal level becomes law, it will already be obsolete if we hope to restore our lakes, ponds, rivers, and brooks to their original beautiful and sparkling condition.

How Bad The Situation Is

Men of wisdom and foresight have long been battling against pollution, but political and public apathy have slowed down the move to purify our natural water systems. Chief despoilers of our lakes and streams are community sewage and industrial waste. While considerable progress has been made in the establishment of sewage treatment plants in our major cities, the population is growing so swiftly that most of these systems may be entirely inadequate within a matter of a few years.

If the building of sewage treatment facilities should continue at its current rate, it is estimated that by 1970 the equivalent of raw municipal waste from 85 million people would still have to be disposed of in our waterways. And by 1980, given the same construction rate for facilities, the equivalent of untreated community waste from 114 million persons would be dumped into our rivers. Unfortunately, sanitary municipal sewage is only a part of the pollution problem. Vast de-spillage of our waterways results from industrial wastes and chemicals, plus the discharge of overflow sewer systems.

Dire Forecasts Made

Stream contamination from these industrial organic wastes has been increasing as a much faster pace than that stemming from municipal sources. At the turn of the century, water pollution from factories was equal to the raw waste of some 15 million people. By 1960, it had risen to the equivalent of the raw waste of 160 million people. The U.S. Public Health Service has completed studies which indicate that within five years industrial pollution will be equal to the untreated waste of the entire population of the country, or in the vicinity of 210 million persons.

Now A Federal Fight

Governor Rockefeller of New York has proposed an outlay of $1.7 billion to purify the misused lakes and rivers of his state. Anti-pollution moves have been made in many other states as well. Greatest pressure from now on, however, is likely to come from the federal government.

Recently, Health Secretary Celebrezze has been conferring with anti-pollution forces in an effort to intensify campaigns to clean up Lake Michigan and other waterways serving Chicago and its environs. Both local communities and industries are being urged to purify their waste discharges themselves.

If the pleas of the federal authorities and the anti-pollution campaigners are ignored, the government will order offending communities and/or factories through the courts to arrange for proper treatment of waste before it is deposited in waterways. President Johnson's insistence on cleaning up our lakes and streams we hope will have an immediate effect upon cities and industrial establishments that have been dragging their feet on this important matter. Plans and programs that have been discussed and temporarily pigeon-holed will be brought forth and put into operation.

Waterways

Everyone's Birthright
Every man, woman, and child in our country has a stake in our waterways. Streams and ponds must be made safe, not left as open sewers endangering health and even life. The recreational value of our waterways also is immense, but there can be little enjoyment of rivers and ponds in which the fish are dead or dying, the water foul driven away by filth and desecration. Today the problem must be met head-on; tomorrow may be too late.

The meeting all but ended four years of bloody conflict that divided the nation and killed 617,000 Americans—more than the combined deaths in all other wars the United States has fought.

What's in Social Security-Health Bill for You if It Becomes Law?

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — What would be in it for you if the new Social Security-health bill passed Thursday night by the House is approved also by the Senate and signed into law by President Johnson?

Something, now or later, unless you're a very exceptional case. If you are 65 or older there can be a great deal. If you are still working, probably more taxes to pay next year.

All this, of course, is based on the assumption that the Senate passes the bill and that its final form is not much different from its present shape.

If you are 65 or older, you come in automatically under a new hospitalization plan. It doesn't matter whether you are drawing Social Security or ever have, or even whether you are working. If you are not a recently arrived alien or a retired federal employee eligible for similar benefits, you are covered.

Provision of Plan

The hospital plan would take effect July 1, 1966. It provides up to 60 days in a hospital and up to 20 days recuperation in a nursing home for each illness. If you don't use all the hospital time, you can extend the nursing-home time. After you pay the first $40, the plan takes over. No doctor bills are paid under this basic plan.

But if you want protection against doctor bills and some other health expenses, you can sign up for a national medical insurance plan. It will cost you $3 a month, which will be deducted from your Social Security check if you get one. Otherwise you can remit direct. Under this plan, you pay the first $50 of expenses in any year and then the insurance takes care of 80 per cent of the remainder.

Say you have an operation that involves a $300 hospital-nursing-home bill and $250 doctor bills. That's a $550 total.

If you had both plans you would pay $40 plus $50 plus 20 per cent of 200, which is $40, or a total of $130 out of the $550.

If you are drawing Social Security old-age payments, you get a 7 per cent raise, with a guarantee the raise will be not less than $4 a month.

Moreover, the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

If you are now or soon will be 72 and are a former worker, or the widow of one, who had some Social Security coverage but not enough to qualify for payments under the former law, the bill may be especially good news.

Depending on age and the length of time worked in covered employment, you may be eligible for a monthly check.

But suppose you are not 65 and retired, but younger and working and in a job covered by Social Security. Then, you pay.

Most of the $6-billion cost of the new social legislation package comes from a stepup in the payroll tax paid by workers and their employers.

The first increase comes next Jan. 1 and there are more over the years.

However, as you approach retirement, the higher retirement pay awaiting you goes up. But so does the tax.

Meanwhile, if you have a family, you have better family protection.

Under the old law, benefits for a deceased worker's child stopped at 18. Now, if the child is still in school or college, the benefits would continue until age 22.

The additional tax that will be withheld from your paychecks next year, if you make as much as $5,600, will be $69.90. There is much more in the big bill, but it's pretty special.

Are you a member of the old-order Amish who object on religious grounds to Social Security? You can exempt yourself from the self-employment tax.

Are you a waitress or another kind of employee largely dependent on tips? The tips now count for Social Security tax and benefits.

Are you a self-employed doctor? You're in the Social Security system.

File Two Charges Against Greene Man After Crash

Two vehicle and traffic law violations were filed against a Greene County motorist Thursday afternoon, as the result of a two-car collision which occurred off Route 23A in the Town of Hunter.

State Police Sergeant G. E. Brown, of Leeds, said Markian Gott, 56, of Hunter, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving a car at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

According to an investigation by Trooper A. J. Peterson, Gott was driving west on the highway when the car went off the left side of the road across a motel lawn and hit a parked car owned by Rose Laga, Hunter.

Stephen Sezure, 70, of Hunter, a passenger in Gott's car sustained lacerations of the face.

The meeting all but ended four years of bloody conflict that divided the nation and killed 617,000 Americans—more than the combined deaths in all other wars the United States has fought.

Bettors Lose $20,479

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—

Finger Lakes Race Track sent a check for $20,479 to the state today because of a lot of bettors never claimed their winnings.

The bettors, who held tickets on win-place-show horses at the thoroughbred horse racing track last season, had until April 1 to redeem them.

One bettor who never cashed his ticket could have collected $1,068 on a win-double winning.

SHOW STOPPER—Filming of a parade scene for the movie "The Rounders," costing about $5,000 an hour, ground to a halt in Sedona, Ariz., when this tiny miss wandered in front of the camera and refused to go away. Stars Henry Fonda and Glenn Ford had to act as baby sitters so work could continue.

What's in Social Security-Health Bill for You if It Becomes Law?

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—What would be in it for you if the new Social Security-health bill passed Thursday night by the House is approved also by the Senate and signed into law by President Johnson?

Something, now or later, unless you're a very exceptional case. If you are 65 or older there can be a great deal. If you are still working, probably more taxes to pay next year.

All this, of course, is based on the assumption that the Senate passes the bill and that its final form is not much different from its present shape.

If you are 65 or older, you come in automatically under a new hospitalization plan. It doesn't matter whether you are drawing Social Security or ever have, or even whether you are working. If you are not a recently arrived alien or a retired federal employee eligible for similar benefits, you are covered.

Provision of Plan

The hospital plan would take effect July 1, 1966. It provides up to 60 days in a hospital and up to 20 days recuperation in a nursing home for each illness. If you don't use all the hospital time, you can extend the nursing-home time. After you pay the first $40, the plan takes over. No doctor bills are paid under this basic plan.

But if you want protection against doctor bills and some other health expenses, you can sign up for a national medical insurance plan. It will cost you $3 a month, which will be deducted from your Social Security check if you get one. Otherwise you can remit direct. Under this plan, you pay the first $50 of expenses in any year and then the insurance takes care of 80 per cent of the remainder.

Say you have an operation that involves a $300 hospital-nursing-home bill and $250 doctor bills. That's a $550 total.

If you had both plans you would pay $40 plus $50 plus 20 per cent of $200, which is $40, or a total of $130 out of the $550.

If you are drawing Social Security old-age payments, you get a 7 per cent raise, with a guarantee the raise will be not less than $4 a month.

Moreover, the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

If you are now or soon will be 72 and are a former worker, or the widow of one, who had some Social Security coverage but not enough to qualify for payments under the former law, the bill may be especially good news.

Depending on age and the length of time worked in covered employment, you may be eligible for a monthly check.

But suppose you are not 65 and retired, but younger and working and in a job covered by Social Security. Then, you pay.

Most of the $6-billion cost of the new social legislation package comes from a stepup in the payroll tax paid by workers and their employers.

The first increase comes next Jan. 1 and there are more over the years.

However, as you approach retirement, the higher retirement pay awaiting you goes up. But so does the tax.

Meanwhile, if you have a family, you have better family protection.

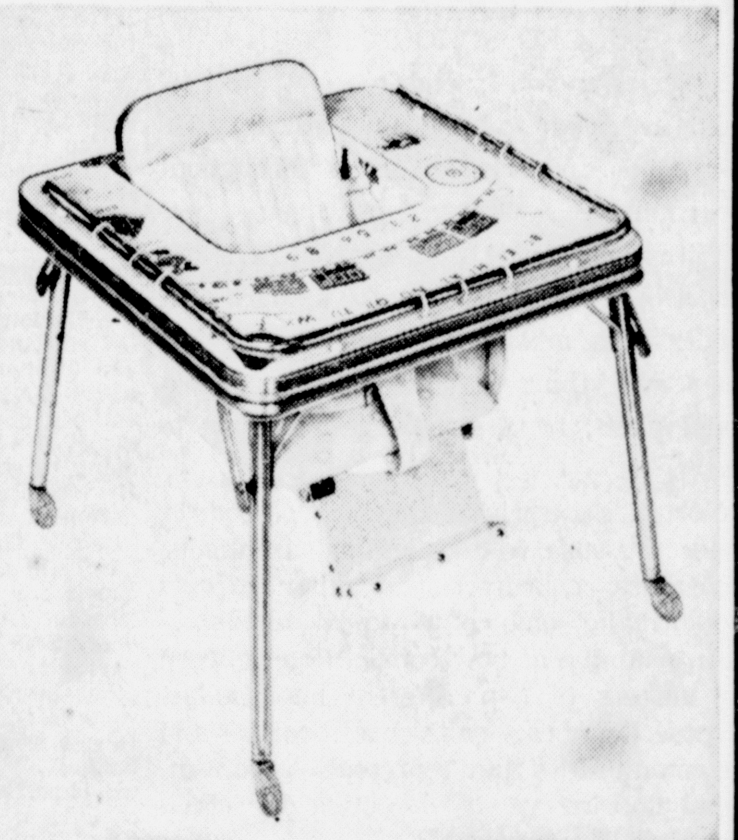

Under the old law, benefits for a deceased worker's child stopped at 18. Now, if the child is still in school or college, the benefits would continue until age 22.

The additional tax that will be withheld from your paychecks next year, if you make as much as $5,600, will be $69.90. There is much more in the big bill, but it's pretty special. Are you a member of the old-order Amish who object on religious grounds to Social Security? You can exempt yourself from the self-employment tax. Are you a waitress or another kind of employee largely dependent on tips? The tips now count for Social Security tax and benefits. Are you a self-employed doctor? You're in the Social Security system.

KINGSTON NEW YORK, APRIL 9, 1965

RUGGED SCHOOL ISSUE

Americans will spend more than $4.2 billion this year to build upwards of 10,000 new public and private schools throughout the country.

With such a vast sum involved, it is not surprising that scrambling for a share of it should exist among the producers of just about everything that goes into an educational plant, from structural materials to textbooks.

Nor it is surprising that school boards, under pressure from salesmen, architects, decorators, educators and other experts should make some controversial decisions.

An example of how competition between the makers of two different but similar-purpose items can split school boards—and the communities they represent—is conventional flooring versus carpeting for classrooms and libraries.

It recent years, the latter has cut into the market dominated by asphalt or vinyl tile and linoleum. High initial expenditure, the makers claim, is offset by carpeting's warmth, acoustical qualities and low maintenance cost.

"Resilient" flooring manufacturers say it is just the other way around. Some boards have been persuaded one way, some the other.

In Appleton, Wis., early this year, the school board approved the installation of carpeting in one junior high school. The cost was $5,400, compared to $800 for the vinyl tile previously planned. Public disapproval forced the board to reverse its decision.

In this instance, dollar signs aroused taxpayer interest in a school system. But money isn't always a factor.

How often do we concern ourselves with the host of other pressures incessantly playing on the schools these days—the demand to upgrade teaching, to introduce new subjects and revitalize old ones, book-banning campaigns by fringe groups, the question of student work load, to name only a few?

CAMPSPITE PRESSURE

All signs point to a record season for camping out this spring, summer and fall. Camping equipment sales are booming, and the demand for campsites promises to be greater than ever before.

Fortunately, the government has done something to relieve the pressure a bit on the national park system. The Department of the Interior has announced that campers will have 1,156 new places to pitch their tents this year. It is estimated that there are 27,782 camping spots in the national parks now, and that these will provide some eight million camp-use days.

The latter figure is the clue to the kind of pressure brought to bear on camping areas not only in national parks but in state parks and elsewhere. Despite the increase in federal campsites this year, space will be at a premium and campers often will find themselves more crowded than they are at home. An even greater effort to meet the need will have to be made.

A BIT OF WARNING

This is a great time of year for small boys. There are plenty of puddles to splash in, impromptu curbside streams to dam, sandbanks and gravel pits to explore after a winter's lapse, ponds tempting to experiments in navigation.

This also is a dangerous time of year for small boys. The lure of those street puddles and rivulets can rob a lad of his customary alertness to passing cars. Sandbanks and gravel pits, especially as deep frost loosens its grip, have a way of caving in on the adventurous. The sort of small craft fancied by young navigators are not always pondworthy.

Cautionary thoughts of this kind need not prompt extremes of restriction. As Stevenson notes so eloquently in his essay, "Aes Triples," it is neither possible nor desirable for human beings to be absolutely safe from all the danger of life. But reasonable precautions can be taken by parents, boys can reasonably be warned of the dangers about them. Sometimes judicious admonition can avert tragedy.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
CAN U THANT BE TRUSTED
AS A PEACEMAKER?

If, as seems possible, the UN's Secretary U Thant is to become a go-between for the West in an attempt to bring North Vietnam and the South Vietnam Viet Cong to the negotiation table, how good are his credentials? He has already indicated that he thinks the United States is in the wrong in its attempt to defend South Vietnam against Red infiltrators who would, in effect, "liberate" the country from itself.

U Thant is a Burmese, and the question is whether he can transcend his background in representations to the North Vietnamese and the Red Chinese. The point about Burma is that the Burmese General Ne Winn, in an attempt to apply so-called middle ground concepts to the economy, has virtually wrecked his country's productivity by nationalizing everything in sight, from banks and manufacturers to hardware shops, clothing establishments and even grocery stores. In Rangoon, for example, it is now difficult to find a good supply of local foodstuffs that have always been plentiful. The whole economy has ground to a halt, and the free Chinese, who once did much of the retail trade in Burmese cities, have left the country.

Ne Winn, as boss of Burma, has created this mess in an effort to "isolate" his country from both the United States and Red China. The situation in Burma contrasts with that of Thailand, where there is a genuine will to build a strong economy and to defend the nation against the "liberation" forces that are even now gathering just over the border in Laos and Red China itself in response to Peking's Foreign Minister Chen Yi's pronouncement that the Thais are next on the Communists' subversion schedule.

U Thant is supposed to behave as an objective and disinterested person in his role as Secretary of the UN. But he has said that he considers the activity of his own country as something of a model of what a Southeast Asian nation should be doing to stay out of the big powers' line of fire. He has boasted that the Burmese have resisted Communism by taking care of their own economy. What U Thant misses is that his own country is hardly in condition to fend off anybody after its experience in introducing what the Burmese call "instant socialism." Burmese owes its present independence solely to the fact that the United States and the Red Chinese still confront each other elsewhere in Southeast Asia. If the U.S. were to quit that part of the world, an enfeebled Burma would be compelled to do the Red Chinese bidding. It might remain nominally free. But it would certainly fall into a new imperialist sphere of influence exerted from Peking. And it would drag Thailand down with it.

The Thais, knowing that they are next in line for the attention of "liberators" if the U.S. allows itself to be "negotiated" out of Saigon, would be comparatively helpless if they were left to defend themselves. True enough, if a UN force were introduced to police the Ho Chi Minh trail that leads into South Vietnam through Laos and Cambodia, it might tie the Red Chinese up a bit. But it would take a really strong and determined UN detachment to set up effective road blocks between North and South Vietnam. The jungles and mountains of Southeast Asia aren't like the Gaza Strip boundary between Israel and Egypt. Moreover, a new line of infiltration between Red China and the south could lead into Thailand through Laos or U Thant's own Burma.

The U.S. is committed by an agreement between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Thai Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, a fervent anti-Communist, to defend Thailand even in case of withdrawal from Vietnam. There are two good jet landing fields in Thailand that could accommodate U.S. airborne troops in a jiffy. But in the case of U.S. decampment from South Vietnam, who would believe in Washington's will to make a stand in Thailand? That is the question which U Thant, in his fatuous belief that Burma has shown the West how to deal with the menace of Red China, is hardly equipped to answer. Renew Hope of Cripples

By Buying Easter Seals

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Easter, coming as it does in the spring of the year, is for many persons a time of renewed vigor and increased hope. You can make it a time of renewed hope for cripples of all ages by supporting the Easter Seal campaign.

Although most people know about the Easter Seals put out by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., most of us don't know as much as we should about the work being done by this organization.

Medical science has provided preventive and curative measures for many diseases but in spite of these advances the number of persons in this country who are either crippled from birth (an estimated 7 for every 100 births) or later through disease or accident has steadily grown.

One reason for this is the increase in the total population. Another is an increase in accidents in and around the home. This takes an especially heavy toll among the preschool children. Furthermore, medical advances themselves, by saving the lives of persons who would otherwise have died, have increased the number who are alive but crippled.

Our job as citizens is to see to it that these persons are not saved for a meaningless or helpless existence but are given a chance to realize their highest usefulness. The potentialities of cripples are often amazingly great. The key to helping these persons lies in a single word—rehabilitation.

The many techniques of rehabilitation, although available for over 40 years have received a tremendous impetus since World War II. Although Easter Seal funds provide professional care for all kinds of crippling diseases, most of the effort goes to persons with major deformities or diseases of the bones and joints. The services include physiotherapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, education to fit a cripple to earn a living and sheltered workshops where working with others who are similarly afflicted helps one to forget his handicap.

Also provided are diagnostic clinics, rehabilitation centers, treatment centers, aid for the housebound and sales outlets for products made by the crippled. One very valuable service is the provision of braces, crutches and other appliances to children on a loan basis because they are quickly outgrown and must be replaced with larger sizes. Another important service that has been expanding in recent years is the provision of summer residential and day camps for crippled children.

This is only a partial list of the services of this organization. Where can you find a worthier cause?

More Indians than ever before are taking advantage of health facilities offered by the federal government. So testified Dr. Caruth J. Wagner, chief of Indian health, before a House committee considering budget requests. The reason is not complicated. The Indian population is on the rise, and the federal health service is becoming more popular with the tribes.

Heavy snow still covers trout streams on the north shore of Lake Superior. The opening this year may see the start of a new sport: digging for trout.

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LANSING, MICH. (NEA) — Michigan's Gov. George Romney already is being assessed by both friend and Democratic foe as virtually unbeatable if he should seek the governorship again in 1966.

Moreover, few top Michigan professionals doubt that Romney wants to go for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination. Since he will then be 61, it is really his one and only chance.

A substantial victory in 1966 would position him well. He would then enter upon the first four-year term in state history. And a healthy winning margin, coming on top of his against-the odds triumph in 1964, would enlarge his already growing reputation as a vote-getter.

INQUIRIES IN MICHIGAN DISCLOSE that almost no Democrat of office-holding status cares to take on Romney next year.

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, breezes back to his home state nearly every weekend. But key politicians tend to think this reflects a greater interest in a U. S. Senate seat than in a try for a seventh governorship term.

Even if Williams did go for his old post, Democratic chiefs are not optimistic over his chances against Romney.

Chafing as always at Romney's largely undimmed image of "goodness," Democrats fret over how to combat him. Muttters one:

"He's for home, mother, free beer, wide highways and early spring."

ROMNEY'S SOLID POLITICAL ADVANTAGES go well beyond his "white knight" status, helpful as that is.

Michigan's economy soared 8 per cent in each of the last two years and is still on a big rise. Unemployment is at an amazing low, 3.5 to 4 per cent, well beneath the national average. A budget surplus ranging toward 100 million dollars is piling up. Though some officials voice fears this upward pace cannot be maintained, few think a serious slowdown would come soon enough to untrack Romney in 1966.

Currently he is engaged with a Democratically controlled legislature in a fencing contest over possible tax reform and legislation for new taxes. Burned in a major reform effort in 1963, the governor declines to loft a "Romney tax program" only to have it shot down by Democrats eager to nail him.

His increased eagerness leads one Republican leader to say his political grasp has improved "150 per cent" since he took office.

A WIDE FEELING EXISTS, TOO, that Romney bears a charmed political life. Professionals are still thumbing over the figures that gave him a 380,000-vote victory last fall while President Johnson was dumping Barry Goldwater by more than a million votes in Michigan.

Perhaps most astonishing was the fact Romney won an estimated 2 to 20 per cent of the state's Negro vote and got 45 per cent of the vote total in Wayne county (Detroit), the toughest Democratic stronghold.

It is figures like these which encourage many Republicans to think of Romney in 1968 presidential terms. His new GOP state chairman, Mrs. Ely Peterson, a tough-minded practitioner, clearly is casting her boss in the White House mold.

Romney, of course, never commits himself openly until he must. But his 1965 schedule is thick with out-of-state appearances, including an eight-day visit to Europe in late April.

A high-placed GOP spokesman says of the governor today: "He's about as well-postured for 1968 as he could be right now."

She looked down at her hand. There was a rubber ball in it. Somebody said softly: "Squeeze it." She tried. Her dark brown eyes watched gravely as the fingertips fluttered. The Old Lady could not squeeze. The hand was palm-up on her thigh. The ball looked like a red eye in a wrinkled socket. She was sick. Or dreaming.

Not dreaming. She could smell the antiseptic in the room, and the Old Lady had never smelled anything in a dream. It was real. She was sick. The mass of tangled black and white hair lifted up, and the brown eyes looked around the room slowly. Beds. Many beds. A white cast in traction. A young woman in pink peignoir, propped up, working on her fingernails. An old lady moaning in her sleep. A young doctor in white snapping and un-snapping a ballpoint pen. A woman in a gray bathrobe, assisted by a starched nurse, taking the first faltering steps.

The Old Lady understood. But how did she get here? What happened? She tried to reconstruct. Thoughts tumbled down the rapids of her mind, but they were too fast. Someone said softly: "Squeeze it" and she looked down again and willed the fingers to close over the ball. They declined the order.

She felt no pain. Nor fear. Confusion, yes. For the first time, the Old Lady noticed that she was in a wheelchair. She looked at her knees, and saw that she was wearing a gray bathrobe, like the lady who was taking those first steps. She was in some institution. A ward. She had had an accident. Or a heart attack. Or a stroke. Yes, a stroke. That was it.

The grave eyes turned on the doctor crouched before her. "Docker," her mouth said, "plee temmee . . ." She heard the croaking voice. Fear squeezed the heart. She could not speak properly. Could . . . not . . . speak. She wanted to say: "Doctor, please tell me . . ." but the words fell from the sagging mouth awkwardly.

The Old Lady began to weep. There was no sound. The blinking brown eyes squeezed the tears off, and they raced, and paused, down the furrows of her cheeks. The young doctor stood. "She knows," he said to himself. "For the first time, she knows." He patted the lifeless hand, and left. He had other work.

The Old Lady was there a long time. She and the rubber ball became inseparable. Her speech improved, but the fingers remained divorced. She was a charity case, but this did not

Johnson Speech on Viet Nam Best Statement of Policy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's latest speech on the Viet Nam situation is one of the best expositions of American foreign policy that has been presented since the "cold war" began. The advisers who helped to compose it also deserve credit because they accurately assembled the facts that make up the consensus of American thinking today.

The President avoided the mistake made by the United Nations in Korea when consent was given to participate in a cease-fire which never was followed by the signing of a peace treaty.

This time there is no self-imposed restriction upon the United States to withhold military action while peace talks are proceeding. The Communists cannot win with impunity, therefore, "string out peace discussions year after year while at the same time conducting clandestine violations of a cease-fire agreement."

So when Mr. Johnson declared that he would enter peace talks unconditionally, it means that the United States retains its freedom of action and can punish the enemy and retaliate whenever there are aggressive acts.

The key words in the President's speech are these: "We will not be defeated. We will not grow tired. We will not withdraw, either openly or under the cloak of a meaningless agreement."

Having said this, however, the President made a constructive suggestion along an entirely different line when he called for an international program for development of Southeast Asia, starting with a co-operative effort by the countries of that area. He urged Secretary General Thant of the United Nations to use his prestige to initiate such a plan and invited "all other industrialized countries, including the Soviet Union," to become participants. He added: "For our part, I will ask the Congress to join in a billion-dollar American investment in this effort as soon as it is under way."

This move has been wrongly interpreted by some as merely a kind of sop to those who have been criticizing the continuing of the war. It is the first time that the United States in recent years has publicly declared a policy that goes beyond governments and into the hearts and minds of the peoples themselves. Whether because of timidity or indifference, the United States has not carried on a campaign directly to the peoples of the Communist-dominated countries. It has not endeavored to show them how much better off they would be if they had a free government.

The President's speech doesn't necessarily imply that there is any intention to drive a wedge between the peoples and their totalitarian governments. But the United States, in its information programs overseas and aboard, has too long neglected the importance of telling the peoples of the Communist and "neutralist" countries of the willingness of the American people to help them seek a life of individual opportunity and improved economic conditions.

In countries where the hand of the oppressor is stern there is no way to attain the kind of living conditions which prevail in the free countries except by the concerted will of a determined populace.

Too often the idea of revolution is scoffed at in the belief that armies are controlled by the dictators. But, as was evidenced in 1917 in the revolution against the czar, even the army participates in the revolt when public opinion definitely desires it.

President Johnson rightly discussed the need in Southeast Asia for homes for millions of impoverished people. He said: "Each day these people rise at dawn and struggle through until the night to wrestle existence from the soil. They are often wracked by diseases, plagued by hunger, and death comes at the early age of 40."

"Stability and peace do not come easily in such a land. Neither independence nor human dignity will be ever won, though, by arms alone. It also requires the works of peace."

"The American people have helped generously in times past in these works, and now there must be a much more massive effort to improve the life of man in that conflict-torn corner of our world."

This is a welcome note in the outline of American foreign policy. It needs to be followed up by radio and every other form of communication. For history has proved that, if ideas are conveyed to a few, they spread to many by word of mouth, which indeed is the most effective form of communication in existence today. The Communist governments will, of course, reject the proposal for economic aid, but the seed will have been planted among the people.

The President wisely did not discuss details. But he made it clear that the United States wants peace—not war. He also pledged American co-operation to achieve a better life not merely for the free peoples but for those whose rights have been so elegantly abused by their rulers.

The speech was remarkable because of its forthrightness and its scope. Sooner or later peace talks will begin, and it looks now as if the advantage then will be on the side of the United States.

RUGGED SCHOOL ISSUE

Americans will spend more than $4.2 billion this year to build upwards of 10,000 new public and private schools throughout the country.

With such a vast sum involved, it is not surprising that scrambling for a share of it should exist among the producers of just about everything that goes into an educational plant, from structural materials to textbooks.

Nor it is surprising that school boards, under pressure from salesmen, architects, decorators, educators and other experts should make some controversial decisions.

An example of how competition between the makers of two different but similar-purpose items can split school boards—and the communities they represent—is conventional flooring versus carpeting for classrooms and libraries.

It recent years, the latter has cut into the market dominated by asphalt or vinyl tile and linoleum. High initial expenditure, the makers claim, is offset by carpeting's warmth, acoustical qualities and low maintenance cost.

"Resilient" flooring manufacturers say it is just the other way around. Some boards have been persuaded one way, some the other.

In Appleton, Wis., early this year, the school board approved the installation of carpeting in one junior high school. The cost was $5,400, compared to $800 for the vinyl tile previously planned. Public disapproval forced the board to reverse its decision.

In this instance, dollar signs aroused taxpayer interest in a school system. But money isn't always a factor.

How often do we concern ourselves with the host of other pressures incessantly playing on the schools these days—the demand to upgrade teaching, to introduce new subjects and revitalize old ones, book-banning campaigns by fringe groups, the question of student work load, to name only a few?

CAMPSPITE PRESSURE

All signs point to a record season for camping out this spring, summer and fall. Camping equipment sales are booming, and the demand for campsites promises to be greater than ever before.

Fortunately, the government has done something to relieve the pressure a bit on the national park system. The Department of the Interior has announced that campers will have 1,156 new places to pitch their tents this year. It is estimated that there are 27,782 camping spots in the national parks now, and that these will provide some eight million camp-use days.

The latter figure is the clue to the kind of pressure brought to bear on camping areas not only in national parks but in state parks and elsewhere. Despite the increase in federal campsites this year, space will be at a premium and campers often will find themselves more crowded than they are at home. An even greater effort to meet the need will have to be made.

A BIT OF WARNING

This is a great time of year for small boys. There are plenty of puddles to splash in, impromptu curbside streams to dam, sandbanks and gravel pits to explore after a winter's lapse, ponds tempting to experiments in navigation.

This also is a dangerous time of year for small boys. The lure of those street puddles and rivulets can rob a lad of his customary alertness to passing cars. Sandbanks and gravel pits, especially as deep frost loosens its grip, have a way of caving in on the adventurous. The sort of small craft fancied by young navigators are not always pondworthy.

Cautionary thoughts of this kind need not prompt extremes of restriction. As Stevenson notes so eloquently in his essay, "Aes Triplex," it is neither possible nor desirable for human beings to be absolutely safe from all the danger of life. But reasonable precautions can be taken by parents, boys can reasonably be warned of the dangers about them. Sometimes judicious admonition can avert tragedy.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
AS A PEACEMAKER?

If, as seems possible, the UN's Secretary U Thant is to become a go-between for the West in an attempt to bring North Vietnam and the South Vietnam Viet Cong to the negotiation table, how good are his credentials? He has already indicated that he thinks the United States is in the wrong in its attempt to defend South Vietnam against Red infiltrators who would, in effect, "liberate" the country from itself.

U Thant is a Burmese, and the question is whether he can transcend his background in representations to the North Vietnamese and the Red Chinese. The point about Burma is that the Burmese General Ne Winn, in an attempt to apply so-called middle ground concepts to the economy, has virtually wrecked his country's productivity by nationalizing everything in sight, from banks and manufacturers to hardware shops, clothing establishments and even grocery stores. In Rangoon, for example, it is now difficult to find a good supply of local foodstuffs that have always been plentiful. The whole economy has ground to a halt, and the free Chinese, who once did much of the retail trade in Burmese cities, have left the country.

Ne Winn, as boss of Burma, has created this mess in an effort to "isolate" his country from both the United States and Red China. The situation in Burma contrasts with that of Thailand, where there is a genuine will to build a strong economy and to defend the nation against the "liberation" forces that are even now gathering just over the border in Laos and Red China itself in response to Peking's Foreign Minister Chen Yi's pronouncement that the Thais are next on the Communists' subversion schedule.

U Thant is supposed to behave as an objective and disinterested person in his role as Secretary of the UN. But he has said that he considers the activity of his own country as something of a model of what a Southeast Asian nation should be doing to stay out of the big powers' line of fire. He has boasted that the Burmese have resisted Communism by taking care of their own economy. What U Thant misses is that his own country is hardly in condition to fend off anybody after its experience in introducing what the Burmese call "instant socialism." Burmese owes its present independence solely to the fact that the United States and the Red Chinese still confront each other elsewhere in Southeast Asia. If the U.S. were to quit that part of the world, an enfeebled Burma would be compelled to do the Red Chinese bidding. It might remain nominally free, but it would certainly fall into a new imperialistic sphere of influence exerted from Peking. And it would drag Thailand down with it.

The Thais, knowing that they are next in line for the attention of "liberators" if the U.S. allows itself to be "negotiated" out of Saigon, would be comparatively helpless if they were left to defend themselves. True enough, if a UN force were introduced to police the Ho Chi Minh trail that leads into South Vietnam through Laos and Cambodia, it might tie the Red Chinese up a bit. But it would take a really strong and determined UN detachment to set up effective road blocks between North and South Vietnam. The jungles and mountains of Southeast Asia aren't like the Gaza Strip boundary between Israel and Egypt. Moreover, a new line of infiltration between Red China and the south could lead into Thailand through Laos or U Thant's own Burma.

The U.S. is committed by an agreement between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Thai Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, a fervent anti-Communist, to defend Thailand even in case of withdrawal from Vietnam. There are two good jet landing fields in Thailand that could accommodate U.S. airborne troops in a jiffy. But in the case of U.S. decampment from South Vietnam who would believe in Washington's will to make a stand in Thailand? That is the question which U Thant, in his fatuous belief that Burma has shown the West how to deal with the menace of Red China, is hardly equipped to answer. Renew Hope of Cripples
By Buying Easter Seals
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Easter, coming as it does in the spring of the year, is for many persons a time of renewed vigor and increased hope. You can make it a time of renewed hope for cripples of all ages by supporting the Easter Seal campaign.

Although most people know about the Easter Seals put out by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., most of us don't know as much as we should about the work being done by this organization.

Medical science has provided preventive and curative measures for many diseases but in spite of these advances the number of persons in this country who are either crippled from birth (an estimated 7 for every 100 births) or later through disease or accident has steadily grown.

One reason for this is the increase in the total population. Another is an increase in accidents in and around the home. This takes an especially heavy toll among the preschool children. Furthermore, medical advances themselves, by saving the lives of persons who would otherwise have died, have increased the number who are alive but crippled.

Our job as citizens is to see to it that these persons are not saved for a meaningless or helpless existence but are given a chance to realize their highest usefulness. The potentialities of cripples are often amazingly great. The key to helping these persons lies in a single word—rehabilitation.

The many techniques of rehabilitation, although available for over 40 years have received a tremendous impetus since World War II. Although Easter Seal funds provide professional care for all kinds of crippling diseases, most of the effort goes to persons with major deformities or diseases of the bones and joints. The services include: physiotherapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, education to fit a cripple to earn a living and sheltered workshops where working with others who are similarly afflicted helps one to forget his handicap.

Also provided are diagnostic clinics, rehabilitation centers, treatment centers, aid for the household and sales outlets for products made by the crippled. One very valuable service is the provision of braces, crutches and other appliances to children on a loan basis because they are quickly outgrown and must be replaced with larger sizes. Another important service that has been expanding in recent years is the provision of summer residential and day camps for crippled children.

This is only a partial list of the services of this organization. Where can you find a worthwhile cause?

More Indians than ever before are taking advantage of health facilities offered by the federal government. So testified Dr. Caruth J. Wagner, chief of Indian health, before a House committee considering budget requests. The reason is not complicated. The Indian population is on the rise, and the federal health service is becoming more popular with the tribes.

Heavy snow still covers trout streams on the north shore of Lake Superior. The opening this year may see the start of a new sport: digging for trout.

LANSING, MICH. (NEA) — Michigan's Gov. George Romney already is being assessed by both friend and Democratic foe as virtually unbeatable if he should seek the governorship again in 1966.

Moreover, few top Michigan professionals doubt that Romney wants to go for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination. Since he will then be 61, it is really his one and only chance.

A substantial victory in 1966 would position him well. He would then enter upon the first four-year term in state history. And a healthy winning margin, coming on top of his against-the-tide triumph in 1964, would enlarge his already growing reputation as a vote-getter.

INQUIRIES IN MICHIGAN DISCLOSE that almost no Democrat of office-holding stature cares to take on Romney next year.

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, breezes back to his home state nearly every weekend. But key politicians tend to think this reflects a greater interest in a U.S. Senate seat than in a try for a seventh governorship term.

Even if Williams did go for his old post, Democratic chiefs are not optimistic over his chances against Romney.

Chafing as always at Romney's largely undimmed image of "goodness," Democrats fret over how to combat him. Mutters one:

It figures like these which encourage many Republicans to think of Romney in 1968 presidential terms. His new GOP state chairman, Mrs. Ely Peterson, a tough-minded practitioner, clearly is casting her boss in the White House mold.

Romney, of course, never commits himself openly until he must. But his 1965 schedule is thick with out-of-state appearances, including an eight-day visit to Europe in late April.

fact

Johann Sebastian Bach, the famous German composer, was the most important member of a remarkable family of musicians, the most consistently successful in musical history. Nearly 40 of its members had established reputations from the late 16th to the early 19th centuries. Johann's great-grandfather was a miller who used to take his zither to work and play it while the grinding was going on.

Police Trained in Opening Safes to Reduce Burglaries

By BOB POOS

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — At large in the St. Louis area are 152 men who have undergone a thorough course, conducted by experts, in how to open safes.

All but one are policemen, from 35 Missouri and Illinois communities around St. Louis. The other is this reporter.

The men attended a course at the St. Louis Police Academy conducted by Robert Wilgus and Henry Self, executives of the Diebold Safe Co. of Canton, Ohio. The firm has made, among other special projects, the safe that holds the famous Hope diamond in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

The two experts make trips around the country periodically to familiarize authorities with methods employed by safe-crackers.

Capt. Lester Martin, head of the St. Louis police burglary and robbery detail, said the lessons would be valuable to police for two reasons.

Help for Merchants

"First, it will help us in our instructions to merchants on how to prevent burglaries and safe jobs so far as it is possible to prevent them," he said.

"And it will aid us in our evaluation of evidence when we examine the scene of a safe job or similar theft."

Wilgus has been 15 years in the business of striving to make entry-proof vaults.

Self, in a way, got into the business from the other side. For 14 years he was in a section of U.S. Army Intelligence which was interested in ways of opening safes. After Army service, he entered the safe business.

Wilgus explains that there are basically two kinds of safes: records protectors and money-protection vaults.

Much to his chagrin, too many people who keep large sums of money around depend on the records-protection type. This is simply a large box with inner and outer plates of sheet steel surrounding fire insulation material.

It is this kind of safe that is usually pried, blasted, drilled or burned open or "peeled."

Sturdy Variety

Sophisticated money safes these days, Wilgus says, virtually are impregnable. His firm has one type that hasn't been entered forcibly since it was invented in 1960. "And some people have tried pretty hard to do it," he said.

"But some day it probably will be solved and then we will have to come up with something new," he added.

World War II, among other things, brought forth many new tactics for getting into places that aren't supposed to be gotten into. Scientific uses of explosives, drills and other techniques for opening vaults eventually found their way into the underworld.

Safe manufacturers had to develop materials that resist carbide drills and reduce diamond drills to dust. They invented counterthief and counterparty devices that seal safe doors so firmly that even the safe companies have trouble opening them once they are tampered with.

Takes Issue With Fire Chief

What if Police and Water Service Were Cut Downtown?

A Kingston man took issue today with an order by Fire Chief James M. Brett closing down Cornell Fire Station for the second time in recent months, referring to Brett's action as playing "political football with our citizens."

John Howard Brodhead of 129 Hunter Street, in a letter to The Freeman, entitled, "An Open Letter to Fire Chief James M. Brett," said that while he was in sympathy with problems facing paid members of the Fire Department, he felt there was "a safer way to solve this problem." He said that, "If we closed a public service each time we were short of men, we would have no police downtown, either, or when our water supply was low they would cut off our supply downtown." He asked the fire chief to "return to us the protection from fire which we are all paying for."

Text of Letter

The letter: "As a citizen of downtown Kingston, and a taxpayer, I am fully aware of the problems existing in the paid fire department. And, I state that I am in sympathy with them. But let me also state that I and a great many other downtown citizens do not believe that your authority extends to the point where you can play political football with our citizens. In my opinion, that is exactly what you are doing to gain more firemen. I am sure there is a safer way to solve the problem. I live across from (the site of) a recent two-alarm fire, and I am certain that if Cornell Station had been closed at this time that fire might have had disastrous consequences.

"Those few moments extra it takes to arrive from the central part of the city to downtown could very well be the few moments it may take to save the lives and the property of some of our citizens."

"If we closed a public service each time we were short of men, we would have no police downtown, either, or when our water supply was low they would cut off our supply downtown. If downtown is to be a forgotten part of the world then let's move everybody out and do it right."

"Or, let us like sensible men, sit down and come to a solution that will not endanger others."

"It takes no more men to drive a fire truck from Cornell Station than it does from central Kingston."

"And, if that truck is short of help any number of our men at the scene will gladly help and obey your orders to the fullest."

"I am sure I speak for the great number of our citizens, up-town or downtown; when I ask you to return to us the protection from fire which we are all paying for."

"With all due respects, I am John Howard Brodhead."

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the advantages of being a successful producer of a highly esteemed, well-received television documentary series is that personal enthusiasms may sometimes be indulged.

"I'd always wanted to do a show on the American Indian," said ABC producer-writer John Secondari, "and the more I studied Custer and the events at Little Big Horn, the more eager I was to figure out a way to do the story from the Indians' point of view."

Thus, "Custer to the Little Big Horn" will be presented as part of Secondari's "Saga of Western Man" series tonight on ABC.

Unless Vivian Vance has a last-minute change of mind — which is unlikely — Lucille Ball will be minus her comedy sidekick in next season's "Lucy Show" episodes.

Vivian, for the past couple of seasons, has wanted to remain in the New York area, where her husband's business is located. During the past season she has appeared in fewer shows than usual, and for a long time has made no bones of the fact that she wanted to leave the Hollywood-made program.

Lucy, on a recent trip to New York, was hopeful she would change Vivian's mind, but subsequent negotiations came to nothing. Now Lucy plans to buckle into a schedule of guest stars, and already has lined up more than 20 top performers for episodes.

Four Roses adds a Fifth Rose.

Where? Not where you can see it...where you can taste it.

We've found a way to make whiskey actually taste good. Not just smoother or lighter. Not just blander or milder. But good.

Many a distiller has tried. Now we've succeeded.

The great new taste of Four Roses—that's the Fifth Rose. It makes our whiskey a whiskey you drink because of its taste, not in spite of it.

This could change a lot of people's ideas about why they drink whiskey. And what whiskey they should drink.

Suggestion: see for yourself how surprisingly good a whiskey can taste. And how surprisingly reasonable a good-tasting whiskey can be. Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more.

So now there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses. 315 619 499

Court Upholds Full-Crew Law As Safety Need

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—New York State's full-crew laws, long a target of eastern railroads, have been upheld by a State Supreme Court in a decision that termed full crews necessary for safety.

Justice Gerald Nolan dismissed Thursday a suit by 10 major railroads seeking invalidation of the 50-year-old laws on the ground that they require an unnecessary number of freight crewmen.

Nolan ruled that the laws were not unreasonable in requiring that trains "be manned for the possibility of adverse or emergency conditions which may be reasonably anticipated."

The railroads had contended that the laws' requirements bore no relationship to public safety or the needs of modern trains. Firemen, they said, had no fires to tend on diesel and electric locomotives.

An appeal of Nolan's decision is anticipated.

The position of the 10 railroads was that the laws required them to employ, needlessly, 2,029 employees at a yearly cost of about $28 million.

In their suit, brought in 1961, they attacked the laws as unconstitutional on the ground that railroads were singled out for crew requirements while other industries were not.

The railroads also argued that forcing them to hire unnecessary personnel amounted to confiscation of their property; and, finally, that the state's laws were superseded by a 1963 federal arbitration ruling.

PSC for Repeal
The railroads that brought suit were: New York Central, Erie - Lackawanna, Pennsylvania, Long Island, Baltimore & Ohio, New Haven, Lehigh Valley, Boston & Maine, Delaware & Hudson, and New York, Chicago & St. Louis.

The Public Service Commission, a defendant, six years ago recommended to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller that the full-crew laws be repealed. The Legislature never acted on the recommendation, which was backed by the governor.

REINTERMENT AT OLD DUTCH CEMETERY—The last of the human remains from Pine Street Cemetery were reinterred at Old Dutch Churchyard, Main and Wall Streets this week under a contract between the church and Francis J. McCardle and James F. Gilpatrick, licensed funeral directors. The Pine Street Cemetery contained 299 graves, most of them dating from the late 1700's through about 1850. Removal and reinterment of the remains, in accordance with the State Religious Corporations

Law, paves the way for an agreement for the sale of the property by Old Dutch Church to Pine Street Professional Park Inc. A medical professional building is proposed for the site. At the final reinterment are John Yonnetti (foreground with shovel), and (l-r) Arthur Ellsworth, one of the workers; McCardle, William J. Van Kleeck, chairman of Old Dutch Church building and grounds committee; Emil Wagner, superintendent of Montrepose Cemetery, and Gilpatrick. (Freeman photo)

Secretary, Boss Relationship Is Topic for Kiwanis

The role of the "first ladies of business" was explained to members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Lillian M. Styles of the National Secretaries Association, Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter.

Speaking on the topic, "An Open Letter to The Boss," Miss Styles, herself a "certified professional secretary" from the local IBM plant, outlined the qualifications of a secretary and humorously spoke of the "proper actions of a boss towards his secretary."

Categories that are covered by a secretary included "knowing as much about non-technical work as the boss, being a confidant, guarding papers, the correct use of the English language, keeping the office from being cluttered, and fostering human relations."

Miss Styles further said that a boss needed two women anyway—"a secretary to write for him and a wife to pick up after him."

The speaker questioned "how much time a boss wants to spend on small things," and answered that probably "as little as possible." Thus a competent secretary could take care of the "little things and leave the boss' mind free for details."

Miss Styles further pointed out that a secretary and a boss "should compliment each other and not duplicate effort," she said that it was the job of a secretary "to make the office a pleasant place for the boss to spend part of his daily hours; to promote good human relations; to recognize and admire his abilities; to be cheerful, patient, and a good listener; to be a 'calmer-downer' and a 'builder-upper'; to be a go-between; to respect personal confidences; and to think constructively."

A few "don'ts" were projected by the speaker for the benefit of a boss when giving dictation. These included such subjects as mumbling, absent-mindedness, making telephone calls in the midst of dictating, gazing out the window, mentioning the proper punctuation, and generally not paying attention to the subject at hand. Miss Styles stressed that a

Dear Abby . . .

Mentally Confused!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend says that what he likes most about me is that I am morally aloof. He is right. I don't put up with any monkey business. Fred (not his real name) used to be very thick with a certain girl for about three years. He said she was not morally aloof like I was. In fact, she was just the opposite. Now Fred tells me he has to go back with her every now and then to test his strength with her. I don't care for this idea. He says I don't have any kick coming because I always win out since he always comes back to me, which proves that he is absolutely through with her, doesn't it? I think there's something wrong with the way he figures. What is it?

MORALLY ALOOF
DEAR ALOOF: It's heads he wins, tails you lose. Tell Fred that if he can't prove his "strength" by staying away from the other gal entirely, you'll be not only morally aloof, but physically absent from his life.

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind people borrowing things, but I can't stand beggars. My neighbor (I can't call her a friend, she is just an acquaintance) carries things too far. She sends her children over here for two eggs, or shoe polish, or sugar, mustard, or bread. She has even borrowed money from me. She has never returned anything. Her excuse is, "We didn't have time to go to the store."

DESPERATE
DEAR DESPERATE: Don't lie. Tell your neighbor that because she has never returned anything she's borrowed, you have decided not to lend her anything in the future. It may be exactly what she needs to wake her up. If she's offended and never speaks to you again, you are not out much.

DEAR ABBY: I met a woman recently at the home of a mutual friend. She was very pretty, intelligent, refined and friendly. But for some strange reason, which I cannot for the life of me understand, I took an instant dislike to her. This has been bothering me because I rarely form an opinion about a person before getting to know him. Are first impressions usually correct? Why do you suppose I took such a definite dislike to this woman?

MISS T.
DEAR MISS T.: Perhaps she reminded you of someone you dislike with good reason. Or possibly she was TOO "pretty, intelligent and refined," and you were jealous. First impressions are the result of one's combined prejudices and should not be relied upon.

DEAR ABBY: This is my solution for getting teenage daughters to help willingly with the dishes. Simply refuse to let anyone who has "too much homework" or is "too tired" to help with the dishes receive any phone calls for the evening. After years of scolding and threatening, I finally hit upon this idea and it worked like magic. I only wish I had thought of it sooner. Pass this on to your readers, Abby.

Congressional Delegation Tours Castle Pt. Today

A congressional delegation, including Representative Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville, (D-28th District) were scheduled to tour the Veterans Administration Hospital at Castle Point near Beacon today.

The delegation reportedly arrived at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh some time before noon and proceeded to the VA facility.

They also scheduled a visit to the VA facility of Worcester, Mass., and will tour VA installations at Bath and Sunnyside on Saturday.

The committee is headed by Rep. Olin E. Teague, (D-Texas) chairman of the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, and Rep. E. Ross Adair of Indiana, senior Republican member of the committee.

It was reported in Washington Wednesday that the committee has acted to allow a presidential commission to investigate the proposed closing of 14 VA hospitals and old soldiers homes. The committee Tuesday deferred action on a bill to block the closings.

President Johnson, who appointed the eight-man commission, rescinded the VA order to close 14 veterans hospitals and old soldiers homes by June 30. The rescinding order is for an indefinite period pending a report of the commission expected by June 1.

REINTERMENT AT OLD DUTCH CEMETERY—The last of the human remains from Pine Street Cemetery were reinterred at Old Dutch Churchyard, Main and Wall Streets this week under a contract between the church and Francis J. McCordle and James F. Gilpatrick, licensed funeral directors. The Pine Street Cemetery contained 299 graves, most of them dating from the late 1700's through about 1850. Removal and reinterment of the remains, in accordance with the State Religious Corporations

Law, paves the way for an agreement for the sale of the property by Old Dutch Church to Pine Street Professional Park Inc. A medical professional building is proposed for the site. At the final reinterment are John Yonetti (foreground with shovel), and (l-r) Arthur Ellsworth, one of the workers; McCordle, William J. Van Kleeck, chairman of Old Dutch Church building and grounds committee; Emil Wagner, superintendent of Montrose Cemetery, and Gilpatrick. (Freeman photo)

Secretary, Boss Relationship Is Topic for Kiwanis

The role of the "first ladies of business" was explained to members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Lillian M. Styles of the National Secretaries Association, Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter.

Speaking on the topic, "An Open Letter to the Boss," Miss Styles, herself a "certified professional secretary" from the local IBM plant, outlined the qualifications of a secretary and humorously spoke of the "proper categories of a boss towards his secretary."

Categories that are covered by a secretary included "knowing as much about non-technical work as the boss, being a confidant, guarding papers, the correct use of the English language, keeping the office from being cluttered, and fostering human relations."

Miss Styles further said that a boss needed two women anyway—"a secretary to write for him and a wife to pick up after him."

The speaker questioned "how much time a boss wants to spend on small things," and answered that probably "as little as possible." Thus a competent secretary could take care of the "little things and leave the boss' mind free for details."

Miss Styles further pointed out that a secretary and a boss "should compliment each other and not duplicate effort," she said that it was the job of a secretary "to make the office a pleasant place for the boss to spend part of his daily hours; to promote good human relations; to recognize and admire his abilities; to be cheerful, patient, and a good listener; to be a 'calmer-downer' and a 'builder-upper'; to be a go-between; to respect personal confidences; and to think constructively."

A few "don'ts" were projected by the speaker for the benefit of a boss when giving dictation. These included such subjects as mumbling, absent-mindedness, making telephone calls in the midst of dictating, gazing out the window, mentioning the proper punctuation, and generally not paying attention to the subject at hand.

Miss Styles stressed that a

Mentally Confused!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend says that what he likes most about me is that I am morally aloof. He is right. I don't put up with any monkey business. Fred (not his real name) used to be very thick with a certain girl for about three years. He said she was not morally aloof like I was. In fact, she was just the opposite. Now Fred tells me he has to go back with her every now and then to test his strength and make sure that he is absolutely through with her. I don't care for this idea. He says I don't have any kick coming because I always win out since he always comes back to me, which proves that he is absolutely through with her, doesn't it? I think there's something wrong with the way he figures. What is it?

MORALLY ALOOF
DEAR ALOOF: It's heads he wins, tails you lose. Tell Fred that if he can't prove his "strength" by staying away from the other gal entirely, you'll be not only morally aloof, but physically absent from his life.

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind people borrowing things, but I can't stand beggars. My neighbor (I can't call her a friend, she is just an acquaintance) carries things too far. She sends her children over here for two eggs, or shoe polish, or sugar, mustard, or bread. She has even borrowed money from me. She has never returned anything. Her excuse is, "We didn't have time to go to the store."

Since I always have on hand what she sends for, I can't say I don't have it and sin against God. And I can't say I can't spare it when I really can. My husband hates this situation. And it is getting me down. Please advise.

DESPERATE
DEAR DESPERATE: Don't be. Tell your neighbor that because she has never returned anything she's borrowed, you have decided not to lend her anything in the future. It may be exactly what she needs to wake her up. If she's offended and never speaks to you again, you are not out much.

DEAR ABBY: I met a woman recently at the home of a mutual friend. She was very pretty, intelligent, refined and friendly. But for some strange reason, which I cannot for the life of me understand, I took an instant dislike to her. This has been bothering me because I rarely form an opinion about a person before getting to know him. Are first impressions usually correct? Why do you suppose I took such a definite dislike to this woman?

MISS T.
DEAR MISS T: Perhaps she reminded you of someone you dislike with good reason. Or possibly she was TOO "pretty, intelligent and refined," and you were jealous. First impressions are the result of one's combined prejudices and should not be relied upon.

DEAR ABBY: This is my solution for getting teenage daughters to help willingly with the dishes. Simply refuse to let anyone who has "too much homework" or is "too tired" to help with the dishes receive any phone calls for the evening. After years of scolding and threatening, I finally hit upon this idea and it worked like magic. I only wish I had thought of it sooner. Pass this on to your readers, Abby.

Turning to Rabbits

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Fidel Castro government is reported turning to rabbits to help offset a meat shortage.

The Cuban Economists Association in Exile said rabbits on a farm established in eastern Cuba had multiplied from 150 to 615 in four months.

The government was so heartened it started three new bunny ranches, the report added.

Gun Battle Makes San Diego Street A No-Man's Land

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A gun battle between police and a robbery suspect barricaded in an arms-filled pawnshop turned a downtown San Diego street corner into a no-man's land of bullets, bombs and blood.

The police won. But one man was fatally shot and another dropped dead.

Pour Out 800 Rounds

Hit by two shotgun blasts in a room above the pawnshop Thursday was Robert Page Anderson, 28, a convict on probation for possession of marijuana. He was in serious condition with extensive wounds in both arms and the abdomen.

Police poured about 800 rounds of ammunition and numerous tear gas bombs into the pawnshop during the four-hour siege.

Two concussion grenades softened Anderson for the final police assault on his stronghold. The battle began with a report to police of a robbery in the shop. The caller said a male Negro with a gun was in the store.

Theodore Sweeney, 63, a clerk in the pawnshop, said Anderson asked to see a rifle and ammunition. With both in his hands he threatened to kill the two clerks. Sweeney ran upstairs where he hid under a bed during the entire fracas, he said.

But the other clerk, Louis Richards, 62, fell fatally wounded in the shop doorway.

When police arrived they were met by a barrage of gunfire from inside the store, where Anderson had armed himself with shotguns, rifles and pistols from the gun racks.

Police called for reinforcements. Sixty-five officers surrounded the store and riddled it with rifle, shotgun and pistol fire.

Newsman Dies on Scene

A drenching rain added a dismal note to the battle scene as tear gas grenades were flung into the building.

"He must have eyes of stone to take that gas," one officer said.

Thousands of spectators stood in the downpour, watching the fight from a block away where police had stopped traffic.

A newsman, Robert Crandall, 50, editor of the biweekly Independent, died on the scene from heart attack.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said Thursday he had asked James B. Carey to resign from the labor federation's Executive Council but that the former president of the International Union of Electrical Workers refused.

Carey, now 53, resigned as head of the IUE after the Labor Department reported Paul Jennings actually won last fall's presidential election but union trustees had miscounted the ballots and reported the results falsely.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three persons have been convicted of contempt of Congress because they refused to testify at a closed session of a House subcommittee on un-American activities.

Dagmar Wilson, Donna Allen and Russell Nixon had been called concerning the part they played in trying to get a visa for a U.S. lecture tour by Japanese professor Koaru Yasui, an opponent of nuclear weapons and 1958 winner of the Lenin Peace Prize in 1958.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edward M. Curran found the two women, both of Washington, guilty on two counts. Nixon was found guilty on one count.

Each count carries a maximum of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 4,000 persons are expected for the 53rd annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this month.

The sessions are scheduled in Washington April 25-28.

Low shoes are called "oxfords" because they first were made and worn at Oxford, England.

Revisions Downed on School Aid

Awaiting Results On Religious Tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today turned back an amendment to the $1.3-billion school bill to permit suits testing the constitutionality of aid for religious schools.

The amendment, feared by the bill's sponsors as the roughest obstacle in their drive to pass it without change, was defeated 53 to 32.

The vote apparently cleared the way for passage of the top-priority bill later in the day without change, as President Johnson has been urging.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chief sponsor of the amendment, argued that there was serious question whether the aid for private schools in the bill violated the First Amendment to the Constitution.

The House has already passed the bill — March 26 by a vote of 263 to 153 — and the Ervin amendment appeared to be the last major obstacle to enactment. For if no substantial changes are made there will be no need for a conference of House and Senate to resolve differences and the bill can be sent to President Johnson's desk by dusk.

Ervin argued in presenting his amendment Thursday night that it is practically impossible for an ordinary taxpayer to challenge aid to parochial schools. The courts, he said, have held that an individual has too minimal an interest to sustain a suit.

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., former dean of the Oregon University Law School, appealed for defeat of the Ervin amendment.

For one thing, said Morse, its adoption could endanger the entire program by forcing a conference with the House on the tough church-state issue.

Besides, Morse and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., argued, cases bearing directly on the question already are on their way to the Supreme Court and so the Ervin amendment is unnecessary.

Before sending the bill to the House floor, the House Education Committee tightened its language to make sure that while parochial schools benefit, all assistance is channeled through public schools.

The bill's backers say they

Teamster Council Orders Liberty Man Reinstated

NEW YORK (AP) — Teamsters Union Joint Council 16 announced today it had ordered the reinstatement of James Hopkins of Liberty, N.Y., as president and business agent of Teamsters Local 445, headquartered in Yonkers.

The council acted after its executive board held a hearing into charges against Hopkins of conduct unbecoming an officer. He had been ousted on those charges by the executive board of Local 445 last February.

The charges had been brought by Theodore G. Daley, the local's secretary-treasurer. The charges resulted from a letter signed by Daley's brother, Larry, and seven other local members. In it, they accused Hopkins of using "cuss words" at a union meeting last Nov. 13.

Joint Council 16 ordered Hopkins reinstated, effective Thursday, with full back pay. His local serves Orange, Sullivan, Dutchess, Westchester, Rockland, Ulster and Putnam counties.

Republican senators said they plan to call up other amendments after a test of the Ervin proposal.

Mutiny Fizzles Cang Remains

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A mutiny by 20 young naval officers against their commander, Adm. Chung Tan Cang, collapsed today and reliable sources said Cang was back in his command.

Three of the junior officers were reported to have fled on a naval boat to a refuge on the Saigon River. The others were reported to have abandoned the mutiny and given assurances they would follow Cang's orders.

Cang was back in his home in Saigon.

But the ruling Armed Forces Council voted to investigate charges by the young officers that Cang was implicated in graft and corruption.

It was clear that there was much more behind the whole affair than the mutiny. The young officers were backed by certain powerful military elements.

It was out on arrival of firemen.

Paltz Library Depository for U. S. Documents

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick announced today that he has designated the library at the State University College at New Paltz a federal depository for government documents.

This means that the library will receive some 400 to 500 official government documents and publications from the Government Printing Office, for the general use of the public and the college community.

There is one other depository in the 28th District at Vassar College.

Rep. Resnick stated that the decision to name the College Library as the depository was reached on the recommendation of the State Librarian, S. Gilbert Prentiss.

Last November, the Kingston City Library requested that it be designated as the depository. However, the State Librarian vetoed the request on the grounds that the City Library was not adequate to serve the area, and that it proposed to accept only a small number of government items. The New Paltz College Library has said it would keep on file 400 to 500 federal items, and that these would be available for the free use of the general public throughout the area.

The decision was reached also on the relative capabilities of the City Library and the College Library to house and service a large document collection, and upon the extent to which each proposed to make use of the depository privilege.

"It is my understanding," Resnick said, "that specific methods for the cooperative use of the government materials will be developed between the College Library and other area libraries, so that the benefits of this designation will extend to all areas in the region."

Resnick added "It is a pleasure to make this designation for the benefit of the entire area. The college at New Paltz should be commended for being willing to meet this obligation to serve the entire area with its depository facilities and services. This will be a great contribution to the resources of this area."

Kingston Daily Freeman

Dear Sir:

In these times when we hear so much about juvenile delinquency through the media of the press, radio and television, it is most gratifying that our local press and radio devote so much space and air time to promote support of our varied organized youth activities.

Last Sunday the Troop 12 BSA "Indians" held their annual "Preview of Corps Sounds" drum corps concert at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium to a full house. This was due primarily to all of the free publicity given by your newspaper, the Kingston Daily Freeman, and other media in regard to our show. As director, it is my duty and pleasure to thank all of you for the "Indians". I further feel that your unselfish efforts in our behalf should be publicly recognized, hence this open letter.

While I have the opportunity, I would like to thank all those that have given the Troop 12 BSA, "Indians" Drum and Bugle Corps their moral support. I can't stress enough the importance of the backing of our city for our corps, and I can promise that all the members are working hard to keep Kingston proud of them.

With kindest regards and best wishes to you and your wonderful staff.

No Lemass Majority

DUBLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Sean Lemass will have the largest faction in the new Irish Parliament again, but his prospects for a majority are not good.

As counting of ballots in Ireland's complicated proportional representation system continued today, Lemass' Fianna Fail party held 70 of the 158 seats decided. There are 144 members in the Dail, but the speaker — a Laborite — does not vote.

James Dillon's Fine Gael party had won 45 seats. Labor had 20 and independents 3.

Autobahn Is Closed Fifth Day

BERLIN (AP) — The Berlin autobahn was closed again tonight just when Communist pressures on the isolated city appeared to be easing.

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists left the Berlin autobahn open throughout the morning today for the first time since they started closing it on Monday.

No Word on Change

A U.S. military convoy of four vehicles and nine men was cleared for West Berlin without trouble. Civilian traffic moved in both directions.

The Communists offered no explanation for the change in procedure. For the past four days they have closed down the autobahn every morning at 9 a. m. for three or four hours.

There was still a possibility, however, that the Communists would close the autobahn later in the day. A Soviet officer told newsmen Thursday night in Helmsstedt that the daily shut-down would continue until Soviet-East German military maneuvers end on Sunday.

There was a marked slow-down on traffic entering the West German end of the 110-mile superhighway. Trucks were backed up for 7 miles at the Helmsstedt checkpoint and were waiting 27 to 28 hours before going through the Communist controls.

About 100 cars were lined up at Helmsstedt. The waiting period for them was three to four hours.

Confined to Protests

The intermittent blockade of Berlin traffic that began Monday posed a challenge to the United States, Britain and France to take counter measures which could create a new East-West crisis but so far the Western Allies confined themselves to protests.

"The longer the harassment goes on, the more serious the situation created by the harassment will be," a State Department spokesman said in Washington.

The harassment of traffic was generally viewed as an expression of Red displeasure over the meeting of the West German Bundestag in West Berlin insistence that the city is not part of West Germany.

Although the Bundestag meeting was over, the Communists closed the highway twice Thursday. For the first time, the evening closure lasted five hours, the longest stoppage since the blockades began.

A small U.S. convoy of three trucks was held on the autobahn for three hours by the morning blockade Thursday. The United States called this "a clear violation of the Western Allies' unrestricted access rights to Berlin."

Another U.S. military convoy of 22 trucks and 44 soldiers was being processed at Helmsstedt when the autobahn reopened at noon Thursday.

During the evening blockade, 18 Western military vehicles were held up at Helmsstedt and eight Allied cars in Berlin. Again the Allies protested but the vehicles were not allowed to pass through East Germany until the barrier was lifted to all traffic.

A number of radar contacts were made with Red fighters flying through the Berlin air corridors but the Reds did not repeat the massive buzzing of Wednesday. The air corridors are reserved for Western planes flying to and from Berlin.

Soviet sonic booms over West Berlin also decreased.

Awaiting Results On Religious Tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today turned back an amendment to the $1.3-billion school bill to permit suits testing the constitutionality of aid for religious schools.

The amendment, feared by the bill's sponsors as the roughest obstacle in their drive to pass it without change, was defeated 53 to 32.

The vote apparently cleared the way for passage of the top-priority bill later in the day without change, as President Johnson has been urging.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chief sponsor of the amendment, argued that there was serious question whether the aid for private schools in the bill violated the First Amendment to the Constitution.

The House has already passed the bill — March 26 by a vote of 263 to 153 — and the Ervin amendment appeared to be the last major obstacle to enactment. For if no substantial changes are made there will be no need for a conference of House and Senate to resolve differences and the bill can be on President Johnson's desk by dusk.

Ervin argued in presenting his amendment Thursday night that it is practically impossible for an ordinary taxpayer to challenge aid to parochial schools. The courts, he said, have held that an individual has too minimal an interest to sustain a suit.

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., former dean of the Oregon University Law School, appealed for defeat of the Ervin amendment.

For one thing, said Morse, its adoption could endanger the entire program by forcing a conference with the House on the touchy church-state issue.

Besides, Morse and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., argued, cases bearing directly on the question already are on their way to the Supreme Court and so the Ervin amendment is unnecessary.

Before sending the bill to the House floor, the House Education Committee tightened its language to make sure that while parochial schools benefit, all assistance is channeled through public schools.

Teamster Council Orders Liberty Man Reinstated

NEW YORK (AP) — Teamsters Union Joint Council 16 announced today it had ordered the reinstatement of James Hopkins of Liberty, N.Y., as president and business agent of Teamsters Local 445, headquartered in Yorkville.

The council acted after its executive board held a hearing in charges against Hopkins of conduct unbecoming an officer. He had been ousted on those charges by the executive board of Local 445 last February.

The charges had been brought by Theodore G. Daley, the local's secretary-treasurer. The charges resulted from a letter signed by Daley's brother, Larry, and seven other local members. In it, they accused Hopkins of using "cuss words" at a union meeting last Nov. 13.

Joint Council 16 ordered Hopkins reinstated, effective Thursday, with full back pay. His local serves Orange, Sullivan, Dutchess, Westchester, Rockland, Ulster and Putnam counties.

expect to beat the Ervin amendment by a slim margin. Republican senators said they plan to call up other amendments after a test of the Ervin proposal.

Mutiny Fizzles Cang Remains

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A mutiny by 20 young naval officers against their commander, Adm. Chung Tan Cang, collapsed today and reliable sources said Cang was back in his command.

Three of the junior officers were reported to have fled on a naval boat to a refuge on the Saigon River. The others were reported to have abandoned the mutiny and given assurances they would follow Cang's orders.

Cang was back in his home in Saigon. But the ruling Armed Forces Council voted to investigate charges by the young officers that Cang was implicated in graft and corruption.

It was clear that there was much more behind the whole affair than the mutiny. The young officers were backed by certain powerful military elements.

Paltz Library Depository for U. S. Documents

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick announced today that he has designated the library at the State University College at New Paltz a federal depository for government documents.

This means that the library will receive some 400 to 500 official government documents and publications from the Government Printing Office, for the general use of the public and the college community.

There is one other depository in the 28th District at Vassar College.

Rep. Resnick stated that the decision to name the College Library as the depository was reached on the recommendation of the State Librarian, S. Gilbert Prentiss.

Last November, the Kingston City Library requested that it be designated as the depository. However, the State Librarian vetoed the request on the grounds that the City Library was not adequate to serve the area, and that it proposed to accept only a small number of government items. The New Paltz College Library has said it would keep on file 400 to 500 federal items, and that these would be available for the free use of the general public throughout the area.

The decision was reached also on the relative capabilities of the City Library and the College Library to house and service a large document collection, and upon the extent to which each proposed to make use of the depository privilege.

"It is my understanding," Resnick said, "that specific methods for the cooperative use of the government materials will be developed between the College Library and other area libraries, so that the benefits of this designation will extend to all areas in the region."

Resnick added "It is a pleasure to make this designation for the benefit of the entire area. The college at New Paltz should be commended for being willing to meet this obligation to serve the entire area with its depository facilities and services. This will be a great contribution to the resources of this area."

Letters to The Editor

Letters to The Editor must bear the name of the writer and communications must be limited to 200 words, free of libel and personal attacks upon individuals as such. Only original communications addressed to The Freeman will be printed.

Kingston Daily Freeman

Dear Sir: In these times when we hear so much about juvenile delinquency through the media of the press, radio and television, it is most gratifying that our local press and radio devote so much space and air time to promote support of our varied organized youth activities.

Last Sunday the Troop 12 BSA "Indians" held their annual "Preview of Corps Sounds" drum corps concert at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium to a full house. This was due primarily to all of the free publicity given by your newspaper, the Kingston Daily Freeman, and other media in regard to our show. As director, it is my duty and pleasure to thank all of you for the "Indians." I further feel that your unselfish efforts in our behalf should be publicly recognized, hence this open letter.

While I have the opportunity, I would like to thank all those that have given the Troop 12 BSA "Indians" Drum and Bugle Corps their moral support. I can't stress enough the importance of the backing of our city for our corps, and I can promise that all the members are working hard to keep Kingston proud of them.

With kindest regards and best wishes to you and your wonderful staff,

Ralph Shapiro
Director

No Lemass Majority

DUBLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Sean Lemass will have the biggest faction in the new Irish Parliament again, but his prospects for a majority are not good.

As counting of ballots in Ireland's complicated proportional representation system continued today, Lemass' Fianna Fail party held 70 of the 138 seats decided. There are 144 members in the Dail, but the speaker — a Laborite — does not vote.

James Dillon's Fine Gael party had won 45 seats, Labor had 20 and independents 3.

Autobahn Is Closed Fifth Day

BERLIN (AP) — The Berlin autobahn was closed again tonight just when Communist pressures on the isolated city appeared to be easing.

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists left the Berlin autobahn open throughout the morning today for the first time since they started closing it on Monday.

No Word on Change
A U.S. military convoy of four vehicles and nine men was cleared for West Berlin without trouble. Civilian traffic moved in both directions.

The Communists offered no explanation for the change in procedure. For the past four days they have closed down the autobahn every morning at 9 a. m. for three or four hours.

There was still a possibility, however, that the Communists would close the autobahn later in the day. A Soviet officer told newsmen Thursday night in Helmsstedt that the daily shut-downs would continue until Soviet-East German military maneuvers end on Sunday.

There was a marked slowdown on traffic entering the West German end of the 110-mile superhighway. Trucks were backed up for 7 miles at the Helmsstedt checkpoint and were waiting 27 to 28 hours before going through the Communist controls.

About 100 cars were lined up at Helmsstedt. The waiting period for them was three to four hours.

Confined to Protests

The intermittent blockade of Berlin traffic that began Monday posed a challenge to the United States, Britain and France to take counter measures which could create a new East-West crisis but so far the Western Allies confined themselves to protests.

"The longer the harassment goes on, the more serious the situation created by the harassment will be," a State Department spokesman said in Washington.

The harassment of traffic was generally viewed as an expression of Red displeasure over the meeting of the West German Bundestag in West Berlin insistence that the city is not part of West Germany.

Although the Bundestag meeting was over, the Communists closed the highway twice Thursday. For the first time, the evening closure lasted five hours, the longest stoppage since the blockades began.

A small U.S. military convoy of three trucks was held on the autobahn for three hours by the morning blockade Thursday. The United States called this "a clear violation of the Western Allies' unrestricted access rights to Berlin."

Another U.S. military convoy of 22 trucks and 44 soldiers was being processed at Helmsstedt when the autobahn reopened at noon Thursday.

During the evening blockade, 18 Western military vehicles were held up at Helmsstedt and eight Allied cars in Berlin. Again the Allies protested but the vehicles were not allowed to pass through East Germany until the barrier was lifted to all traffic.

A number of radar contacts were made with Red fighters flying through the Berlin air corridors but the Reds did not repeat the massive buzzing of Wednesday. The air corridors are reserved for Western planes flying to and from Berlin.

Soviet sonic booms over West Berlin also decreased.

Rocky Calls Leaders to Speed Stalled Budget and Tax Plans

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller called legislative leaders of both parties into conference today in a new effort to speed action on his stalled budget and tax program.

The governor has become "increasingly concerned about the lack of action on the budget," a spokesman said in announcing Rockefeller's plans.

The governor's concern springs from a major state payroll due on Wednesday and a $550-million school-aid payment due on Thursday.

The $3.4-billion state budget for the fiscal year that began April 1 has not been acted upon because of a legislative dispute over a statewide sales tax Rockefeller proposed to help balance it.

The Senate agreed Thursday to further amendments to help soften the impact of the proposed tax but the Legislature adjourned to Monday without further action.

Backers of the sales tax were encouraged when the Senate approved the softening amendments Thursday. Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki told newsmen that the tax had been made much more palatable by the changes.

But Senate Minority Leader Earl Brydges commented in a separate news conference that "there is still a serious possibility it may die."

The state already has missed one payday. Instead of their usual checks, more than 50,000 employees in state institutions were given vouchers enabling them to obtain bank loans in the amount of their usual, take-home pay.

Checks for the balance of the state's 120,000 employees—including the governor and legislators—were scheduled to go out on Wednesday.

The sales-tax plan calls for a 2 per cent statewide levy on purchases and a wide range of services. Democrats cut it back by eliminating the proposed tax on laundry, dry cleaning, clothing and shoe repairs, barber and beauty shop services and parking charges.

The majority members accepted Thursday Republican amendments to exempt charges on bowling and ice skating, farm machinery and fuel purchased by industry.

The combined amendments would cut about $25 million off the $330 million anticipated from the tax this year.

The amendments were supported by 21 Democrats and 20

Republicans. Brydges said that the GOP support did not signal approval of the final bill. He said Republicans might offer further amendments.

Here are further details:

Because he cannot command the necessary majority of 30 votes from his own party, it is unlikely that Zaretzki will force a showdown until he is assured of enough Republican support to guarantee approval.

Enough Senate Republicans to make a majority are said to be willing to vote for the tax but GOP assemblymen, with a few exceptions, have remained strongly opposed to the tax plan.

The Democratic division is between New York City legislators and those from more conservative, Upstate areas. The anti-sales tax Upstate Republicans have said they will not vote for higher taxes while Democrats are opposing them. In addition to approving amendments to the sales-tax bill the Senate also voted to meet demands of New York City to eliminate provisions that would have affected its local sales tax.

Must Verify Departure

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma says he will call a halt to American military aid when the International Control Commission has verified the departure of all North Vietnamese troops from Laos.

The premier made the statement in an interview with a correspondent of the Japanese paper Asahi Shimbun.

matter of fact

On Dec. 23, 1777, Gen. George Washington wrote in his diary at Valley Forge, about 20 miles northwest of Philadelphia: "We have this day no less than 2,873 men in camp unfit for duty because they are barefooted and otherwise naked." Numbers are still obliged to sit all night by fires. The troops, which numbered about 11,000, spent the winter in log huts and received little in the way of food and clothing. Later, the winter encampment became the first training camp of any United States forces.

Rocky Calls Leaders to Speed Stalled Budget and Tax Plans

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller called legislative leaders of both parties into conference today in a new effort to speed action on his stalled budget and tax program.

The governor has become "increasingly concerned about the lack of action on the budget," a spokesman said in announcing Rockefeller's plans.

The governor's concern springs from a major state payroll due on Wednesday and a $550-million school-aid payment due on Thursday.

The $3.4-billion state budget for the fiscal year that began April 1 has not been acted upon because of a legislative dispute over a statewide sales tax Rockefeller proposed to help balance it.

The Senate agreed Thursday to further amendments to help soften the impact of the proposed tax but the Legislature adjourned to Monday without further action.

Backers of the sales tax were encouraged when the Senate approved the softening amendments Thursday. Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki told newsmen that the tax had been made much more palatable by the changes.

But Senate Minority Leader Earl Brydges commented in a separate news conference that "there is still a serious possibility it may die."

The state already has missed one payday. Instead of their usual checks, more than 50,000 employees in state institutions were given vouchers enabling them to obtain bank loans in the amount of their usual, take-home pay.

Checks for the balance of the state's 120,000 employees—including the governor and legislators—are scheduled to go out on Wednesday.

The sales-tax plan calls for a 2 per cent statewide levy on purchases and a wide range of services. Democrats cut it back by eliminating the proposed tax on laundry, dry cleaning, clothing and shoe repairs, barber and beauty shop services and parking charges.

The majority members accepted Thursday Republican amendments to exempt charges on bowling and ice skating, farm machinery and fuel purchased by industry.

The combined amendments would cut about $25 million off the $330 million anticipated from the tax this year.

The amendments were supported by 21 Democrats and 20

Republicans. Brydges said that the GOP support did not signal approval of the final bill. He said Republicans might offer further amendments.

Here are further details: Because he cannot command the necessary majority of 30 votes from his own party, it is unlikely that Zaretzki will force a showdown until he is assured of enough Republican support to guarantee approval.

Enough Senate Republicans to make a majority are said to be willing to vote for the tax but GOP assemblymen, with a few exceptions, have remained strongly opposed to the tax plan.

The Democratic division is between New York City legislators and those from more conservative, Upstate areas. The anti-sales tax Upstate Republicans have said they will not vote for higher taxes while Democrats are opposing them. In addition to approving amendments to the sales-tax bill the Senate also voted to meet demands of New York City to eliminate provisions that would have affected its local sales tax.

Editor, The Freeman

I am writing you because of my deep concern for the future of Ulster County. This historic county has much beauty, but this beauty is endangered by the very people who love it—its residents.

It's about time that some strict and intelligent zoning be placed in effect before the spreading cancer of eyesores get out of hand. These include the junked cars you can see from every road, the abandoned shacks, unsafe structures and the billboards that mar our beautiful landscape.

This blight keeps away business, new settlers and visitors. If after cleaning up their own backyards, each responsible citizen demanded legislation along these lines, the benefits reaped would be untold—improved property values, healthier local economy, lower taxes, etc.

It's up to every township to initiate a strong zoning proposal to the Town Board, backed by strong support.

Perhaps this is even more appropriate being it's Chamber of Commerce Week.

As a subscriber to The Freeman, I am well aware of your articles opposing littering, abandoned autos, etc. It is most gratifying to feel someone's sympathy to this worthwhile movement.

Yours truly

Income Tax Law Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by The Freeman as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—There are no rates to figure declarations of estimated tax in the Form 1040 instructions this year. What should I do?

A—You may obtain a copy of the rate schedule for 1965 at any local Internal Revenue office. Ask for Publication No. 465.

Q—How much am I entitled to deduct for gasoline taxes?

A—Only the state and local taxes on gasoline are deductible, the federal taxes aren't. The state tax on gasoline is cents per gallon.

Q—Will the standard deduction be better for me this year than itemizing my expenses?

A—Whether it will be best for you to itemize or to use the standard deduction depends on your own tax circumstances. If the total of your deductible expenses is larger than the standard deduction then it will pay to itemize. But if what you are permitted to take as a standard deduction is higher than your deductible expenses it would certainly not be to your advantage to itemize.

Q—Where can I get a copy of the booklet you just issued covering special tax provisions for the elderly?

A—Any Internal Revenue office has free copies of Document No. 5569 available. It summarizes the special tax provisions that apply to taxpayers 65 and over.

Q—I've heard that if you made a mistake when filing a return, it can be corrected by filing an amended return. I left out some income I should have included. What should I do?

A—To correct a mistake of this sort, take another return and write plainly "amended" at the top. Then completely fill out the return with all the information it calls for, and file it as soon as possible.

Q—I am single and think I qualify for the retirement income credit. Is there any easy way to figure what it comes to?

A—The steps to follow in calculating this credit are given on Page 2 of Schedule B. This form must be filed with your form 1040 to claim the credit.

This year the credit is equal to either 17 per cent of your retirement income or 17 per cent of $1,524 whichever is lower. The $1,524 figure might have to be reduced by percentages of your earned income last year when that income exceeds certain limits, social security and certain nontaxable pensions and annuities. See Part V of the instructions for Schedule B.

Q—I still haven't received my W-2 form from one of the companies I worked for last year. What should I do?

A—Call or write your employer to find out what happened to it. It might have been mislaid or lost in the mail. If so, request a duplicate W-2. But in any event, file your return by April 15, using estimated figures if necessary.

No ALCOA Goals Set

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union will open contract talks with the aluminum industry April 29 in New York City.

The union can strike June 1. Talks will be held separately with the five leading producers—Aluminum Co. of America, Kaiser Aluminum, Reynolds Metals, Ormet, Inc., and Olin Mathieson.

The union did not disclose its exact goals in its announcement Thursday. But it is expected to seek total job security and a big wage package for its 28,000 members in aluminum.

consistory and congregation of the church. The tree, a six-foot Norway spruce, was planted on the west side of the church adjacent to Route 209. Cub participants are (l-r) front, Stacy Noyes and Kenneth Friedman, second row, Scott Currie, David Wright, Dennis Larios, Dana Stingle, and Randy Goble; Lances DeTroyer also participated. Yankee Trader Rows Gift Barn Home on Raft MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP)—Yankee trader Lincoln Hawkes finally got the benefit of his bargain when he and a friend rowed across Redd Pond towing a 20-ton red barn.

Hawkes talked his neighbor across the pond, John Libbey, into giving him the barn which Libbey was more than happy to do. Libbey said he needed a new barn anyway but he attached one condition to the gift—that Hawkes move the barn. Hawkes' first plan looked simple enough.

He waited for winter and planned to slide the two-and-a-half-story structure home.

"We pushed the darned thing onto the ice in February, heard a loud crunch, saw a gush of water and thought better of the idea." So, the barn went back to Libbey's side of the pond.

Now Hawkes has a reputation

among the residents of this old nautical town of doing just what he sets out to do. But when they heard his second plan, many thought this time he had miscalculated.

He built a raft on which to float the barn to his property. This was frustrating, he said, because "we had to build a raft that could have been used to float the darned thing all the way down the Mississippi River."

He said more than 100 oil drums were used, enough to float 30 tons. But "31 tons and we're in trouble."

His neighbors were skeptical and when one questioned him about the barn's sinking he replied: "If that happens, the town will have a big red island with a roof on it in the middle of the pond."

Thursday Hawkes' theory and his bargain were put to the test. With former sea captain Gerald Smith and Hawkes at the oars of a dory, and Capt. Roger Smith manning the tow rope, the 100-year-old barn went across the pond to its new home.

There Hawkes now plans to convert it to a cider mill.

Senate Approves Boost in Compensation Pay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Democratic legislators, over solid Republican opposition, have pushed through the Senate and into the Assembly a bill to increase workmen's compensation, disability and unemployment benefits by $10 a week.

GOP Senators contended the increases would cost state employers $81 million a year and "would do tremendous damage to jobs and job opportunities."

In approving the measure Thursday, Democrats rejected Republican amendments that would have cut the increases in half.

As sent to the Assembly, where approval also is expected, the legislation would increase workmen's compensation from $55 to $65 a week and disability benefits and unemployment insurance from $50 to $60 a week.

The Legislature also took these steps:

—The Assembly approved a bill to require all school bus drivers to complete a course in first aid.

—Over the opposition of Upstate Republicans, the Assembly passed a bill to ban the use of gas space heaters in houses unless the devices have safety equipment designed to prevent explosions. The measure was sent to the Senate.

—The Assembly also gave final legislative approval to a bill that would allow cities to apply for new taxing powers after the third Tuesday in February with no penalties. Under present law, if a city applies after that deadline it may not impose the new tax for 15 months after approval.

In debate over the increases in workmen's benefits, Sen.

Thomas La Verne, R-Rochester, asserted that Democrats were "out to make an AFL-CIO record" with "promises, phony ones at best, that would do more harm than good."

The State AFL-CIO had endorsed the bills.

Murrow Out of Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward R. Murrow, 56, the former news broadcaster and ex-head of the U.S. Information Agency, has been discharged from New York Hospital.

Murrow had a cancerous lung removed in October 1963. He entered the hospital for a general checkup March 3. He was discharged Wednesday night.

Check Grass Fires

Marlboro and Highland fire companies were called out late Thursday to extinguish grass and brush fires. Marlboro reported three fires, one which occurred on Lattintown Road and another on Ridge Road. The latter fire gave firemen a hard fight for about two hours, it was reported.

Senator Doing Well

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Sen. Olin D. Johnson, D-S.C., was reported in good condition today after a four-hour operation to remove an arterial blister. He should be able to leave the hospital in two or three weeks.

A surgeon said after Thursday's operation that the senator, 68, could return to Washington in six weeks if he progresses as anticipated.

A tumor was removed from his lower colon on Jan. 19.

Falls Man Killed

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Ross A. Hogue, 50, of Niagara Falls, was killed Thursday night when his automobile struck a light pole along the Robert Moses Parkway.

one condition to the gift — that Hawkes move the barn.

Hawkes' first plan looked simple enough.

He waited for winter and planned to slide the two-and-a-half-story structure home.

"We pushed the darned thing onto the ice in February, heard a loud crunch, saw a gush of water and thought better of the idea." So, the barn went back to Libbey's side of the pond.

Now Hawkes has a reputation

among the residents of this old nautical town of doing just what he sets out to do. But when they heard his second plan, many thought this time he had miscalculated.

He built a raft on which to float the barn to his property.

This was frustrating, he said, because "we had to build a raft that could have been used to float the darned thing all the way down the Mississippi River."

He said more than 100 oil drums were used, enough to float 30 tons. But "31 tons and we're in trouble."

His neighbors were skeptical and when one questioned him about the barn's sinking he replied: "If that happens, the town will have a big red island with a roof on it in the middle of the pond."

Thursday Hawkes' theory and his bargain were put to the test. With former sea captain Gerald Smith and Hawkes at the oars of a dory, and Capt. Roger Smith manning the tow rope, the 100-year-old barn went across the pond to its new home.

There Hawkes now plans to convert it to a cider mill.

Senate Approves Boost in Compensation Pay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Democratic legislators, over solid Republican opposition, have pushed through the Senate and into the Assembly a bill to increase workmen's compensation, disability and unemployment benefits by $10 a week.

GOP Senators contended the increases would cost state employers $81 million a year and "would do tremendous damage to jobs and job opportunities."

In approving the measure Thursday, Democrats rejected Republican amendments that would have cut the increases in half.

As sent to the Assembly, where approval also is expected, the legislation would increase workmen's compensation from $55 to $65 a week and disability benefits and unemployment insurance from $50 to $60 a week.

The Legislature also took these steps: — The Assembly approved a bill to require all school bus drivers to complete a course in first aid.

— Over the opposition of Up-state Republicans, the Assembly passed a bill to ban the use of gas space heaters in houses unless the devices have safety equipment designed to prevent explosions. The measure was sent to the Senate.

— The Assembly also gave final legislative approval to a bill that would allow cities to apply for new taxing powers after the third Tuesday in February with no penalties. Under present law, if a city applies after that deadline it may not impose the new tax for 15 months after approval.

In debate over the increases in workmen's benefits, Sen.

Thomas La Verne, R-Rochester asserted that Democrats were "out to make an AFL-CIO record" with "promises, phony ones at best, that would do more harm than good."

The State AFL-CIO had endorsed the bills.

Murrow Out of Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward R. Murrow, 56, the former news broadcaster and ex-head of the U.S. Information Agency has been discharged from New York Hospital.

Murrow had a cancerous lung removed in October 1963. He entered the hospital for a general checkup March 3. He was discharged Wednesday night.

Check Grass Fires

Marlboro and Highland fire companies were called out late Thursday to extinguish grass and brush fires. Marlboro reported three fires, one which occurred on Latintown Road and another on Ridge Road. The latter fire gave firemen a hard fight for about two hours, it was reported.

Senator Doing Well

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Sen. Olin D. Johnson, D-S.C., was reported in good condition today after a four-hour operation to remove an arterial blister. He should be able to leave the hospital in two or three weeks.

A surgeon said after Thursday's operation that the senator, 68, could return to Washington in six weeks if he progresses as anticipated.

A tumor was removed from his lower colon on Jan. 19.

No Trace Found Of Ex-Cop, Auto After Jail Bolt

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP)—Police across the state sought signs today of a former policeman who ran away from the Herkimer County Jail, where he was held on a robbery charge.

State Police said there was not a trace of James E. Thorman, 31, or the 1958 automobile that was reported stolen soon after Thorman fled.

Thorman was a Niagara Falls policeman who was arrested Feb. 20 for the $981 robbery of an Elton loan office on Feb. 18.

Roadblocks were set up soon after his escape, troopers said, but the checkpoints were taken down Thursday night when there was no sign of the stolen black and red vehicle.

The search spread across the state to Niagara Falls where police checked places that Thorman had frequented. Police there also alerted his wife, from whom he is separated.

Thorman was clad in a blue-denim prison shirt and trousers when he escaped. A deputy, who was taking Thorman from a cell to an office for questioning when Thorman bolted out a door, gave chase but lost sight of him.

Body Recovered

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Skindivers have recovered the body of a young woman who rode to her death Thursday when her automobile plunged into the Welland Canal three miles east of here.

The woman was identified as Miss Susan Edwards, 18, of Fort Erie.

Spike Jones Goes Home

Dog Is Critical, Bitten by Man

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—A mongrel dog was in critical condition today after being bitten by a man.

Police gave this account:

Haruichi Nishimura, 35, a newspaper vendor, was passing a yard after a few drinks when the dog barked at him.

Nishimura opened the gate, caught the dog and bit it. The dog bit back.

Nishimura bit the dog again—and continued biting it.

The dog's owner, hearing the animal's howls, called police.

Police reported the dog was bitten on its legs and back. The man was bitten on his face and ears.

Officials said that although the dog got the worst of the fight, they were keeping it under watch for any signs of rabies.

No Trace Found Of Ex-Cop, Auto After Jail Bolt

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP)—Police across the state sought signs today of a former policeman who ran away from the Herkimer County Jail, where he was held on a robbery charge.

State Police said there was not a trace of James E. Thorman, 31, or the 1958 automobile that was reported stolen soon after Thorman fled.

Thorman was a Niagara Falls policeman when arrested Feb. 20 for the 1961 robbery of an alien loan office on Feb. 18. Roadblocks were set up soon after his escape, troopers said, but the checkpoints were taken down, Thursday night when there was no sign of the stolen black and red vehicle.

The search spread across the state to Niagara Falls where police checked places that Thorman had frequented. Police there also alerted his wife, from whom he is separated.

Thorman was clad in a blue denim prison shirt and trousers when he escaped. A deputy, who was taking Thorman from a cell to an office for questioning when Thorman bolted out a door, gave chase but lost sight of him.

Body Recovered

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Skindivers have recovered the body of a young woman who rode to her death Thursday when her automobile plunged into the Welland Canal three miles east of here.

The woman was identified as Miss Susan Edwards, 18, of Fort Erie.

Dog Is Critical, Bitten by Man

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — A mongrel dog was in critical condition today after being bitten by a man.

Police gave this account: Haruichi Nishimura, 35, a newspaper vendor, was passing a yard after a few drinks when the dog barked at him.

Nishimura opened the gate, caught the dog and bit it. The dog bit back.

Nishimura bit the dog again — and continued biting it. The dog's owner, hearing the animal's howls, called police.

Police reported the dog was bitten on its legs and back. The man was bitten on his face and ears.

Officials said that although the dog got the worst of the fight, they were keeping it under watch for any signs of rabies.

Rainfall Must Be Above Average

Water Officials See State Facing Drier Year Than '64

New York State, in the opinion of those who have an eye on water supply, could be drier this year than in 1964.

This, Edmund T. Cloonan, Kingston's water department superintendent, today said was a consensus of water works officials at a recent meeting in Buffalo of the New York State Section of the American Water Works Association.

Cloonan was a moderator at the Roundtable Conference at the session.

Armand D'Angelo, head of New York City's Department of Water Supply Gas & Electricity, who inspected this area's New York reservoir system late last month, also foresaw a low summer reserve unless rainfall, at some point in the weeks ahead, is far above average.

Kingston Fortunate

Cooper Lake, Kingston's main reservoir, Cloonan noted today is only some 10 inches below spillway level, but conditions, as he heard them at Buffalo, are nowhere near as favorable in most areas of the state, with the exception of Rochester and Buffalo, which draw water from the Great Lakes.

The Great Lakes too, it was noted last year, have been losing water to the extent of hampering the docking of ships in major ports, and there is no immediate prospects there of a gain in depth.

Lowest in Years

It was noted at the Buffalo meeting, Cloonan said, that the upper Hudson River in the Glens Falls area has been the lowest in many years.

This condition is having its effect on down-river communities, which draw water from the Hudson. It has become generally more backish and impotable because of the lack of fresh water flow from upriver watersheds.

Among communities, which experienced 1964 water supply emergencies were Cobleskill, Coxsackie, Catskill, Saratoga and Glens Falls.

Rains Build Supply

Kingston, Saugerties and other area communities imposed restrictions on water use during part of last year. Cooper Lake's reserve had been depleted by November to 18½ feet below spillway level, and Kingston prepared to draw water from its smaller reservoirs at Zena, Fall and winter rains, however, contributed substantially to building where it is today.

Weather outlook for the months ahead has not been promising, and if last year's conditions return, many communities will face water supply emergencies.

Arraignment Put Off for Former Patient Upstate

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—An arraignment in the slaying of a 58-year-old widow has been delayed because the suspect, a former patient in a school for the mentally retarded, apparently did not understand his legal rights.

A justice of the peace Thursday postponed until today the arraignment of Timothy Morgan, 19, for first-degree murder in the robbery-slaying of his employer, Mrs. Ada Francisco, in her dairy - farm home here Wednesday.

Justice Francis McNutt took the action at the request of Dist. Atty. H. Andrew Schlusberg when Morgan, at an arraignment Thursday, first said he did not want a lawyer and then said he could not understand an explanation of his rights.

Morgan, a former patient at the Rome State School for the Mentally Retarded, was held in the Fulton County jail without bail.

State police said the youth took about $15 when he fled the home in Mrs. Francisco's car. He was apprehended about 90 miles northeast of here, near Elizabethtown, when involved in a two-car collision on Route 9. Morgan suffered minor injuries in the crash and was held in the Elizabethtown Community Hospital Wednesday night.

The set will be used in the reference section of the new Clinton Community Library Reading Center, Dutchess County, which is affiliated with Mid-Hudson Libraries, the public library system with 50 members in Dutchess, Ulster, Putnam, Columbia and Greene Counties.

Karpel thanked Lindsey for his generous loan, and for his understanding of the needs of the public libraries. He said that the World Book Encyclopedia will be an extremely valuable reference tool in the Library Reading Center.

Law Is Approved Regulating Preparation of County Budget

By unanimous vote the board of supervisors Thursday night voted adoption of Local Law No. 2, 1965, which prescribes regulations for preparation, consideration and adoption of a county budget.

Under the new law the board must meet no later than December 5 for final consideration and approval of a budget. The law provides that the budget officer shall file with the clerk of the board of supervisors a tentative budget no later than November 1 and for review of that budget by the board no later than November 20 with a public hearing on November 30.

The law also provides for penalties in the event these dates are not met by the budget officer.

A resolution offered by Supervisor Gerard Prosser (D), Ninth Ward, and Irving Bell (D), Sixth Ward calling for issuance of a capital note in the sum of $24,000 for installation of a fire control and sprinkler system in the Ulster County Tuberculosis sanitarium at Golden Hill, was referred to the Building Committee.

Office For State

With one vote against lease of quarters in the new County Office Building to the state, the board voted to lease 400 square feet on the sixth floor of the building for use of Bernhardt S. Kramer, who is serving as fiscal consultant for the MidHudson Valley in the State Office of Economic Opportunity.

The state sought to lease the office for a five-year term at a rental of $1,200 annually.

Supervisor John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, inquired as to the cost of alterations. It was stated that the cost would not exceed $1,200 and the lease could be terminated by either party with 180 days notice. Supervisor Prosser voted in opposition. The resolution was offered by Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley.

On motion of Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, on behalf of the committee on buildings, a bid of $732 submitted by Seeley Construction Company of Catskill for demolishing the old barn on the former Health Department property on Main Street was accepted. Other bids were A. J. Scarselli Contractor, Saugerties, $990, and Irving Rudolph of Albany Avenue Extension, Kingston, $945.

Survey Turned Down

A resolution offered by Supervisor Douglas Dye, (R) Town of Kingston, to authorize the board to enter into a contract with the Citizens Survey, Committee of Ulster County, and make available $5,000 toward the cost of a health, welfare, recreation and character building agency and services survey in the county, both public and private, was defeated by a vote of 21 to 10. One half of the money would be allocated in 1965 and the other half in 1966.

A contract for construction of the county Fish Creek bridge in the town of Saugerties was awarded to James Berardi, Inc., of 40 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston, for $68,800.38, the low bid. Supervisor Robert E. Pinney (R), 11th ward, on behalf of the Bridge Committee, also offered a resolution authorizing advertisement for bids for construction of the Center Street Bridge over Sandburg Creek, Ellenville. The plans were approved by the board and a report will be received at the next meeting of the board. Unanimously adopted.

A resolution offered by Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, requested Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, to support legislation which will give the board of supervisors the power to reappoint the board instead of giving that power to any other body. The amendment to the law provides that the local county board of supervisors shall have the power to reappoint such board in relation to its membership, voting power etc.

A motion to refer to the Legislative Committee offered by Supervisor John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, was defeated by a 16 to 15 vote and on the motion to adopt Savago's resolution the vote was unanimous.

A resolution of Supervisor Savago to support the proposed "Pure Water Program" and State bond issue so that the burden and blight of water pollution will be lifted and clean water will be available to all people of the state, was adopted unanimously. The program proposes a $1 billion bond issue to help finance a 60 per cent grant to municipalities for sewage work.

Creation of a Soil and Water Conservation District in Ulster County was approved unanimously. The program would be administered by five directors appointed by the board. Two members would be from the board, one from the Grange, one from the Farm Bureau and one appointed at-large. The resolution was offered by Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley and Arnold Banker (D), Hardenbergh.

The County Planning Board was authorized by resolution to seek a state grant to finance the cost of comprehensive study and report in relation to planning for intermunicipal public water supply for the county. The State Health Department will provide 100 per cent assistance.

A conference between the Salary Study Committee and representatives of the Ulster County Civil Service Employees Association was requested by George Majestic (D), Gardiner. He requested the county treasurer to supply the Salary Study Committee with a list of county employees. He charged the board with the minimum annual starting salaries of all county employees reflect a $1.50 minimum hourly rate of pay.

The board adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Justice of the Peace Vincent J. Porcelli of the Town of Plattkill. Supervisor Joseph Martorana moved for the adjournment.

Cardinal Meyer Dies, Had Cancer Surgery Feb. 25

CHICAGO (AP)—Albert Cardinal Meyer, 62, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, died today. He had undergone cancer surgery Feb. 25.

The prelate, head of the largest Catholic community in the United States, began sinking last week after showing some signs of improvement from the operation in which a malignant tumor the size of a large walnut was removed from his brain.

Earlier he had been taken off intravenous feeding and fed by tube. For a day or two he was unable to take soft nourishment normally.

But drowsiness that physicians described as semi-slumber forced them to resume tube feeding and then intravenous.

Early today the cardinal was reported in a heavy sleep and unresponsive to stimuli.

Since the four-hour surgery by a 10-member team in Mercy Hospital, Cardinal Meyer has shown only minimal responses to efforts to communicate with him.

His death removes from the hierarchy of his church one of the leading liberal members of the Council of Bishops.

He was singularly responsible for crystallizing the issue of religious freedom in 1964 during a meeting of the Ecumenical Council in Rome at which the Catholic Church attitude on other religions was reviewed.

He challenged a decision by the presidents to postpone a vote, and the American bishops present joined him, followed by scores of others. The vote was postponed, by a technical ruling, but the liberals had made their views clear.

Cardinal Meyer, then an archbishop, became the spiritual leader of nearly two million Catholics in the Chicago area on Nov. 16, 1958.

Woman Driver Fined $25 for No License

A driver was booked on two charges after a two-car mishap at Broadway and Cornell Street Thursday night.

Priscilla Neher, 21, of 190-05 Hillside Avenue, Hollis, L. I., was charged with operating a motor vehicle as an unsupervised learner and without a license.

The other car was driven by Donald N. Breitenstein, 20, of 61 Grant Street, Officers Joseph Feraca and Robert Sember investigated the mishap reported at 7:50 p. m.

The woman was fined $25 on the license charge in city court this morning and the other charge was dismissed.

A committee report recommended that the Mental Health Department, which had requested additional space, remain in its present quarters. This brought forth criticism from Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, a member of the Mental Health Board. He pointed out the need for additional space.

Three resolutions by Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Plattkill were approved by a 16 to 15 vote. One recommended full reimbursement by the state of maintenance costs of highways abandoned to towns for a three year period; one calls for the county fire coordinator to be an ex-officio member of the County Planning Board, and one implores the Governor to take immediate steps to prevent a "payless" payday to state employees because of failure to adopt a budget.

Resolutions of Supervisor Martorana unanimously approved were, one relative to taxation of state park lands and one seeking to make the minimum annual starting salaries of all county employees reflect a $1.50 minimum hourly rate of pay.

The board adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Justice of the Peace Vincent J. Porcelli of the Town of Plattkill. Supervisor Joseph Martorana moved for the adjournment.

Scheinman is a former president of the Sullivan County Bar Association.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market resumed its rally in heavy trading early this afternoon.

Many key stocks made moderate gains. A few advanced a point or more.

The market was taking off from Thursday's sharp spurt. Analysts said sentiment was helped considerably by the fact that this is the last day to sell stocks "regular way"—four-day delivery—to use the cash for paying income taxes due April 15.

The tone was generally higher among steels, rails, motors, airlines, electrical equipments, aerospace issues, chemicals, nonferrous metals and utilities. Cigarette stocks tended to ease and electronics were mixed. Many leading issues were unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average re-emerged above the "magic" 900 level. It has not closed above that figure for more than two weeks.

At noon the Dow industrials were up 3.64 at 901.54. On average, the market advance was a solid one, but not quite up to Thursday's. Volume-wise, it was the heaviest of the week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.3 at 336.6 with industrials up 1.7, rails up 1.0 and utilities up 1.6. Many big blocks were traded in leading issues, and most of these were at steady to somewhat higher prices.

A 2-point jump by Union Carbide boosted the averages, also helped by Chrysler's 1-point rise.

IBM ran up 7 points but most other higher-prices issues made fractional gains.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds edged lower.

Health-SS Bill

side is a round of hearings before the Finance Committee. The chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said it will not be able to take up the measure until after the Easter recess, scheduled for April 15-21.

Preliminary plans, Byrd said, are for the committee to have two or three days' general briefing sessions with officials of the departments concerned immediately after the recess and begin public hearings probably the following week.

Senate Ready

A committee member, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the bill will pass the bill with few changes and by at least a 3-1 margin. Gore, a long-time advocate of such legislation, said the bill the House passed Thursday was a surprisingly good one.

The major elements of the 297-page bill include:

A hospital plan for all those 65 and older, with the patient paying the first $40.

An optional insurance plan to cover doctor bills and some other medical expenses. This would cost $3 a month, with the government matching the sum, and cover 80 per cent of expenses after the first $50 in any year.

The existing system of state-federal medical aid for the near-indigent would be enlarged.

A general 7 per cent increase in Social Security old-age payments with other liberalizing changes in the system.

An extra $69.90 to be withheld next year from workers making at least $5,600 yearly.

The American Medical Association renewed its opposition to the bill, calling on the Senate to hold public hearings. An AMA statement said that because the House held no such hearings on the final version of the bill Americans were "denied the opportunity" to learn "just how this legislation would affect their lives."

The AMA renewed its advocacy of a state-administered system and its opposition to its payroll tax-financed hospitalization, saying, "We are opposed to centralizing control over hospitals and doctors under a federal bureaucracy."

The payroll tax increase to finance the hospital plan and the increased old-age benefits would amount to $69.90 next year on workers earning at least $5,600, and their employers. Other increases would come later.

It was learned today that a group plans to circulate petitions throughout the Kingston Consolidated School District to obtain signatures of residents in support of the candidacies of Withall and a second candidate to be announced soon.

Streifer served four years as chairman of the Nonpartisan Nominating Committee.

Withall is completing his first five-year term as a member of the Kingston Board of Education. He previously served 12 1/2 years as a member of the school board of the Common School District 7, Rifton, and is a member of the original County Board of Cooperative Educational Service, having served for five years.

but he said the college trustees served many hours, received no pay and were doing a good job and they should not be subject to "whipping boy" tactics, such as Thayer had used.

The resignation of Richard J. Whalen, manager of the local IBM plant, who has recently been named manager of a new plant for IBM at Boulder, Colorado, was received.

Whalen was named by the Board of Supervisors as one of the trustees and had served throughout the early planning stages of the college. The resignation was accepted with regret.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Whalen said he had been honored when the Board of Supervisors selected him several years ago as a member of the board and stated he had enjoyed his association with the College Board of Trustees, Dr. Lake and his staff and the members of the Board of Supervisors "who have all worked very hard to establish this Community College."

In conclusion Whalen said "although I regret not being able to finish my term and to see the college fully established on its permanent site, I do feel that the entire program is moving forward at this time and that Ulster County will be very proud of their college."

The Stamptraders Club is open to all youngsters in elementary school interested in the hobby of stamp collecting. There are at least two adults present at each meeting for guidance. This group is running on practically no budget at all and any accumulations of stamps donated to the club (C/O YWCA) will be greatly appreciated by the youngsters.

Law Is Approved Regulating Preparation of County Budget

By unanimous vote the board of supervisors Thursday night voted adoption of Local Law No. 2, 1965, which prescribes regulations for preparation, consideration and adoption of a county budget.

Under the new law the board must meet no later than December 5 for final consideration and approval of a budget. The law provides that the budget officer shall file with the clerk of the board of supervisors a tentative budget no later than November 1 and for review of that budget by the board no later than November 20 with a public hearing on November 30.

The law also provides for penalties in the event these dates are not met by the budget officer.

A resolution offered by Supervisor Gerard Prosser (D), Ninth Ward, and Irving Bell (D), Sixth Ward calling for issuance of a capital note in the sum of $24,000 for installation of a fire control and sprinkler system in the Ulster County Tuberculosis sanitarium at Golden Hill, was referred to the Building Committee.

Office For State

With one vote against lease of the new County Office Building to the state, the board voted to lease 400 square feet on the sixth floor of the building for use of Bernard S. Kramer, who is serving as field consultant for the Mid-Hudson Valley in the State Office of Economic Opportunity.

The state sought to lease the office for a five-year term at a rental of $1,200 annually.

Supervisor John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, inquired as to the cost of alterations. It was stated that the cost would not exceed $1,200 and the lease could be terminated by either party with 180 days notice. Supervisor Prosser voted in opposition. The resolution was offered by Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley.

On motion of Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, on behalf of the committee on buildings, a bid of $732 submitted by Seelye Construction Company of Catskill for demolishing the old barn on the former Health Department property on Main Street was accepted. Other bids were A. J. Scarselli Contractor, Saugerties, $990, and Irving Rudolph of Albany Avenue Extension, Kingston, $945.

Survey Turned Down

A resolution offered by Supervisor Douglas Dye, (R) Town of Kingston, to authorize the board to enter into a contract with the Citizens Survey, Committee of Ulster County, and make available $5,000 toward the cost of a health, welfare, recreation and character building agencies and services survey in the county, both public and private, was defeated by a vote of 21 to 10. One half of the money would be allocated in 1966 and the other half in 1966.

A contract for construction of the county Fish Creek bridge in the town of Saugerties was awarded to James Berardi, Inc., of 40 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston, for $68,800.38, the low bid.

Supervisor Robert F. Phinney (R), 11th ward, on behalf of the Bridge Committee, also offered a resolution authorizing advertisement for bids for construction of the Center Street Bridge over Sandburg Creek, Ellenville. The plans were approved by the board and a report will be received at the next meeting of the board. Unanimously adopted.

A resolution offered by Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, requested Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, to support legislation which will give the board of supervisors the power to reapportion the board instead of giving that power to any other body. The amendment to the law provides that the local county board of supervisors shall have the power to reapportion such board in relation to its membership, voting power etc.

A motion to refer to the Legislative committee offered by Supervisor John C. Quimby (D), Marlboro, was defeated by a 16 to 15 vote and on the motion to adopt Savago's resolution the vote was unanimous.

A resolution of Supervisor Savago to support the proposed "Pure Water Program" and State bond issue so that the burden and blight of water pollution will be lifted and clean water will be available to all people of the state, was adopted unanimously. The program proposes a $1 billion bond issue to help finance a 60 per cent grant to municipalities for sewage work.

Creation of a Soil and Water Conservation District in Ulster County was approved unanimously. The program would be administered by five directors appointed by the board. Two members would be from the board, one from the Grange, one from the Farm Bureau and one appointed at-large. The resolution was offered by Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley and Arnold Banker (D), Hardenbergh.

The County Planning Board was authorized by resolution to seek a state grant to finance the cost of comprehensive study and report in relation to planning for intermunicipal public water supplies for the county. The State Health Department will provide 100 per cent assistance.

A conference between the Salary Study Committee and representatives of the Ulster County Civil Service Employees Association was requested by George Malesie (D), Gardiner. He requested the county treasurer to supply the Salary Study Committee with a list of county employees. He charged the board has not followed salary schedules set. Referred to Salary Study Committee.

Cardinal Meyer Dies, Had Cancer Surgery Feb. 25

CHICAGO (AP)—Albert Cardinal Meyer, 62, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, died today. He had undergone cancer surgery Feb. 25.

The prelate, head of the largest Catholic community in the United States, began sinking last week after showing some signs of improvement from the operation in which a malignant tumor the size of a large walnut was removed from his brain.

Earlier he had been taken off intravenous feeding and fed by tube. For a day or two he was unable to take soft nourishment normally.

But drowsiness that physicians described as semi-lunar forced them to resume tube feeding and then intravenous.

Early today the cardinal was reported in a heavy sleep and unresponsive to stimuli.

Since the four-hour surgery by a 10-member team in Mercy Hospital, Cardinal Meyer has shown only minimal responses to efforts to communicate with him.

His death removes from the hierarchy of his church one of the leading liberal members of the Council of Bishops.

He was singularly responsible for crystallizing the issue of religious freedom in 1964 during a meeting of the Ecumenical Council in Rome at which the Catholic Church attitude on other religions was reviewed.

He challenged a decision by the presidents to postpone a vote, and the American bishops present joined him, followed by scores of others. The vote was postponed, by a technical ruling, but the liberals had made their views clear.

Cardinal Meyer, then an archbishop, became the spiritual leader of nearly two million Catholics in the Chicago area on Nov. 16, 1958.

Woman Driver Fined $25 for No License

A driver was booked on two charges after a two-car mishap at Broadway and Cornell Street Thursday night.

Priscilla Neher, 21, of 190-05 Hillside Avenue, Hollis, L. I., was charged with operating a motor vehicle as an unsupervised learner and without a license.

The other car was driven by Donald N. Breitenstein, 20, of 61 Grant Street. Officers Joseph Feraca and Robert Sember investigated the mishap reported at 7:50 p. m.

The woman was fined $25 on the license charge in city court this morning and the other charge was dismissed.

A committee report recommended that the Mental Health Department, which had requested additional space, remain in its present quarters. This brought forth criticism from Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, a member of the Mental Health Board. He pointed out the need for additional space.

Three resolutions by Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Plattkill were approved by a 16 to 15 vote. One recommended full reimbursement by the state of maintenance costs of highways abandoned to towns for a three year period; one calls for the county fire coordinator to be an ex-officio member of the County Planning Board, and one implores the Governor to take immediate steps to prevent a "pay-leave" payday to state employees because of failure to adopt a budget.

Resolutions of Supervisor Martorana unanimously approved were, one relative to taxation of state park lands and one seeking to make the minimum annual starting salaries of all county employees reflect a $1.50 minimum hourly rate of pay.

The board adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Justice of the Peace Vincent J. Porcelli of the Town of Plattkill. Supervisor Joseph Martorana moved for the adjournment.

Fallsburg Names Scheinman, Gold Out as Chairman

SOUTH FALLSBURG, N.Y. (AP)—The Town of Fallsburg Republican Committee today appointed Attorney Louis B. Scheinman as its chairman.

Scheinman replaces Morris Gold who lost the job after pleading guilty to perjury before a New York County Grand Jury which was investigating whether a $100,000 bribe had been offered for a license for the Finger Lakes Race Track near Canandaigua.

Gold is now awaiting sentencing. The track has changed ownership. Scheinman is a former president of the Sullivan County Bar Association.

Health-SS Bill

side is a round of hearings before the Finance Committee. The chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said it will not be able to take up the measure until after the Easter recess, scheduled for April 15-21.

Preliminary plans, Byrd said, are for the committee to have two or three days' general briefing sessions with officials of the departments concerned immediately after the recess and begin public hearings probably the following week.

Senate Ready

A committee member, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the Senate will pass the bill with few changes and by at least a 3-1 margin. Gore, a long-time advocate of such legislation, said the bill the House passed Thursday was a surprisingly good one.

The major elements of the 297-page bill include:

A hospital plan for all those 65 and older, with the patient paying the first $40.

An optional insurance plan to cover doctor bills and some other medical expenses. This would cost $3 a month, with the government matching the sum, and cover 80 per cent of expenses after the first $50 in any year.

The existing system of state-federal medical aid for the near-indigent would be enlarged.

A general 7 per cent increase in Social Security old-age payments with other liberalizing changes in the system.

An extra $69.90 to be withheld next year from workers making at least $5,600 yearly.

The American Medical Association renewed its opposition to the bill, calling on the Senate to hold public hearings. An AMA statement said that because the House held no such hearings on the final version of the bill Americans were "denied the opportunity" to learn "just how this legislation would affect their lives."

Adult Drivers to Sign

Driver Is Hurt, Another Charged In Rt. 9W Crash

A two-car accident on Route 9W about two miles north of the Orange-Ulster County line, resulted in an injury to one driver and charges against the other, according to Highland State Police.

Troopers reported the cars involved were operated by Cleo McGinty, 42, of New City, and Ezekiel Wilson, 44, of 79 Second Street, Newburgh. McGinty complained of a whiplash of the neck and said he would see his own physician.

Wilson was summoned on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving a motor vehicle without a license. Troopers said the mishap occurred Wednesday, but summonses were issued on Thursday.

Reports Progress On New Ulster Library Building

Progress was reported on the construction of the Town of Ulster Library by Ted Musialkiewicz, a member of the building committee, during a recent meeting of the board of trustees.

Musialkiewicz said that the foundation had been completed and that Joseph Lohmeyer, local builder, was expected to lay the steel beams and begin work on the upper structure within a short time.

Meanwhile, interest is growing in the Art Show being held to help bolster the building funds of this new and expanding library. The show the first of its kind in this area, will exhibit pictures free to the public on May 1 and May 2, from 12 noon to 5 p. m.

The registration dates of entering pictures is the week of April 19, the week schools are closed due to Easter recess. The Town Library will be open 10 to 12 noon Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. After the library closes there will be someone in attendance from 1 until 4 to accept entries on all days except Friday. A small entry fee is required for each picture entered. Those wishing to see the Art Show trophies may view them at the Savings and Loan Association building in the Ulster Shopping Plaza. Next week they will be displayed at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building on Fair Street. These large silver trophies have been donated by John McEntee.

It was announced Mrs. O. L. Bando will be in charge of the Library while Mrs. Walter Burger is on vacation to Florida with her family. She will resume her duties the night the library returns to its regular schedule, Tuesday, April 27. The Library will be closed on Holy Thursday evening. Instead it will be open from 10 to 12 noon on that day. The Town of Ulster Library is temporarily located in the Chambers School, on Albany Avenue Extension.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A control station at Andover, Maine, sent signals to the Early Bird communications satellite today, designed to station it in a hovering orbit over the Atlantic between South America and Africa.

The Communications Satellite Corp. said the satellite's motor fired successfully at 8:40 a. m. in response to the signals.

The motor operated for 19.7 seconds to push the satellite to the desired altitude of 22,300 miles, directly above and along the equator.

When the satellite is in its stationary orbit, engineers will start telephone, radio and television communications between the United States and Europe.

It has been estimated that more than 20,000 Americans commit suicide, each year.

Sunset Apartments Become Reality Despite Protests

By CHARLES M. MCCARTHY
Freeman Staff Writer
(Third in a Series)

While the Town Planning Board had "officially" rejected the Sunset Garden Apartments "proposals" on 16 specifications and subsequently hired New York City Attorney Arden H. Rathkopf—an acknowledged expert in planning and zoning—construction of the apartments, at the time, under new ownership, continued.

In his first report, Rathkopf sent a 10-page letter to Town Attorney Lloyd R. Le Fever.

He said in part that while he felt there were some instances where the town planning board had jurisdiction, he doubted that a certain section of the Town Law applied regarding an access road. Rathkopf said it was his opinion that the original developer (Cunningham) could not be forced to acquire title to Pine Drive (Place) so that he might offer it for dedication to the town as a condition of approval.

Doubted Law Applies

"As long as this portion of Pine Drive affords reasonable access, as required by Town Law," he said, "Section 280-a, it is in my opinion, sufficient." He said, "There is even, in my opinion, considerable doubt as to the applicability of Section 280-a of the Town Law. This section prohibits the issuance of building permits under the circumstances described therein."

"However," the attorney said, "the prohibition of a building permit infers that administrative machinery exists for the issuance of a building permit, i.e., an inspection of the application in relation to lawful requirements contained in a zoning ordinance, a building code, a plumbing code, etc." (He cited a book under his authorship, entitled, "The Law of Zoning and Planning").

Lacked Ordinances, Codes

"The absence of such ordinances and codes," he said, "makes the issuance of a building permit a futility; there is nothing in Town Law Section 280-a to prohibit. I doubt that the legislature of New York State ever contemplated that any situation would exist, as in the Town of Ulster, wherein no permit is required because there are no restrictions of any kind."

Rathkopf said that he believed that the Ulster Planning Board could disapprove of the second access road to Dalewood Street in Forest Glen Park. "Assuming that the Town of Ulster has adopted an official map," he said, "the addition of new streets to such official map through the approval of a subdivision plan showing new streets or highways is within the jurisdiction of the Town Board."

The attorney said he also could find no authority "for such contentions" suggested at the Sunset Garden application hearing Aug. 10 dealing with a "method of enforcement" concerning objections to the development.

He referred to three "remedies" which had been suggested as being available: "criminal prosecution"—the developer allegedly proceeding without planning board approval; an injunction to stop construction until "all questions" could be resolved; and a "taxpayers' action" against the Town Board.

Rathkopf said that Planning Enabling Acts in New York State "are woefully deficient in providing remedies in case of their breach or for their enforcement."

Cites Appropriate Section

He said that the "sole avenue of effective enforcement" appears to be in Section 1115 and following of the Public Health Law. He said that Section 1116 prohibits the sale, offer for sale, lease or rental by any corporation for subdivision or portion thereof until a plan of such subdivision, showing methods for obtaining and furnishing adequate, satisfactory water supply and sewerage facilities to said subdivision, shall be filed with and approved by the department.

Section 1117, the New York attorney said, "prohibits the county clerk or register from recording or accepting for filing or recording any map or plat showing a subdivision unless there is endorsed thereon or annexed thereto a certificate of the Department of Health approving the water supply and sewerage system proposed or installed for such subdivision, and consenting to the filing thereof."

However, he said, those sections do not apply in counties where there is a county board of health which has adopted regulations for the control of such developments.

Rathkopf concluded in his opinion that "reliance upon planning board rules and regulations to control development of the community is terribly misplaced. The only effective means of control," he said, "is a zoning ordinance coupled with a building code, plumbing code and electrical code."

Rathkopf said, "It is inconceivable to me that any town so squarely within the area toward which there is an ever-increasing wave of in-migration due to population increases should be without these tools of planning. It may be, and probably is too late to utilize these against the present applicant (Sunset Gardens). However, the fact that this applicant has commenced construction of so substantial a project has the implication that there are at present many others planning to develop their properties in the town as subdivisions in the near future. Prompt consideration and adoption of the type of ordinance which I have suggested would at least permit some regulation of these developments, since these types of ordinances have adequate and efficient remedies for their enforcement."

Communications Exchanged

Edward J. Devine, meanwhile, whose term as member and chairman of the planning board expired Oct. 1, wrote Cunningham Oct. 7 advising him of the action Sept. 24 with an attached certified copy of the resolution with the 16 itemized specifications. He requested a reply from Cunningham by Oct. 27 as to "what your intentions are." He sent copies of the letter to Town Attorney LeFever and to William Germano of Hyde Park, as president of Sunset Garden Apartments Inc., and also wrote Supervisor Banyo under the Oct. 1 date informing him of the planning board's action.

Cunningham, in a reply later dated Oct. 11, said he called to the planning board chairman's attention the fact that on April 10, 1964, "at the suggestion of Augustus Brinnier, Licensed Land Surveyor . . . that a Condominium complex was in the planning stages."

Cunningham said that he subsequently submitted to Devine on May 11, "certain exhibits along with information I felt would have been of some value to the Town in connection with the apartment complex. In that fourth paragraph of that letter," he said, "I specifically stated that because of the newness of the Condominium Law that all the essential planning is arrived at on the basis of rental occupancy as an investor-held property."

Cunningham said further, "As you know, I subsequently sold the land to the Germano Brothers who are operating under the name of Sunset Garden Apts. Their attorney is John E. Egan, 41 Pearl Street, Kingston, New York should you wish to communicate with him in connection with the apartment complex. I feel quite confident he would be only too happy to cooperate with you and help you solve any problems you may have."

In his May 11 letter, Cunningham notified Devine along with accompanying plans and engineer's contour map, that the contractors would install roads "in accordance with town specifications, extend the water lines and hydrants from Pine Place throughout the complex as shown in the preliminary layout."

He also said that title to the lane would come to him by June 1, 1964, "and the actual construction of the buildings is anticipated to start immediately thereafter. Therefore," Cunningham wrote, "your immediate cooperation in this matter is essential as we are projecting occupancy in the fall."

Cunningham said that "As explained to you in my letter of April 10, 1964, this apartment complex is being set up for future Condominium. However, all of the essential planning is arrived at on the basis of rental occupancy as an investor-held property. In this manner, the conversion to Condominium is possible. However, because of the newness of the Condominium law in this state, it is an absolute necessity that we proceed in this manner as an escape to possible loopholes legal and otherwise in the Condominium law."

Germano's Attorney Replies

Lawyer Egan, meantime replied on behalf of Germano, whom he identified as his client, in a letter dated Oct. 13, 1964.

He said: "I don't know why a copy of your letter was sent to my client (William Germano) for the reason that neither he nor the corporation, Sunset Garden Apartments, of which he is president, have filed any application with your Board. Apparently, Malvern Cunningham filed some sort of application with your board prior to the time the property was conveyed to my client."

"It is apparent also from the resolution which your board adopted on Sept. 24, Mr. Cunningham's application related to a 'condominium' apartment house complex. The apartments that my client is building is strictly a rental apartment project and has nothing at all to do with condominium."

"My client has no thought of subdividing the property or filing any subdivision map nor of laying out any public highways over it. Under the circumstances, we do not believe that our project is subject to the Board's jurisdiction and it is for this reason that no application has been submitted by us."

New Planning Board 'Development'

Further "departmental" complications developed when the Town Board failed to name either Devine or his successor to the Planning Board at the Oct. 14 Town Board meeting. When the matter came before the Town Board, the names of Devine and Edwin Callahan were proposed. Each received two votes with Peace Justice Arthur A. Reilly absent due to illness. The vote was tabled to the November meeting.

The appointment question remained deadlocked in a 2-2 tie vote at the Nov. 11 meeting, with Peace Justice Reilly still absent due to illness. Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo and Peace Justice Robert S. Stedje voted for the reappointment of Devine, while Councilman Thaddeus Musialkiewicz and Salvatore Castiglione voted against it.

Finally, the stalemate was broken Jan. 13 when the Town Board voted 3-2 for the reappointment of Devine to a five-year term. Peace Justice Reilly, who attended his first meeting after a lengthy illness, broke the tie vote as the other four Town Board members stuck to their choice.

Failure of the Town Board to give quick approval to Devine's reappointment raised considerable speculation. There were hints that there was some connection between the reappointment failure and the Sunset Gardens controversy. This was quickly scotched by Supervisor Banyo, who said that there was no connection between the two issues, and "any such inference is purely unfounded."

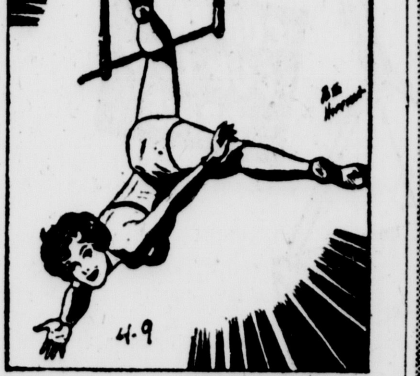

Meanwhile, the new year 1965 brought a number of other notable developments, not the least of which were advertisements which appeared in The Freeman and other area news media.

Sunset Garden Apartments, billed as "Kingston's most elegant garden apartments, nestled in a beautiful country atmosphere," within walking distance of IBM, schools and shopping centers, was accepting rentals and took its place along with Skytop Townhouse Apartments—also in the Town of Ulster—as among the newest and most modern apartment developments serving the greater Kingston area.

Next — Some official conclusions; prospects for future.

This was quickly scotched by Supervisor Banyo, who said that there was no connection between the two issues, and "any such inference is purely unfounded."

Meanwhile, the new year 1965 brought a number of other notable developments, not the least of which were advertisements which appeared in The Freeman and other area news media.

Sunset Garden Apartments, billed as "Kingston's most elegant garden apartments, nestled in a beautiful country atmosphere," within walking distance of IBM, schools and shopping centers, was accepting rentals and took its place along with Skytop Townhouse Apartments—also in the Town of Ulster—as among the newest and most modern apartment developments serving the greater Kingston area.

Next—Some official conclusions; prospects for future.

Opposes Inclusion Of Public Service Hospital in Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., a member of the special panel established by President Johnson to review the Veterans Administration's order to close 11 of its hospitals, opposes inclusion of Public Health Service hospitals in the study as not appropriate.

"The emphasis in our study is to be placed on the welfare of the veterans rather than on government hospital systems as such," Adair said in an interview.

A request that the proposed closing of seven PHS hospitals be studied jointly with the VA hospital situation came from Chairman Herbert C. Bonner, D-N.C., of the House Merchant Marine Committee and Reps. Porter Hardy and Thomas N. Downing, Virginia Democrats.

Adair said the panel's review will go beyond a hospital study in that the administration's order to the VA earlier this year would close not only the 11 hospitals, but also 4 soldiers' homes and the merging of 17 VA regional offices.

A Jan. 19 order to the PHS directed that seven hospitals be closed across the country.

Adair said he regards the President's order to close a number of VA facilities as "too sweeping."

Hard to Keep LBJ From People House Allocates $325,000 For Presidential Automobile

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Finally, we have come a long, long way.

Once the Model T could be bought for around $400. Now comes its swanky, well-stacked successor, the limousine built for a president. It costs $325,000, or more.

Heavens to Henry Ford! What in the automotive world has happened?

For $325,000 you should be able to buy a tank. For $325,000 you could buy six of those fancy automobiles built for James Bond, the fictional international agent, whose car had a radar road map to show where the fellow he is chasing is going.

The question comes up today because the House has appropriated $325,000 for a presidential automobile, plus $197,000 for a Secret Service car. The bill now is in the Senate.

If you ask Ford Motor Co. officials — how can anyone spend $325,000 on an automobile? — The answer is something like this: It is easy. To plan, to develop, to build the Lincoln Continental Lyndon B. Johnson rides in right now cost about $500,000.

Bargain Either Way

But this car was a goodwill or advertising gesture. It was leased to the government, some say for $500 a year, others say it was only $1. Either way, it obviously was a bargain.

Anyone trying to build an assassin-proof car has problems. He will need armor-plated sides, bullet-proof glass, bullet-proof tires, an engine capable of a quick getaway in case of trouble.

But when you add weight you have to strengthen the structure. Pretty soon you are needing bigger brakes, bigger tires, a bigger engine.

All this happened to the Lincoln Continental the President rode in during the campaign and in the inaugural parade.

The modification, or rebuilding, after President Johnson's assassination, was done by Hess & Eisenhardt of Cincinnati, a firm that builds ambulances and those big professional limousines used by sightseers. Sometimes it builds cars for foreign potentates. It

Where Extras Count

The extra money comes from all the extra measures taken to make a presidential safe, Hess said, but no one will detail precisely what these measures are. It seems like a good guess, though, that that Secret Service automobile won't only be an armored car but also a well-stocked arsenal.

A couple of questions remain unanswered: Why a second car if the President already has one? Presumably the second car is needed for traveling. When the President is on a speaking tour, his automobiles are hedgehopped by airplane. Two cars would give him bullet-proof protection everywhere.

If Ford built one car for free, why not a second? Ford officials say no one has asked them to.

Douglas Dillon, then secretary of the Treasury, in testifying before the Warren Commission in its investigation of the Kennedy assassination, said he figured it cost Ford between $175,000 to $200,000 to build the new armored car.

Won't Stay Put

"I think the companies think that the government should buy the new car," Dillon said.

But no matter how hard the Secret Service tries to protect a president, it faces one major obstacle. A politician like Lyndon Johnson simply won't stay in his $325,000 car. He hopped out during the campaign and he hopped out during the inaugural parade.

We have a saying around here: You can keep the people from Lyndon Johnson, but you can't keep Lyndon Johnson from the people.

An alert Poughkeepsie detective early today recovered a car before it was reported stolen and arrested an alleged thief. Detective Jack Durkin stopped a car driven by a youth identified as Horace L. Wood was held on charges of second degree grand larceny and driving without a license.

Kennedy's assassination, was done by Hess & Eisenhardt of Cincinnati, a firm that builds ambulances and those big professional limousines used by sightseers. Sometimes it builds cars for foreign potentates. It did the body work for the presidential car.

Making the Changes
Willard Hess has been with the company since 1928, and in a telephone interview he said the word "modification" is misleading.

He prefers the old term: custom-built cars.

"About all we use of the original car will be the instrument panel, the windshield and sometimes the rear fenders," Hess said.

After sizing up the specifications, the firm builds a small scale model. If this passes the test, a full scale model is produced. If this is okay, it then goes into production.

A 1965 four-door Lincoln sedan weighs 5,075 pounds. The presidential job weighs twice that. The 1965 regular car has a 275-horsepower motor; the presidential car has 500-horsepower V-8, more powerful than any passenger car on the market today.

The glass is eight panes and three inches thick. The steel plating alone weighs 1,600 pounds.

Where Extra Count
The extra money comes from all the extra measures taken to make a president safe, Hess said, but no one will detail precisely what these measures are. It seems like a good guess, though, that that Secret Service automobile won't only be an armored car but also a well-stocked arsenal.

So-called Spanish Drive For 'Rock' Hurts Algeciras

By HAROLD K. MILKS

ALGECIRAS, Spain (AP) — When carpenter Juan Alvarez returns here from his job in the Gibraltar dockyards across Algeciras Bay, he must submit to a search of his lunch bag and person by Spanish customs inspectors.

Like the 9,000 other Spaniards who still work in Gibraltar, he is subjected to such pressures as a part of a campaign which Spain officially describes as anti-smuggling controls and which Britain says is part of a Spanish drive to recover the "Rock" it lost to the British in 1704.

Whatever the reason, neither Alvarez nor his mates like it. Nor do they like the various side effects, including a severe drop in tourism in this area. His son and daughter both work in tourist-supported projects here and both face loss of their jobs unless the squabble over Gibraltar is settled.

Six months have passed since a statement by the U.N. committee of 24 nations on decolonization set off the latest Spanish move to recover Gibraltar.

Algeciras tourist hotels are feeling the pinch. Many of Gibraltar's 25,000 people used to spend weekends or vacations in this part of Spain.

To offset the loss, the Spanish government has set up a commission to develop industries here. The first is an oil refinery already under construction directly across Algeciras Bay from Gibraltar.

Other projects have been authorized, including a petrochemical plant and allied industries. The program appears aimed at providing jobs for the approximately 9,000 Spaniards still working on Gibraltar, should friction result in a complete suspension of relations between Spain and the tiny British possession.

Since the Spanish drive to recover Gibraltar began in October, restriction has been placed on restriction here. Not all have been popular even with Spanish officials charged with their enforcement. But they are being enforced and it is difficult from here to say whether Gibraltar or Spain is suffering most.

Most damaging to the tourist trade of both is the "work to rules" edict of the Spanish customs service at land crossing route to Gibraltar. This results in the Spanish police and inspectors processing only one car an hour — for a total of 14 during the 14 hours a day the frontier is open.

"People living in Spain no longer go to Gibraltar by land, and tourists who once flowed through Gibraltar into Spain in hired cars, private vehicles, or tourist buses no longer come," said a taxi driver. "We don't make enough today to eat on."

Minton, Former Jurist, Succumbs

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — Sherman Minton, 74, U.S. Supreme Court justice from 1949 to 1956, died today.

Onetime Senate Whip

Minton, who took part in the historical school desegregation decision of 1954, was rushed to Floyd Memorial Hospital in New Albany a week ago, suffering severe intestinal bleeding. His condition quickly became critical.

Dr. Harry Voyles of New Albany, said Minton's condition had steadily deteriorated during the last 24 hours and he died at 2:33 a.m.

A Democrat, Minton was majority whip in the U.S. Senate from 1935 to 1941 and was a leader of "New Deal" legislation.

When he retired from the Supreme Court in 1956, he cited poor health, including pernicious anemia and a failing memory. In recent years, he twice survived grave illnesses — a blood clot near the heart in 1959 and a cerebral hemorrhage in 1961 while hospitalized with a broken ankle.

His wife, Gertrude, was with him when he died. Other survivors include a daughter, Mary Anne of Washington, D.C., and two sons, Dr. Sherman Minton Jr., Indianapolis, and John Minton of Washington.

Minton was considered one of the Supreme Court's five-judge conservative group when he retired.

But in his Senate campaign of 1934 during the depression, he had said, "You can't walk up to a hungry man today and say, 'Here, have a Constitution. You can't hand to the farmer who has been ground into the soil a Constitution and tell him to dig himself out.'"

As majority whip and an ardent New Dealer, Minton was a leader in supporting President Franklin D. Roosevelt's unsuccessful plan to enlarge the Supreme Court.

After losing to Republican Raymond E. Willis in his reelection bid in 1940, Minton was named by Roosevelt to the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago the following year. Eight years later, President Harry S. Truman, Minton's colleague in the Senate, appointed him to the Supreme Court.

Minton said last year that he felt the unanimous decision for school integration was the most important act of the court during his term. He called the ruling inevitable.

A semi-invalid, Minton lived in near seclusion the last few years in his home in Silver Hills overlooking the Ohio River, only 8 miles from his birthplace.

Born Oct. 20, 1890, Minton attended public schools in New Albany graduating from its high school in 1910. In 1915 he was graduated from Indiana University summa cum laude with a bachelor of laws degree.

and its getting worse." Officials say that in the face of such controls petty smuggling has all but disappeared, especially since workers caught trying to bring in undeclared goods from Gibraltar face loss of their work permits. But, they say, smuggling boats from Gibraltar still are

No Progress Seen In Georgia GE Talks

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Negotiators have reported no progress and no further meetings scheduled in a strike of 900 electrical workers at the General Electric plant here.

Following a session with management officials Thursday, a union official said negotiators have the understanding that either side could call for further discussions.

Clifford L. Weeks, president of Local 191, International Union of Electrical Workers, said, however, no meetings are scheduled.

The GE plant, which has an $11 million annual payroll, was struck Wednesday night. The union said an accumulation of grievances has been ignored by the company. A company spokesman said it had always been willing to debate the issues.

The IUEW said the grievances involve violations of its national contract with GE as well as local agreements.

So-called Spanish Drive For 'Rock' Hurts Algeciras

By HAROLD K. MILKS
ALGECIRAS, Spain (AP) — When carpenter Juan Alvarez returns here from his job in the Gibraltar dockyards across Algeciras Bay, he must submit to a search of his lunch bag and person by Spanish customs inspectors.

Like the 9,000 other Spaniards who still work in Gibraltar, he is subjected to such pressures as a part of a campaign which Spain officially describes as anti-smuggling controls and which Britain says is part of a Spanish drive to recover the "Rock" it lost to the British in 1704.

Whatever the reason, neither Alvarez nor his mates like it. Nor do they like the various side effects, including a severe drop in tourism in this area. His son and daughter both work in tourist-supported projects here and both face loss of their jobs unless the squabble over Gibraltar is settled.

Six months have passed since a statement by the U.N. committee of 24 nations on decolonization set off the latest Spanish move to recover Gibraltar.

Algeciras tourist hotels are feeling the pinch. Many of Gibraltar's 25,000 people used to spend weekends or vacations in this part of Spain.

To offset the loss, the Spanish government has set up a commission to develop industries here. The first is an oil refinery already under construction directly across Algeciras Bay from Gibraltar.

Other projects have been authorized, including a petrochemical plant and allied industries. The program appears aimed at providing jobs for the approximately 9,000 Spaniards still working on Gibraltar should friction result in a complete suspension of relations between Spain and the tiny British possession.

Since the Spanish drive to recover Gibraltar began in October, restriction has been placed on restriction here. Not all have been popular even with Spanish officials charged with their enforcement. But they are being enforced and it is difficult from here to say whether Gibraltar or Spain is suffering most.

Most damaging to the tourist trade of both is the "work to rules" edict of the Spanish customs service at land crossing route to Gibraltar. This results in the Spanish police and inspectors processing only one car an hour — for a total of 14 during the 14 hours a day the frontier is open.

"People living in Spain no longer go to Gibraltar by land, and tourists who once flowed through Gibraltar into Spain in hired cars, private vehicles, or tourist buses no longer come," said a taxi driver. "We don't make enough today to eat on."

Minton, Former Jurist, Succumbs

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — Sherman Minton, 74, U.S. Supreme Court justice from 1949 to 1956, died today.

Onetime Senate Whip

Minton, who took part in the historical school desegregation decision of 1954, was rushed to Floyd Memorial Hospital in New Albany a week ago, suffering severe intestinal bleeding. His condition quickly became critical.

Dr. Harry Voyles of New Albany, said Minton's condition had steadily deteriorated during the last 24 hours and he died at 2:33 a.m.

A Democrat, Minton was majority whip in the U.S. Senate from 1935 to 1941 and was a leader of "New Deal" legislation.

When he retired from the Supreme Court in 1956, he cited poor health, including pernicious anemia and a failing memory. In recent years, he twice survived grave illnesses — a blood clot near the heart in 1959 and a cerebral hemorrhage in 1961 while hospitalized with a broken ankle.

His wife, Gertrude, was with him when he died. Other survivors include a daughter, Mary Anne of Washington, D.C., and two sons, Dr. Sherman Minton Jr., Indianapolis, and John Minton of Washington.

Minton was considered one of the Supreme Court's five-judge conservative group when he retired.

But in his Senate campaign of 1934 during the depression, he had said, "You can't walk up to a hungry man today and say, 'Here, have a Constitution. You can't hand to the farmer who has been ground into the soil a Constitution and tell him to dig himself out.'"

As majority whip and an ardent New Dealer, Minton was a leader in supporting President Franklin D. Roosevelt's unsuccessful plan to enlarge the Supreme Court.

After losing to Republican Raymond E. Willis in his reelection bid in 1940, Minton was named by Roosevelt to the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago the following year. Eight years later, President Harry S. Truman, Minton's colleague in the Senate, appointed him to the Supreme Court.

Minton said last year that he felt the unanimous decision for school integration was the most important action of the court during his term. He called the ruling inevitable.

A semi-invalid, Minton lived in near seclusion the last few years in his home in Silver Hills overlooking the Ohio River, only 8 miles from his birthplace.

Born Oct. 20, 1890, Minton attended public schools in New Albany graduating from its high school in 1910. In 1915 he was graduated from Indiana University summa cum laude with a bachelor of laws degree.

and its getting worse." Officials say that in the face of such controls petty smuggling has all but disappeared, especially since workers caught trying to bring in undeclared goods from Gibraltar face loss of their work permits. But, they say, smuggling boats from Gibraltar still are

No Progress Seen In Georgia GE Talks

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Negotiators have reported no progress and no further meetings scheduled in a strike of 900 electrical workers at the General Electric plant here.

Following a session with management officials Thursday, a union official said negotiators have the understanding that either side could call for further discussions.

Clifford L. Weeks, president of Local 191, International Union of Electrical Workers, said, however, no meetings are scheduled.

The GE plant, which has an $11 million annual payroll, was struck Wednesday night. The union said an accumulation of grievances has been ignored by the company. A company spokesman said it had always been willing to debate the issues.

The IUEW said the grievances involve violations of its national contract with GE as well as local agreements.

The trouble with telling a good story is that it reminds the other fellow of a dull one.

The congressman's wife sat up in bed, a startled look on her face.

Wife — Jim, there's a robber in the house.

Husband — Impossible. In the Senate, yes, but in the House, never.

Illegibility — A doctor's prescription written with a postoffice pen in the back seat of a second-hand car.

Intuition — A fastidious quality in women—really suspicion.

He—Stop, look, listen! Those three words illustrate the whole scheme of life.

She—How?

He—You see a pretty girl; you stop; you look; after you marry her, and for the rest of your life you listen.

Morality's other name is Freedom of choice. It consists of knowing the difference between right and wrong, and which to choose, and when and why.

Hug — A roundabout way of expressing affection.

Mark 100th Anniversary Today of Lee Surrender

By WILL PLANK

Marlboro Historian and Author of Banners and Bugles

One hundred years ago today, the great Civil War which threatened to destroy this country virtually came to an end. At the little hamlet of Appomattox Courthouse in southern Virginia, General Robert E. Lee surrendered his Confederate Army to General U. S. Grant, who led the Union Armies.

Surrounded by the overpowering federal force, with escape shut off, short on supplies and shorter still on food, the weary, battered and hungry remnants of the once repeatedly victorious army of Northern Virginia, had reached its bitter end.

Swallows Pride

Realizing that continued resistance would result in greater bloodshed in a losing cause, General Lee swallowed his pride and thought of his devoted men. He responded to Grant's overtures to put an end to the fighting and met him at the McLean mansion where he was favorably impressed by Grant's liberal terms. The terms were not those of a stern conqueror, but of a comrade in arms trying to simulate friendly relations.

Southern soldiers were supplied with 25,000 rations immediately and were even permitted to retain horses and mules to ride home in order that they might work their little farms.

Few people today realize that a Kingston man, Gen. George H. Sharpe, served as parole officer in granting freedom from army service or harassment to the approximately 25,000 men who made up the Confederate Army.

After signing the terms of surrender, Lee addressed his soldiers briefly:

Tearful Parting

"Men, we fought the war together and I have done the best I could for you. You will all be paroled and go to your homes until exchanged." Tears came to his eyes as he moved his lips in a choking goodbye. Touching scenes of the farewell to their chief were repeated as the regiments were disbanded, arms stacked and tattered colors torn up or surrendered.

Gen. Sharpe returned home to become one of the most prominent citizens of Ulster County for many years. His home had to be moved from its site, now occupied by the Gov. Clinton Hotel. It still stands a little removed from the street.

A most graphic painting of this scene is in the historical archives of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and is reproduced on the back cover of Banners and Bugles, a book devoted to Ulster County and the part it played in the Civil War, written by the author of this feature.

Excerpts from the book which is still available at local book stores and from Centennial Press, Marlboro, appear here. They tell of the surrender as the local soldiers saw it and Sharpe's parole of the Confederate Army, including General Lee.

End Comes at Appomattox

The Ulster County boys with the 2nd Corps forgot their weariness in long days of marching in pursuit. This was an experience they had never known before—gathering in prisoners and army booty all along the way. When they reached Farmville they found it evacuated and learned that trainloads of food sent from Lynchburg to Lee's starving army had been captured by Sheridan.

On Sunday, April 9th they marched to Appomattox guided by the sound of firing. When they got there the noise of battle had ceased. They were moved into field by the side of the road and after stacking arms were told that Gen. Grant and his staff had gone to meet Lee to consider terms of surrender. At 4 p. m. Gen. Meade came toward them, with a smile on his face. He announced that Lee had surrendered. Cheers rang out on every side. Knapsacks, tin cups, blankets and canteens were tossed in the air as flags waved and the bands played martial airs. The victorious end had come at last.

Generous Terms Given by Grant

Seldom, if ever, in the history of great wars have such generous terms been given by the victor to the vanquished as those granted the Confederates. Officers were allowed to retain their sidearms and all men who had furnished horses or mules to Lee's army were allowed to ride their home to use in working their farms. Upon signing the oath of allegiance to the United States, all those who had been in arms against it were paroled and became eligible for citizenship again.

After Lee surrendered, Grant immediately ordered 25,000 rations distributed among the half-famished troops so recently opposed to him. He also asked that Union soldiers grieve showing any exultation over the defeat of their former enemies. When he heard that a salute of 100 guns had been ordered celebrating the victory he had it stopped. Everything possible was done to heal the wounds of pride that suffered so much in the surrender. A few moments after arms were stacked and colors reverently folded the men of both armies were fraternizing with one another.

General Sharpe Paroles Lee's Army

Ulster County was signally honored by having one of her best known sons, Gen. George Henry Sharpe, designated by Gen. Grant to accept the parole of the Army of Northern Virginia. A letter from Gen. Lee to Col. Sharpe relating to the paroles granted to officers and men is one of the treasured possessions of the Senate House museum in Kingston today—one hundred years later.

Col. Sharpe, who resigned as colonel of the 120th to be assigned to Gen. Hooker's staff, in 1863, made a cartel with the Confederates to have all federal wounded at the battle of Chancellorsville turned over to Union hospital authorities. He served on Gen. Meade's staff and later Grant's when the western leader was appointed to command all Union armies in the field. He was on duty and was brevetted Brigadier General U.S.V. in 1864 and Major General in 1865.

Gen. Lee Signs Pass for Gen. Sharpe

In the Senate House Museum at Kingston, a century after it was written, is a sheet of yellowed paper on which is inscribed in pale ink rendered almost illegible by the years, one of the last orders issued by General Robert E. Lee. It is particularly interesting to Ulster County people because it was given to one of their own citizens who was charged with granting paroles to Lee's Confederate Army after it had surrendered. It reads:

Hdqs. of Army of N.Va. 11-4:45
Pickets and Guards:
Permit Bvt. Brig. Gen. George H. Sharpe, Asst. Provost Marshall General to pass unmolested from Appomattox Courthouse over to the federal lines with such officers, orderlies and transportation as he may have with him.

Sharpe Issues Parole to Robert E. Lee

With it is a bit of interesting information pertaining to the order, reading substantially as follows:

"Probably one of the last passes signed by General Robert E. Lee and one of his last official acts as commanding general of the Army of Northern Virginia. As chief of the Bureau of Military Intelligence, Gen. Sharpe was thoroughly familiar with the organizations of the Confederate army and was assigned the duty of paroling officers and men of the army. This required him to go from one organization to another after the surrender.

He was visited by Col. Marshall of Lee's staff who requested a parole for the general. Considering this presumptuous on his part after Lee had signed the surrender papers with Grant, who had practically given him parole, Sharpe replied that it was his duty to parole the army. Col. Marshall took his leave but returned soon after saying Lee had said he was a member of the Army of Northern Virginia and wanted a parole. It was issued. Later it prevented an effort to have Lee arrested and brought to trial.

The order was a gift of Gen. Henry G. Sharpe and Mrs. Ira Davenport, (the general's children.)

Lutheran Pastor To Lead Prayer In State Senate

A third Kingston clergyman has been invited to open the New York State Senate with prayer, it has been announced.

The Rev. Carl J. Goette, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, 22 Livingston Street, will lead prayer in the Senate Chamber on Wednesday, April 14.

An announcement today from George Van Lengen, secretary of the Senate, noted that the Rev. Mr. Goette had been invited to lead the prayer.

The Lutheran pastor said he

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I have been quoting from items loaned to me recently which I feel have a certain historical value and local interest. Others like the address delivered by William H. Seward, at the commencement of the Auburn and Owasco Canal, on October 14th, 1835, have a general interest.

He spoke in great detail and technical terms about the Canal, but also in general he had this to say:

"It is forgotten, that this is a government made for the reign of peace and humanity. That we have no wars, or rumors of wars, to render it necessary to maintain standing armies and navies to exhaust the productions of the soil. It is forgotten, that we have not, and never will have, any aristocracy, pensioners and placemen in church or state, to consume the substance of the people. It is forgotten, that we are daily demonstrating by our experience, the new and gratifying theory, that national poverty, as well as individual destitution, are, but the fault of men, and therefore avoidable."

was proud of the honor bestowed by the invitation.

Other local clergy leading the Senate prayer recently were two rabbis, Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel and H. Z. Rapaport of Congregation Agudas Achim.

The Hon. William H. Seward said in 1835: "Rise to the sublime conviction, that Providence has spread around us an immense territory to improve—to cultivate it, and to make it the abode of peace, of science and liberty. And it is as certainly true that neither the happiness of our people, nor the stability of our government depends on the length or number of our canals and railroads, or the individual or collective wealth of our citizens."

On the other hand, wealth and prosperity have always served as the guides which introduced vice, luxury and corruption into republics. And luxury, vice and corruption, have subverted every republic which has preceded us."

This was said by a man who was to buy Alaska for the United States, which would bring no end of gold to our country, and with it, vice and corruption, just as he said 130 years ago.

The Hon. William H. Seward in this little book in 1835 further wrote: "We are under a fearful responsibility to posterity and to the friends of free government throughout the world, that the institutions established here, dearer to them than all the wealth of the ancient East and the modern West, shall not be subverted through our fault."

He added, "That responsibility can be discharged faithfully, successfully, triumphantly, by the education of the people." Strange, that now, some 130 years later, in 1965 the greatest war ever is being fought in this country against poverty and in education of the people. "The improvements in the art of teaching, and in the books of instruction, favor this end; the cheapness of printing favors this end. There is only one obstacle to the work—and that is, the prevailing belief that it is already accomplished."

He further went on to say, "mind you, in 1835, 'Our orators, and some of our statesmen, point boastfully to the catalogues which show that almost every citizen can read and write, and thereupon unhesitatingly pronounce us the wisest and most enlightened of all the nations of the earth. People have been instructed to read and write, and that they make profitable use of those precious acquisitions.'"

He asked at the time for the establishment of small libraries in connection with the district schools, and he explains why good reading habits, continues acquired knowledge of reading.

He asked the people to watch out when they "acquire wealth without wisdom, and enjoy the luxury that it brings, reckless of their responsibility to posterity and mankind."

It was not too many years after that when the states went to war against each other.

U. S. patents are issued to citizens of almost every nation in the world.

More Than Powder

It takes more than a dab of powder to turn out today's "natural" beauty. Most women's cosmetics include foundation, pressed powder and loose powder, brush-on eye shadow, eye liner, lash lengthening mascara and several shades of lipstick. At day's end remove cosmetics more easily with two or three applications of cold cream. Cover face and eye area lavishly with the cream and tissue off. Follow with a soap facial an an astringent.

So much to do . . . so little time. . . How'd YOU like to find an extra two hundred and fifty hours a year? A Dishwasher will save an average family at least that much! No more rinsing, stacking, washing, drying; a Dishwasher does it all, and better than you can do it, too. (For HYGIENICALLY clean dishes only a Dishwasher will do.) And there's much less opportunity for breakage.

For more time to spend on the things you'd like to do, get a Dishwasher. Busy people NEED a Dishwasher!

Jerome Hines Is Alumna of Year; Selected by UCLA

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — UCLA's alumna of the year is the famed Metropolitan Opera basso Jerome Hines, who never took a music lesson at the university.

The 6-foot-6½ singer was in his old hometown this week to intone the title role of "Moses" at the Music Center and to be notified of his selection by UCLA. He is only the second entertainment-world figure (the first was choreographer Agnes De Mille) to be chosen for the annual honor, others having been Ralph Bunche, Ford Motor Co. President Arjay Miller and Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg.

Hines, class of '43, graduated in chemistry.

"I had thought I wanted to be a singer since I was 15," he explained. "I continued taking private singing lessons; at that time, the best operatic coaches couldn't afford to work for universities. I also was interested in chemistry, mathematics and physics, and I knew they could provide a good profession to fall back on."

Hines might never have achieved his operatic triumphs if he hadn't been such an introverted lad. A shy giant already 6-foot-6 at 16, he was given vocal lessons as a device to draw him out. Teachers recognized his gift immediately.

His father, a movie production official, paled at raising his boy to be a singer and conspired to have a friend discourage him. The friend, Civic Light Opera boss Edwin Lester, heard Jerome's voice and instead told his father: "Mortgage your house, sell your car, do anything to give this boy opera training!" Lester also changed Jerome's name from Heinz, to avoid any reference to pickles.

The newly named Hines was singing with the San Francisco Opera at 18. In 1946 he auditioned at the Met, won the Caruso Award and has been there ever since.

Hines lives in South Orange, N.J., with his wife and four young sons and makes about 40 forays into the hinterlands each year for concerts, which are "the backbone of my finances."

Spring Luncheon For DAR Members; 100 Regents, Member

In the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel on Monday, April 5, Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its annual spring luncheon. Mrs. R. R. Empringham, regent, presided at the meeting which was attended by more than 100 regents and members of the 13 chapters in the Hudson Valley Council.

Guest of honor and speaker was Mrs. James K. Polk of Old Westbury, L. I., State Recording Secretary, National Vice-Chairman of Resolutions and Past State Chairman of National Defense.

Mrs. Polk stressed the three aims of the National Society: education, history and patriotism, urging each member to emphasize this work during the present Diamond Jubilee Year.

Founded October 11, 1890 and receiving its Charter in 1896 from the United States Congress, the National Society is thus required to report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and thence to Congress.

Caroline Scott Harrison, DAR first President General and wife of President Benjamin Harrison, has recently been elected to the Hall of Fame at New York University. About to come off the press is the Diamond Jubilee Booklet for which thousands of orders have been received.

The speaker dwelt on the resolutions about to be considered at the approaching DAR Continental Congress April 19 to 23 in Washington. She requested support for the Immigration Act of 1952 now before U. S. Congress, stating that this country needs every safeguard to protect its citizens and their jobs from possible incoming hordes. Also the retention of the Connally Reservation regarding the World Court, "as determined by the United States."

Mrs. Polk was given a standing ovation at the termination of her address and the meeting was concluded with the American's Creed.

INVITING OFFICE GROUP TO WEDDING

Q: I am going to be married shortly and am having a fairly large wedding. I intend to invite my fellow employees. There are about 25. Because of the cost of invitations and mailing, would it be in bad taste for me to put an invitation in the office lounge for all the employees, or must individual invitations be sent?

A: In the office situation you describe, it would be permissible to post a blanket invitation in the lounge inviting all of your fellow-employees.

Unanswered R.S.V.P.

Q: When invitations have been sent out with r.s.v.p. on them and as it gets closed to the date, several people have not as yet sent their replies, what is the proper course to follow? Assume that they are not coming, call and ask them for a definite answer, or what?

A: Their not having answered is extremely rude, but rather than assume they are not coming and risk embarrassment by not having provided for them if they do, it would be best to telephone them saying that you have not received their answers and would like to know whether or not they are coming.

Q: Our 19-year-old son has been invited to a formal debutante dance. I would like to know if he is supposed to take a gift to the debutante.

A: No gift will be expected, but if he is a friend of the debutante, he may send her some flowers.

BRIDGE*First Discard Was Bad One

By JACOB Y. SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you are defending against a slam contract and have to make an early discard it is a pretty good general rule to let go a card from your longest suit. It is a far better general rule to stop a while and decide as to whether or not declarer holds as many cards in that suit as you do.

East was playing a very relaxed game. He was pleased when his partner opened the queen of hearts against the spade slam and signaled with the seven spot.

Declarer led dummy's king of trumps and East dropped the three of clubs. He had five of them and certainly thought that he could spare one.

He could not have been more wrong! The club discard let South bring home a slam contract that normally would have been wrecked on the rocks of distribution.

All South had to do was to cash dummy's ace and king of diamonds so as to get rid of his losing heart. Then he led the queen of clubs.

East covered with his king. Not that it mattered since the damage had already been done. South won with his ace and led the jack.

West ruffed and led a second heart which South ruffed. Then South trumped a low club in dummy, drew trumps and made the last two tricks with his last two clubs.

If East had thought carefully at trick two he would have noted the possibility that declarer would hold five clubs. He would also have noted that he could well afford a heart discard, whereupon South would have had no way to make 12 tricks.

Made Up as Days Pass?*Switch in LBJ Talk Leaves Door Open About Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's switch to a softer line on how to start peace talks in Viet Nam raises a question about how thoroughly the problem was thought through in the first place.

The switch President Johnson made this week in his nationwide talk leaves the door open to an impression some of the U.S. policy is being made up as it goes along, except for the basic, original determination.

That part of the policy has always been clear: to save South Viet Nam from a Communist takeover.

But Johnson started out with a hard-nosed policy when, immediately after the Red guerrillas attacked an American air base, on Feb. 7 he ordered Communist North Viet Nam bombed.

And the White House explained what was wanted was a "clear indication" from the Reds that they were ready to stop attacking the South. Later Johnson said he wanted peace talks conducted "under conditions that would be productive."

And so on.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Dean Rusk was echoing this line almost to the point of banality, even though the repeated American bombing of North Viet Nam put no visible dent in the guerrillas. They kept on fighting.

As time passed the administration's tactics and position, as Johnson outlined it, were being criticized at home and abroad, by friends, neutrals, Russia and Red China.

It's understandable that in the beginning the administration must have felt the hard line on peace talks was necessary to convince the Reds that American policy and bombings were not just gestures to save face.

Two months of bombings brought no cries for peace from the Communists. And the criticism increased. Then Wednesday night Johnson abandoned the policy of laying down conditions before discussions could start.

(Johnson, however, said plainly the American bombings wouldn't stop and the United States wouldn't pull out "under the cloak of a meaningless agreement.")

But the switch on the peace talks, slight as it was, brought praise at home and abroad. Johnson also got criticism, not only from the Red Chinese who called his talk "lies and deception," but from Republicans, too.

It's hard to believe this new policy couldn't have been the policy from the beginning since the continued bombings, in the past as in the future, would if anything could, convince the Reds of American determination.

The very fact that Johnson

Chief, 87, Retires
ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — At the age of 87 and after nearly half a century as fire chief of Elyria, Wallace N. Bates is stepping down.

Bates, the only full-time fire chief this city ever hired, said today he will retire May 1.

"It's time," said Bates. "I can't last another 100 years."

finally made his broadcast explanation was also, in effect, a switch. He had been under pressure for weeks to make such a talk. But he and Rusk relied on cryptic, repetitious statements.

It's possible that by eliminating precedents to a peace discussion Johnson now has put the burden on the Communist world to start negotiations. But that's probably sheer optimism.

The Chinese not only quickly repudiated Johnson's talk but the North Vietnamese, as usual, have said nothing. What's lacking is a knowledge of what's going on in the Communists' heads.

They may still feel, if they stick it out, they can cobble all South Viet Nam where half the population is not supporting either side.

This indifference of the South Vietnamese is good evidence that the United States, although it has been helping South Viet Nam for years, has done a miserably poor job of trying to convince the majority of the people they should be anti-Communist.

Perhaps the answer is that the United States for all these years put too much time, effort and money into worrying about whoever was running the government at the moment and not worrying enough about the people.

First Discard Was Bad One

By JACOB Y. SON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you are defending against a slam contract and have to make an early discard it is a pretty good general rule to let go a card from your longest suit. It is a far better general rule to stop a while and decide as to whether or not declarer holds as many cards in that suit as you do.

East was playing a very relaxed game. He was pleased when his partner opened the queen of hearts against the spade slam and signaled with the seven spot.

Declarer led dummy's king of trumps and East dropped the three of clubs. He had five of them and certainly thought that he could spare one.

He could not have been more wrong! The club discard let South bring home a slam contract that normally would have been wrecked on the rocks of distribution.

All South had to do was to cash dummy's ace and king of diamonds so as to get rid of his losing heart. Then he led the queen of clubs.

East covered with his king. Not that it mattered since the damage had already been done. South won with his ace and led the jack.

West ruffed and led a second heart which South ruffed. Then South trumped a low club in dummy, drew trumps and made the last two tricks with his last two clubs.

If East had thought carefully at trick two he would have noted the possibility that declarer would hold five clubs. He would also have noted that he could well afford a heart discard, whereupon South would have had no way to make 12 tricks.

Made Up as Days Pass?

Switch in LBJ Talk Leaves Door Open About Policy

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Johnson administration's switch to a softer line on how to start peace talks in Viet Nam raises a question about how thoroughly

the problem was thought through in the first place.

The switch President Johnson

wide talk leaves the door open to an impression some of the U.S. policy is being made up as it goes along, except for the basic, original determination.

That part of the policy has always been clear: to save

South Viet Nam from a Communist takeover.

But Johnson started out with

mediately after the Red guerrillas attacked an American air base, on Feb. 7 he ordered Communist North Viet Nam

bombed.

And the White House explained: what was wanted was a "clear indication" from the Reds that they were ready to stop attacking the South. Later

Johnson said he wanted peace talks conducted "under conditions that would be productive."

And so on.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State

Dean Rusk was echoing this line, almost to the point of ba-nality, even though the repeated

American bombing of North

Viet Nam put no visible dent in

fighting.

As time passed the administration's tactics and position, as

Johnson outlined it, were being criticized at home and abroad,

by friends, neutrals, Russia and Red China.

It's understandable that in the beginning the administration must have felt the hard line on peace talks was necessary to convince the Reds that American policy and bombings were not just gestures to save face.

Two months of bombings brought no cries for peace from the Communists. And the criticism increased. Then Wednesday night Johnson abandoned

the policy of laying down condi-

plainly the American bombings wouldn't stop and the United

agreement.")

But the switch on the peace talks, slight as it was, brought praise at home and abroad.

Johnson also got criticism, not only from the Red Chinese who called his talk "lies and decep-

too.

It's hard to believe this new policy couldn't have been the

the continued bombings, in the past as in the future, would if anything could, convince the Reds of American determination.

Gary Player's 65 Opener Is Second Lowest Masters Round

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A putting tip from American Ed Furgol has helped move South Africa's Gary Player in front of the hottest band of shooters in the history of the prestigious Masters Golf Tournament today.

The 5-foot-7, 153-pound muscle man fired a seven-under-par 32-33-65 at a course he called "The Monster" and still wound up only two strokes in front of a formidable American quartet of favored Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lama, Dan Sikes and Tommy Aaron.

Even with that 65 — one stroke behind the course and Masters record of 64 set in the opening round by second-place finisher Lloyd Mangrum in 1940 — the chipper South African had a tremendous task ahead of him if he hoped to duplicate his 1961 Masters victory.

The elite field of 91 of the world's best pro and amateur golfers relentlessly hammered the proud par 36-72, 6,980-yard course of the Augusta National Golf Course from the opening first-round shots in the morning until Player came roaring home around 6 p.m. on a hot and perfect day for golf.

Thirty-three players were under par and 44 were par or better as the stars treated the layout as if it was a short public links course.

In all, 11 players shot 69s or better, nine had 70s—including defending champion and four-times winner Arnold Palmer—13 had 71s and 11 matched par 72.

Frank Beard of Louisville, one of the best of the young set, was all alone in fifth place at 68. The 29 group included Doug Sanders, only winner of two tournaments on the winter circuit; Ray Floyd, a cocky, 22-year-old bomber from Fayetteville, N.C., who says, "I can win it." Wes Ellis Jr., long-hitting George Bayer, and fiery Tommy Bolt.

Player, a 29-year-old farmer who lifts weights to build up his strength and add yardage to his drives, unloaded his big guns right from the start. He fired three straight birdies and wound up with seven in all and no bogeys.

Eagles 2nd Hole
He sank an 8-foot putt at the first, almost canned an eagle 3 at the par-5 second where his

Two Tilts Set For Tonight At Auditorium

Though they had to survive a fourth period rally, the Pine Plains Bombardiers remained unbeaten in the double-elimination Kingston Basketball tournament with a 92-83, win over a hustling Boyle's A. C. team last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

In the first contest, NSO of Poughkeepsie eliminated Stony Point from competition with a 71-65, decision.

Action continues tonight with City Electric opposing Armstrong's Eagles in the 7:15 opener and Boyle's facing NSO in the second game. Losers will be eliminated while the winners will clash in Sunday's first game. In the second tilt that night, Ray's Tackle Shop will oppose the Bombardiers.

23 for Kazakovich
Four of the Bombardiers were in double figures with Ed Kazakovich hitting 23 to show the way. Warren Isaac had 22, Bill Telasky had 18 and York Laresse 15. Bill Williams led the upset bid by Boyle's with 25 points. Bill Slicks and Mike Crocco rimmed 20 each.

NSO led the entire second half against Stony Point. Curt McLinton rimmed 22 points while Tom Atkins added 18 and Curt Johnson an even dozen. Art Orlando's 29 points were high for Stony Point.

Rondout Valley opened its 1965 baseball campaign with an impressive, 4-3, win over visiting Fallsburgh yesterday.

Cardinals, Yankees 1965 Picks

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, who couldn't beat Johnny Keane and the Cardinals in the 1964 World Series, will get another crack at St. Louis — with Keane on their side — this year.

The Yankees were voted into a record-shattering sixth straight American League pennant by a narrow margin in balloting by 266 sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press' annual pre-season baseball poll.

St. Louis received an even slimmer margin over Philadelphia and Cincinnati.

The Yankees, with Keane having replaced Yogi Berra as their manager, recorded 60 more points than Baltimore and 160 more than the Chicago White Sox. The Cardinals, now under Red Schoendienst, outpolled the Phillies by 76 points and the Reds by 91.

St. Louis, which won the 1964 pennant on the last day of the season after being selected for third in the pre-season poll, had a total of 2,139 points while Philadelphia had 2,113 and Cincinnati 2,098.

A Rare Poll
The world champions' slim triumph was built despite their having received only 40 first-place votes compared with 77 for the Phillies and 73 for the Reds, a rare disparity in the poll.

Votes were counted on the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., down to one for 10th.

The Yankees' selection was made certain by 109 first-place votes, far more than the Orioles' 67 and the White Sox' 73. New York finished with 2,400 points, Baltimore 2,340 and Chicago 2,240.

In proving the prognosticators correct last year, the Yankees won the pennant by one game over Chicago and two over Baltimore. St. Louis nosed out Philadelphia and Cincinnati by one game each.

The Mets, a perennial last-place choice, drew the most votes for any one spot — 185 for 10th in the NL. The Athletics earned 179 for last in the AL.

The voting, first-place votes in parentheses:

U.S. Track Team Sets Three Marks

BERLIN (AP) — America's all-conquering track team, with victories over English and German teams and three world marks to its credit, prepared to return to the United States today.

Mike Larrabee, a schoolteacher from Fillmore, Calif., was the latest claimant to a world indoor mark with a 46.8 mark in the 400 meters Thursday night, almost a full second under the listed record of 47.7.

Larrabee, who won the 400-meter gold medal in the Tokyo Olympics, added his record to those set earlier by Ted Nelson, Canoga Park, Calif., and Janell Smith, Fredonia, Kan., in the two-day meet.

Nelson clipped off a 1:47.4 time for the 800 meters and was awarded a special trophy by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, then ran on a victorious U.S. relay team. Miss Smith won the women's 400 meters in 54 flat, and improvement of 1.6 seconds on the listed record.

Those performances helped the United States to a whopping 101-56 victory for the men, while the American girls won their two-day match 61-52.

Monticello Raceway Ready for Earliest Opening in Eight-Year History, May 13

Monticello, N. Y. — Harness racing 1965 is well under way throughout the nation. As it gathers momentum to the north, south and on both coasts, Monticello Raceway is quietly and expertly mounting its own head of steam.

Amid the tonic of clear, mountain air and backdrop of the famous Catskill resort area, the picturesque racing plateau is preparing for a May 13 deadline. This is the day which signifies the earliest opening and lengthiest season in the track's eight-year history.

Sandwiched between the May 13 opener and concluding date of Oct. 2 are no less than 127 programs of major league harness racing. Making up the 127 programs are 123 star-filled evenings and four sunny, Saturday afternoons of thundering equine performers.

In anticipation of another great year, key track personnel have rolled up their sleeves and dusted off the respective tools of their trade. Already in full swing is the plant's promotional program, racing agency and annual pre-season face-lifting administered by the hard-working maintenance crews.

Russell Leads, Celts to Win

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Bill Russell has successfully made a surprise raid on Wilt Chamberlain's domain — scoring.

As a result, the Celtics beat Philadelphia 112-94 in the Eastern Division playoff finals Thursday night. They lead the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series 2-1 moving into game No. 4 on the 76ers' court tonight.

"Russell really beat us with those tap-ins and he did a great job on the offensive boards," said Chamberlain. "Heck, yes, he surprised me the way he scored early in the game. But I don't know what I could do about it."

Russell, blaming his sub-par performance for the second-game defeat, scored 12 of his 19 points as Boston jumped off to a 34-27 first-quarter lead Thursday night. He held the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain without a field goal until there were eight seconds left in the first half.

Chamberlain finished ahead 24-19 in the game and 37-26 in rebounds but the damage had been done. Russell had the better shooting average, a 9-17 edge in field goals, 8-11 bulge in assists, and was ahead 3-1 in steals.

Two Tilts Set For Tonight At Auditorium

Though they had to survive a fourth period rally, the Pine Plains Bombardiers remained unbeaten in the double-elimination Kingston Basketball tournament with a 92-83, win over a hustling Boyle's A. C. team last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

In the first contest, NSO of Poughkeepsie eliminated Stony Point from competition with a 71-65, decision.

Action continues tonight with City Electric opposing Armstrong's Eagles in the 7:15 opener and Boyle's facing NSO in the second game. Losers will be eliminated while the winners will clash in Sunday's first game.

In the second tilt that night, Ray's Tackle Shop will oppose the Bombardiers.

23 for Kazakovich

Four of the Bombardiers were in double figures with Ed Kazakovich hitting 23 to show the way. Warren Isaac had 22, Bill Telasky had 18 and York Larese 15. Bill Williams led the upset bid by Boyle's with 25 points. Bill Slicks and Mike Crocco rimmed 20 each.

NSO led the entire second half against Stony Point. Curt McClinton rimmed 22 points while Tom Atkins added 18 and Curt Johnson an even dozen. Earl Orlando's 29 points were high for Stony Point.

Gary Player's 65 Opener Is Second Lowest Masters Round

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A putting tip from American Ed Furgol has helped move South Africa's Gary Player in front of the hottest band of shooters in the history of the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament today.

The 5-foot-7, 153-pound muscle man fired a seven-under-par 33-35-65 at a course he called "The Monster" and still wound up only two strokes in front of a formidable American quartet of favored Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Dan Sikes and Tommy Aaron.

Even with that 65 — one stroke behind the course and Masters record of 64 set in the opening round by second-place finisher Lloyd Mangrum in 1940 — the chipper South African had a tremendous task ahead of him if he hoped to duplicate his 1961 Masters victory.

The elite field of 91 of the world's best pro and amateur golfers relentlessly hammered the proud par 36-72, 6,980-yard course of the Augusta National Golf Course from the opening first-round shots in the morning until Player came roaring home around 6 p.m. on a hot and perfect day for golf.

Thirty-three players were under par and 44 were par or better as the stars treated the layout as if it was a short public links course.

In all, 11 players shot 69s or better, nine had 70s—including defending champion and four-time winner Arnold Palmer—13 had 71s and 11 matched par 72.

Frank Beard of Louisville, one of the best of the young set, was all alone in fifth place at 68.

The 69 group included Doug Sanders, only winner of two tournaments on the winter circuit; Ray Floyd, a cocky, 22-year-old bomber from Fayetteville, N.C., who says, "I can win it." Wes Ellis Jr., long-hitting George Bayer, and fiery Tommy Bolt.

Player, a 29-year-old farmer who lifts weights to build up his strength and add yardage to his drives, unloaded his big guns right from the start. He fired three straight birdies and wound up with seven in all and no bogeys.

Eagles 2nd Hole
He sank an 8-foot putt at the first, almost canned an eagle 3 at the par-5 second where his 15-foot putt stopped on the edge of the hole and knocked in a 15-footer at the third.

These were three of his birds and he had four more coming.

He got another at the 330-yard eighth; reaching the green in two; birds also on the par-5 13th and 15th and then he closed out his streak by putting his approach to within three feet of the 16th.

The crowd, part of an estimated throng of 30,000, let out a tremendous roar when he sank it.

Cans 30-Footer

The methodical South African, only foreigner ever to win the Masters—the Year was 1961—had his only anxious moment at the 470-yard 10th.

There he hit his tee shot into the woods, approached short and then had to sink a 30-foot putt for his par 4.

"Whew—that was a corker," Player said, doffing his white baseball-style cap.

Nicklaus, the 25-year-old Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio, put in his damaging licks with brute strength that enabled him to birdie the four par 5 holes and add two other with good putts.

He required only 30 putts, using a putter he bought for $50 in Tokyo Garish Ginza, and a stance suggested by Furgol, the former U.S. Open champion from Export, Pa., only last weekend.

Nicklaus, off his 32-35, which easily could have been trimmed by two or three strokes with any breaks, still was rated the choice to win.

Monticello Raceway Ready for Earliest Opening in Eight-Year History, May 13

Monticello, N. Y. — Harness racing 1965 is well under way throughout the nation. As it gathers momentum to the north, south and on both coasts, Monticello Raceway is quietly and expertly mounting its own head of steam.

Amid the tonic of clear, mountain air and backdrop of the famous Catskill resort area, the picturesque racing plateau is preparing for a May 13 deadline. This is the day which signifies the earliest opening and lengthiest season in the track's eight year history.

Sandwiched between the May 13 opener and concluding date of Oct. 2 are no less than 127 programs of major league harness racing. Making up the 127 programs are 123 star-filled evenings and four sunny, Saturday afternoons of thundering equine performance.

In anticipation of another great year, key track personnel have rolled up their sleeves and

Russell Leads, Celts to Win

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Bill Russell has successfully made a surprise raid on Wilt Chamberlain's domain — scoring.

As a result, the Celtics beat Philadelphia 112-94 in the Eastern Division playoff finals Thursday night. They lead the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series 2-1 moving into game No. 4 on the 76ers' court tonight.

"Russell really beat us with those tap-ins and he did a great job on the offensive boards," said Chamberlain. "Heck, yes, he surprised me the way he scored early in the game. But I don't know what I could do about it."

Russell, blaming his sub-par performance for the second-game defeat, scored 12 of his 19 points as Boston jumped off to a 34-27 first-quarter lead Thursday night. He held the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain without a field goal until the first half.

Chamberlain finished ahead 24-19 in the game and 37-26 in rebounds but the damage had been done. Russell had the better shooting average, a .97 edge in field goals, a .81 bulge in assists, and was ahead 3-1 in steals.

Rondout Valley Nips Fallsburgh Team, 4-3

Rondout Valley opened its 1965 baseball campaign with an impressive, 4-3, win over visiting Fallsburgh yesterday.

Coach Hal Ross gave Tom Tegeler and Bill Botsakos, his two front line hurlers three innings of work and they hand-cuffed the visitors. Fallsburgh scored its three runs in the seventh frame off Charles Coogan.

Tegeler faced only nine batters and sent eight of them down on strikes. Botsakos allowed only one hit and fanned three in his stint.

Elliot Sondack was the hitting hero for the Ganders, collecting three doubles and scoring a run in four trips to the dish. Veteran Fred Parisi had two singles and Tegeler slammed a double.

Rondout is scheduled to play this afternoon at Ellenville.

Cardinals, Yankees 1965 Picks

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, who couldn't beat Johnny Keane and the Cardinals in the 1964 World Series, will get another crack at St. Louis — with Keane on their side — this year.

The Yankees were voted into a record-shattering sixth straight American League pennant by a narrow margin in balloting by 266 sports writers and broadcasters in The Associated Press' annual pre-season baseball poll.

St. Louis received an even slimmer margin over Philadelphia and Cincinnati.

The Yankees, with Keane having replaced Yogi Berra as their manager, recorded 60 more points than Baltimore and 160 more than the Chicago White Sox. The Cardinals, now under Red Schoendienst, outpolled the Phillies by 76 points and the Reds by 91.

St. Louis, which won the 1964 pennant on the last day of the season after being selected for third in the pre-season poll, had a total of 2,189 points while Philadelphia had 2,113 and Cincinnati 2,098.

A Rare Poll
The world champions' slim triumph was built despite their having received only 40 first-place votes compared with 77 for the Phillies and 73 for the Reds, a rare disparity in the poll.

Votes were counted on the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., down to one for 10th.

The Yankees' selection was made certain by 109 first-place votes, far more than the Orioles' 67 and the White Sox' 73. New York finished with 2,400 points, Baltimore 2,340 and Chicago 2,240.

In proving the prognosticators correct last year, the Yankees won the pennant by one game over Chicago and two over Baltimore. St. Louis nosed out Philadelphia and Cincinnati by one game each.

The Mets, a perennial last-place choice, drew the most votes for any one spot — 185 for 10th in the NL. The Athletics earned 179 for last in the AL.

The voting, first-place votes in parentheses:

U.S. Track Team Sets Three Marks

BERLIN (AP) — America's all-conquering track team, with victories over English and German teams and three world marks to its credit, prepared to return to the United States today.

Mike Larrabee, a schoolteacher from Fillmore, Calif., was the latest claimant to a world indoor mark with a 46.8 mark in the 400 meters Thursday night, almost a full second under the listed record of 47.7.

Larrabee, who won the 400-meter gold medal in the Tokyo Olympics, added his record to those set earlier by Ted Nelson, Canoga Park, Calif., and Janell Smith, Fredonia, Kan., in the two-day meet.

Nelson clipped off a 1:47.4 time for the 800 meters and was awarded a special trophy by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, then ran on a victorious U.S. relay team. Miss Smith won the women's 400 meters in 54 flat, and improvement of 1.6 seconds on the listed record.

Those performances helped the United States to a whopping 101-56 victory for the meet, while the American girls won their two-day match 61-52.

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The day before Gary Player, the little South African, blistered the Augusta National with his first round 65, the area's three golf professionals were agreed on one point — Big Jack, the pre-tourney pick, will be the 1965 Masters champion come Sunday evening.

None mentioned Player in their predictions. Alex Gerlak, long time Twaalfskill pro, just back from his annual stay at the Hollywood Beach and Country Club (Fla.), hedges only slightly on his pick.

"I think this will be Nicklaus' year. He has the big game and shot for a course like the Augusta National. He seems to be mentally geared for it."

Gerlak tipped his hat in the direction of Slammin' Sammy Sneed, ageless wonder of the pro circuit. "Sam could come through and win it again. At Augusta he's never handicapped by the mental block that seems to plague him in the U.S. Open."

DITTO HUTCHINS, ROBERTSON:

HARRISON IN ALBANY:

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the Arkansas Traveler, will be the guest speaker at the ninth annual Golf Show and Dinner of the Northeastern New York PGA Monday, May 10, at the Schine-Ten Eyck Hotel in Albany. A golfing great of another era, Harrison was named to four U.S. Ryder Cup squads, top recognition for any professional. Harrison has an excellent reputation as an after dinner speaker and raconteur. He follows such greats as Chick Harbert, Sam Sneed, Gene Sarazen, Byron Nelson to the annual Albany event. The three area clubs are well represented at the affair. Jim Hutchins and Scotty Robertson are members of the Golf Show committee. The 1965 line of merchandise will be on display from 11 a. m. to 7 p. m. A cocktail party is scheduled in the Harlequin Room starting at 5:30 p. m., with dinner at 7:30 p. m. (Wanna bet?).

NORTHEASTERN NOTES:

Northeastern pros launch their 1965 campaign with the traditional Pro-Pro tournament at Columbia Country Club in Claverack. Edwin Brown, who for years was known as Eddie, will be host pro. The agenda includes a meeting at 10 a. m., golf at 1 p. m. and dinner (free steaks) at 6:30 p. m. Free carts and $100 in prize money round out the goodies. . . . You mean our pros are riding in carts these days? . . . A new trend in PGA policy: The Northeastern Tournament Committee, which seeks to be self-supporting this year, has talked about raising the percentage of tournaments and is openly soliciting dates from member clubs. . . . The Northeastern admits a need for tournament sponsors during the season and is expected to contact different enterprises in its section on summer plans. . . . The U.S. Hole-in-One contest will take place of the PGA Hole-in-One next August. The Northeastern Seniors will also be contested in August. And that's the month Woodstock Country Club restores its traditional classic — The Woodstock Open — to its old date of third Friday in the month.

Leafs, Chicago Tie Stanley Cup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs are back in the thick of contention for their fourth straight championship in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs.

They turned boos to cheers with a three-goal outburst in the last period for a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night. That squared the best-of-7 semifinal series at two games apiece with the fifth game scheduled at Montreal Saturday night.

The Chicago Black Hawks also drew even at 2-2 with Detroit in the other semifinal by beating the Red Wings 2-1. Bobby Hull broke a 1-1 tie with a blazing slap shot from a foot inside the blue line at 9:12 of the third period.

Hull, who seems to have regained the touch he lost because of injuries in the losing games of the regular season, drew an ovation from a Chicago turnout of 16,666 for his winning goal against the Red Wings. It was his sixth goal in the series. The fifth game of the series will be played in Detroit Sunday night.

Ortega to Open Year For Nats

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Care package Los Angeles shipped to Washington appears to be waging an effective war on the Senators' poverty.

Currently spearheading the attack is Phil Ortega, a 25-year-old Mexican of Mexican-Indian descent.

Ortega, part of the Care package from the Dodgers, helped spark the Senators to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore and to the top of the American League's exhibition baseball standings Thursday.

The right-hander was one of five players the Dodgers gave the Senators for pitcher Claude Osteen and infielder John Kennedy last December.

Emigrating from the West Coast to the nation's capital with Ortega was infielder Ken McMillen, first baseman Dick Nen, outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Pete Richert.

In 35 innings of spring pitching, the Senators' busiest hurler has compiled a 1.91 earned-run average, best on the team. He has permitted only two runs and seven hits in the last 18 innings.

In Good Form

In his final tuneup for the season's opener against Boston next Monday, Ortega blanked the Orioles for five innings before Nick White, another ex-Dodger, completed the six-hitter by allowing all three Orioles runs.

McMillen collected four hits in the victory that boosted Washington's record to 11-10.

In another development Thursday, St. Louis traded pitcher Bob Humphreys to the Chicago Cubs for two minor leaguers, infielder Bobby Pfeil and pitcher Harold Gibson.

The Cardinals whipped the New York Mets 6-1 as Curt Flood rapped three singles and a double and Ken Boyer two doubles and a single.

Stan Williams helped pitch and bat Cleveland to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco. The former Yankee scored four hits in six innings and allowed in the fourth after singling.

Koufax, Chance Selected

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax and Dean Chance both pitch for Los Angeles baseball teams. Both have won Cy Young Awards. Both led their respective leagues in earned-run average in 1964 while compiling a total record of 39 victories and 14 defeats.

Both also were selected overwhelmingly today as the winningest pitchers for 1965 in The Associated Press' annual pre-season poll.

Koufax, the suddenly questionable Dodger southpaw, piled up 155 votes, virtually all of them before he developed an arthritic condition in his left elbow. He had six times as many votes as any other National League hurler while Chance of the Angels drew 95 votes, just about twice as many as his closest competitor in the American League.

Their selection by 266 sports writers and broadcasters followed that of Cincinnati's Frank Robinson and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the season's most valuable players.

Cardinals Picked

Earlier St. Louis was chosen to win the National League pennant while the Yankees were the pick in the AL.

The only hitch in the selection of Koufax is that the 29-year-old ace may not be able to make it come true.

The voting nearly had been completed when the injury-plagued Dodger came up with the arthritic condition that threatens to keep him in the dugout six days out of every week. When well, Koufax pitches every fourth day.

That he had been expected to be well was reflected in the runaway vote he received. Trailing in the distance were San Francisco's Juan Marichal with 25 votes, and Don Drysdale of the Dodgers with 25 and Bob Gibson of St. Louis with 14.

The day before Gary Player, the little South African, blistered the Augusta National with his first round 65, the area's three golf professionals were agreed on one point—Big Jack, the pre-tourney pick, will be the 1965 Masters champion come Sunday evening.

None mentioned Player in their predictions. Alex Gerlak, long time Twaalfskill pro, just back from his annual stay at the Hollywood Beach and Country Club (Fla.), hedges only slightly on his pick.

"I think this will be Nicklaus' year. He has the big game and shot for a course like the Augusta National. He seems to be mentally geared for it."

Gerlak tipped his hat in the direction of Slammin' Sammy Snead, ageless wonder of the pro circuit. "Sam could come through and win it again. At Augusta he's never handicapped by the mental block that seems to plague him in the U.S. Open."

DITTO HUTCHINS, ROBERTSON:

Ian (Scotty) Robertson, who holds forth at Wiltwyck Country Club, picked Nicklaus without reservation. "The course is built for a guy like Nicklaus and I don't see anybody beating him this time around," said Scotty. He mentioned Arnold Palmer, Tony Lema, Billy Casper as threats and conceded that Old Sam could do it. "But for a solid pick," he said, "put me down for Nicklaus."

Jim Hutchins, the Woodstock Country Club, who winters at Sarasota, Fla., sees Nicklaus the winner. "He seems to be at the top of his game and always has good mental attitude," said Hutch. "But you can never rule out a golfer like Arnold Palmer until the final returns are in."

HARRISON IN ALBANY:

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the Arkansas Traveler, will be the guest speaker at the ninth annual Golf Show and Dinner of the Northeastern New York PGA Monday, May 10, at the Schenectady Hotel in Albany. A golfing great of another era, Harrison was named to four U.S. Ryder Cup squads, top recognition for any professional. Harrison has an excellent reputation as an after dinner speaker and raconteur. He follows such greats as Chick Harbert, Sam Snead, Gene Sarazen, Byron Nelson to the annual Albany event. The three area clubs are well represented at the affair. Jim Hutchins and Scotty Robertson are members of the Golf Show committee. The 1965 line of merchandise will be on display from 11 a. m. to 7 p. m. A cocktail party is scheduled in the Harlequin Room starting at 5:30 p. m., with dinner at 7:30 p. m. (Wanna Bet?).

NORTHEASTERN NOTES:

Northeastern pros launch their 1965 campaign with the traditional Pro-Pro tournament at Columbia Country Club in Claverack. Edwin Brown, who for years was known as Eddie, will be host pro. The agenda includes a meeting at 10 a. m., golf at 1 p. m. and dinner (free steaks) at 6:30 p. m. Free carts and $100 in prize money round out the goodies. . . . You mean our pros are riding in carts these days? . . . A new trend in PGA policy: the Northeastern Tournament Committee, which seeks to be self-supporting this year, has talked about raising the percentage of tournaments and is openly soliciting dates from member clubs. . . . The Northeastern admits a need for tournament sponsors during the season and is expected to contact different enterprises in its section on summer plans. . . . The U.S. Hole-in-One contest will take place of the PGA Hole-in-One next August. The Northeastern Seniors will also be contested in August. And that's the month Woodstock Country Club restores its traditional classic—the Woodstock Open—to its old date of third Friday in the month.

Leafs, Chicago Tie Stanley Cup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs are back in the thick of contention for their fourth straight championship in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs.

They turned heads to cheers with a three-goal outburst in the last period for a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night. That squared the best-of-7 semifinal series at two games apiece with the fifth game scheduled at Montreal Saturday night.

The Chicago Black Hawks also drew even at 2-2 with Detroit in the other semifinal by beating the Red Wings 2-1. Bobby Hull broke a 1-1 tie with a blazing slap shot from a foot inside the blue line at 9:12 of the third period.

Hull, who seems to have regained the touch he lost because of injuries in the losing games of the regular season, drew an ovation from a Chicago turnout of 16,666 for his winning goal against the Red Wings. It was his sixth goal in the series. The fifth game of the series will be played in Detroit Sunday night.

Ortega to Open Year For Nats

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Care package Los Angeles shipped to Washington appears to be waging an effective war on the Senators' poverty.

Currently spearheading the attack is Phil Ortega, a 25-year-old Mexican of Mexican-Indian descent.

Ortega, part of the Care package from the Dodgers, helped spark the Senators to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore and to the top of the American League's exhibition baseball standings Thursday.

The right-hander was one of five players the Dodgers gave the Senators for pitcher Claude Osteen and infielder John Kennedy last December.

Emigrating from the West Coast to the nation's capital with Ortega were infielder Ken McMullen, first baseman Dick Nen, outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Pete Richter.

In 35 innings of spring pitching, the Senators' busiest hurler has compiled a 1.91 earned-run average, best on the team. He has permitted only two runs and seven hits in the last 18 innings.

In Good Form

In his final tuneup for the season's opener against Boston next Monday, Ortega blanked the Orioles for five innings before Nick Williams, another ex-Dodger, completed the six-hitter by allowing all three Orioles runs.

McMullen collected four hits in the victory that boosted Washington's record to 11-10.

In another development Thursday, St. Louis traded pitcher Bob Humphreys to the Chicago Cubs for two minor leaguers, infielder Bobby Piel and pitcher Harold Gibson.

The Cardinals whipped the New York Mets 6-1 as Curt Flood rapped three singles and a double and Ken Boyer two doubles and a single.

Stan Williams helped pitch and bat Cleveland to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco. The former Yankee allowed four hits in six innings and scored in the fourth after singling.

In other games the Yankees stopped Milwaukee 6-1, Cincinnati downed the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City ended a nine-game losing string with an 8-4 triumph over Minnesota. Jacksonville of the International League toppled the Dodgers 4-1 and rain washed out the Cubs and Boston.

Koufax, Chance Selected

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax and Dean Chance both pitch for Los Angeles baseball teams. Both have won Cy Young Awards. Both led their respective leagues in earned-run average in 1964 while compiling a total record of 39 victories and 14 defeats.

Both also were selected overwhelmingly today as the winningest pitchers for 1965 in The Associated Press' annual pre-season poll.

Koufax, the suddenly questionable Dodger southpaw, piled up 155 votes — virtually all of them before he developed an arthritic condition in his left elbow. He had six times as many votes as any other National League hurler while Chance of the Angels drew 95 votes, just about as many as many as his closest competitor in the American League.

Their selection by 266 sports writers and broadcasters followed that of Cincinnati's Frank Robinson and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the season's most valuable players.

Cardinals Picked

Earlier St. Louis was chosen to win the National League pennant while the Yankees were the pick in the AL.

The only hitch in the selection of Koufax is that the 29-year-old ace may not be able to make it come true.

The voting nearly had been completed when the injury-plagued Dodger came up with the arthritic condition that threatens to keep him in the dugout six days out of every week. When well, Koufax pitches every fourth day.

That he had been expected to be well was reflected in the run-away vote he received. Trailing in the distance were San Francisco's Juan Marichal with 25 votes, and Don Drysdale of the Dodgers with 25 and Bob Gibson of St. Louis with 11.

Chance, who didn't receive one vote in the poll last year, wound up sharing the honor of winningest pitcher with Gary Peters of Chicago with 20 victories each. In the latest poll, Peters was second with 48 votes. Mel Stottlemyre of New York ran third with 23.

Has Clubs Stolen

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Manager George Selkirk of the Washington Senators had his golf clubs stolen Thursday while calling on President Johnson at the White House.

But the thief — if he's right-handed, is in for a frustrating time, Selkirk is a lefty.

Selkirk said the clubs were stolen from his car while he was with a delegation that delivered to Johnson a pass good for all this season's major league baseball games.

in Minnesota. More than 2,000

Iowa.

Dam on the Cottonwood River near New Ulm, in southern Min-permitting a heavier flow of

kato.

The Red Cross estimated that about 2,000 persons would be evacuated within the next two days in the Mankato area, which is expected to get six inches more of water because of the broken dam.

The Minnesota River was expected to crest at 30 feet Saturday at Mankato, breaking the record 29.9-foot crest in 1881.

The river was at 27.6 feet constructing a 31-foot dike after the Weather Bureau forecast a 32-foot crest next week. Utility companies disconnected heating units.

Gov. Karl Rolvaag inspected the flooded area in a helicopter.

At least 20 Minnesota high-

Speaking in Warsaw Thursday, Brezhnev said the Soviet Union is ready to give North Viet Nam all the aid it needs.

In Moscow, Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan accused the United States of barbarous actions in Viet Nam. U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler suggested to Mikoyan after his remarks at a Kremlin reception that he read Johnson's speech.

The Soviet press published Johnson's offer of talks without prior conditions for the first time today. The story appeared without comment in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper.

Opposed to 'Labor Camps'

Feraca for Teaching Trades To Dropouts as Best Help

An Esopus constable who seeks the Republican nomination for sheriff of Ulster County took issue today with treatment given to juvenile delinquents.

Constable Joseph Feraca, who is basing his campaign on a greater concentration on youth activities in every county community, cited a recent letter-to-the-editor written by a 17-year-old boy who felt "life is over for me" because he was a school dropout. Feraca said that the boy left school because he was harassed, was turned down at many places of business for work due to his limited knowledge, and was frustrated at every turn because of his background. "When I left school I went all to pieces," the youth wrote. "I feel bad about this situation but don't know where to turn."

Against 'Labor Camps'
Feraca noted that in some areas in New York State and in the Ulster County area, that young boys are sent to "labor farms." He cited the Short-Term Adolescent Training center (S.T.A.T.) at Middletown in nearby Orange County, where youths perform group occupational assignments, vocational and academic training, remedial instruction and counseling, under supervision of the State Division for Youth.

These "Opportunity" and "Rehabilitation" centers are for youths aged 15 through 17 who are considered "on the threshold of delinquency," or who have been before the courts.

"I can't see a misguided youth being rehabilitated through the use of labor camps under the guise of being rehabilitation centers," Feraca said. He told The Freeman that, "While I am deeply concerned with the youths in this (Ulster) county and even in this state, I do not advocate the harboring or 'mollycoddling' of the young punks who ruin it."

Feraca has long been active in youth work and is organizer of a boys club in Rifton which has for its motto, "It's Better to Build Boys than to Rebuild Men."

He is among five men seeking the GOP nomination for sheriff.

Roots from which the word "Hebrew" is taken mean "to go over" or "to cross." The word was used by Gentiles to refer to people who called themselves Israelites or Sons of Jacob.

'Avoid Another Selma'

Mayor's Plea After Approving CR March

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Negroes, led by James Farmer, head of the Congress of Racial Equality, planned a march today on the City Hall of this racially troubled Louisiana paper-mill town.

Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer said he had granted a permit for the civil rights marchers and he appealed to a meeting of some 300 white men to avoid "another Selma."

Police Protect Rally
At approximately the same time, some 500 Negroes held a rally, with Farmer as the principal speaker. The rally was protected by police.

"When you struggle in Bogalusa," Farmer said, "there are millions of your brothers and sisters all over the country struggling for you."

Clusters of whites stood at the edge of the police perimeter. Carloads of white men cruised through the area.

Farmer canceled plans to leave Bogalusa today and said he would join the marchers. He noted that Gov. John McKeithen had described him "as nothing but a troublemaker."

"Well," Farmer said, "there are troublemakers in this town. Those people out there riding up and down in cars — the Ku Klux Klan."

Klan Active in Area
The Klan has been active in this area, although its actual strength remains unclear.

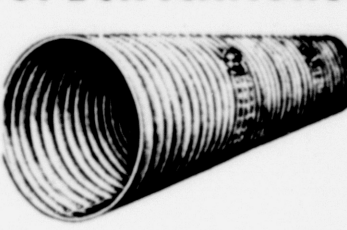

"I can't win with either side," said Mayor Cutrer in an exclusive Associated Press interview.
